MAJORITY REPORT FROM THE COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO INVESTIGATE DUAL OFFICE HOLDING.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to present a report of a special committee at this time.

The SPEAKER. This is the report of the committee appointed to investigate the matter of dual office holding. What is the pleasure of the House?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the report be received and that only such portion of the report be printed as is embodied in the report of the committee, and the testimony and exhibits, which are of a voluminous nature, be not printed.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, would it not be well, in a matter of that kind, before we know what we are closing the door on, to know how much information is contained in the report of the committee? It might be when the report itself is printed that the report would indicate nothing of what was in the body of the report; not that I know anything about the report or about the testimony, but we are anticipating, before we vote upon this motion, that the report itself is at least comprehensive in the several matters covered; but I do not want to close the door on myself or any one else before we know what the contents are.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I would amend the motion of the gentleman from Philadelphia to provide for the printing of the report proper and that the balance of the report be laid on the table for the present, with the opportunity for any one to investigate it with a view to taking further action if desirable.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker. I would like to ask the gentleman, is that with the understanding that it can be lifted?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I take it that a motion to lay it on the table is wholly unnecessary. Of course, the report in toto will become a report of this House and may be consulted by any member of the House that cares to go to the transcribing room; and the only thought I had was to save the printing in the Legislative Journal of the testimony and exhibits which may be consulted at any time by any member.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, my suggestion is that we ought not by our action now to preclude the future publishing of the testimony or any of the accompanying documents, if it was deemed advisable upon investigation to publish it, and by simply laying on the table it is left open for future action.

Mr. DeFREES. Mr. Speaker, I agree with the gentleman from Crawford, that the printing of the report, if deemed necessary, ought not to be precluded.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, as I understand the motion, it was, that part of the report be printed and that the balance be not printed.

The SPEAKER. The motion was that the report be printed, but that the testimony and exhibits attached thereto be not printed.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, that was the reason I suggested the advisability of laying the balance upon the table.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I will second the motion of the gentleman from Crawford, that the motion be amended by adding that the exhibits and testimony lie on the table for the present.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the adoption of this amendment to the motion of the gentleman rrom Philadelphia.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, the original motion would be perfectly in order, it strikes me, if it would be amended that the report of the committee be printed at this time, which would leave the whole matter open for such further action as the House may see fit to take, because I imagine that the report of the committee bases its findings and conclusions on the accompanying documents which are referred to in that report.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, my thought was to save the expense of printing, but in view of the fact that there does not seem to be an objection raised to the matter of expense, I would withdraw my original motion, and now move that the report, as submitted by the gentleman from Northampton, be printed in toto.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman cannot withdraw his motion, pending the consideration of the amendment thereto, as the Chair understands it.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my amendment.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my previous motion and now move that the entire report, including the testimony and exhibits, be printed in the Legislative Journal.

Mr. DeFREES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, to harmonize with the very first thought of the gentleman from Philadelphia in making his motion, I move to amend the motion now before the House, that the report proper of the committee be printed at this time and that the balance of the report be received.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I second that motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny moves a substitute that the report of the committee be printed at this time and that the testimony and exhibits—the Chair does not recall the latter part of the gentleman's motion.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, it was that the report proper be printed in the Journal at this time and the accompanying documents be received.

The SPEAKER. Is this substitute seconded?

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, I second it.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the substitute offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, to-wit: that the report be received, and the report proper be printed in the Legislative Journal at this time and that the testimony and accompanying documents be received.

The adoption of the substitute was agreed to.

The SPEAKER. The question now is on the motion as substituted, namely: That the report proper be received and printed in the Legislative Journal, and that the accompanying testimony and exhibits be received.

The motion was agreed to.

The report is as follows:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ESTABLISHED BY HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 10.

FRED E. GEISER, Chairman.
CHARLES J. RONEY, Jr., Secretary.
CHARLES A. SCHAFFER, Member.
J. H. DEFREES, Member.
WILLIAM D. WALTON, Member.

Report of Committee Under Resolution No. 10.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

your committee established under resolution No. 10, adopted by the House of Representatives February 19, 1913, to inquire into the facts and to make report as to persons in the employ of the several departments of this Commonwealth holding more than one position under the administration, respectfully reports:

Your committee was composed of five members, consisting of F. E. Geiser, Chairman; Charles J. Roney, Jr., J. H. Defrees, Charles A. Schaffer and William D. Walton, and immediately after its establishment organized and elected Charles J. Roney, Jr., as secretary.

After organizing the committee directed its secretary to address a letter to the Auditor General, requesting that he inform the committee as to the names of all persons holding dual offices under the Commonwealth and the salaries received for each office. A letter was drafted and sent in pursuance to the direction of the committee on the 27th of February, 1913, asking the Auditor General for the desired information. On March 6th the Auditor General sent to the chairman of the committee a letter with the names of all persons holding one or more offices under the Commonwealth and the salaries paid in each case and also the various positions held by persons under the Commonwealth in a dual capacity where no additional salary was paid for such office or commission.

Your committee then took up the report of the Auditor General for consideration, and as it gave the committee no information as to the character of work done or the time necessary for its performance, your committee fixed March 11, 1913, at 5 o'clock p. m., Room 508 State Capitol Building, Harrisburg, Pa., as the time and place for holding a meeting for the purpose of inquiring into the facts as resolution No. 10, obliged them so to do.

The secretary of the committee was directed to issue the process of the House to all the persons whose presence was desired and accordingly subpoenas were issued in proper form under the hand and seal of the secretary, dated the 11th day of March, 1913, to compel the attendance of the witnesses before the committee.

Your committee met on March 11, 1913, at Room 508, State Capitol Building, Harrisburg, Pa., at 5 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of taking the testimony of the various persons duly subpoenaed, and immediately proceeded to business.

Christian Meyers, county clerk in the Auditor General's Department and clerk to the Board of Revenue Commissioners, appeared, was sworn and examined, and his testimony is annexed hereto as part of the minutes of the committee.

James V. Murray, corporation clerk in the Auditor General's Department and also clerk to the Board of Public Accounts, appeared, was sworn and examined, and his testimony appears as part of the minutes attached to this report.

The names of all other witnesses duly subpoenaed were called in the corridor, but they did not respond to the call of their names. Those notified to appear and who did not respond were:

GEORGE THORN, Sec'y Commonwealth's Office.
JOHN KENDLEHART, Sec'y Commonwealth's Office.
JOHN F. WHITWORTH, Sec'y Commonwealth's Office.
H. D. JONES, State Treasurer's Department.
JAMES CRAIG, Deputy Sec'y Internal Affairs.
WALTER GAITHER, Secretary to Governor.
CASSIUS A. DUNN, Executive Department.
SAMUEL P. TODD, Controller's Department.
HARRY McDEVITT, Assistant Controller.
BENJAMIN DEMMING, Adjutant General's Dep't.
M. B. EISENHART, Dep't. Internal Affairs.
JAMES N. ROBBIN, Adjutant General's Dep't.
E. T. OSWALD, Carpenter.

Your committee again met on March 12, 1913, at 5 o'clock p. m., and proceeded to the calling of the various sergeants who had served the process of the House, all of whom were examined under oath, and testified as to the service of the subpoenaes, which testimony is made a part of the minutes and is hereto attached.

Your committee, following the failure of the persons duly subpoenaed to appear, reported to the House on the 12th day of March, 1913, the facts of such failure and refusal on the part of the persons duly subpoenaed to appear and awaited the further action of the House before making final report of its findings as commanded by the resolution.

This partial report was, by the action of the House, referred to the Committee on Judiciary General. There was also referred to the Judiciary General the message of His Excellency the Governor, directed to the Honorable George E. Alter, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and to the Honorable the committee authorized by House resolution No. 10, and in which it is said, inter alia, "impels me respectfully to express my dissent from the proposition that it lies within the power of either branch of the General Assembly to compel the Governor, or the head of any department included by the constitution within the Executive Department, and other subordinates subject to the supreme executive power vested in the Governor by that constitution, by its process to appear and testify concerning or produce books, papers and documents relating to the administration of the Executive Department before a legislative committee created by it in any case where in the judgment of the Governor of the Commonwealth it would be incompatible with the public interest to obey such summons."

The Judiciary General Committee, after due consideration of the Governor's message and the partial report of the dual office holding investigation committee, reported to the House at great length, a copy of which is attached to this report and made a part hereof; and said report in its findings found "that by virtue of the failure or neglect of the said Walter Gaither, George Thorn, John Kendelhart, John F. Whitworth, H. D. Jones, Cassius A. Dunn, Samuel P. Todd, Harry McDevitt, M. B. Eisenhart, James N. Robbin, E. T. Oswald, to so answer and obey the said subpoenae served upon them and appear before the committee appointed by virtue of the resolution of February 19, 1913, they, and each of them, have acted in contempt and in defiance of the lawful order and subpoenae of the committee of the House of Representatives and are by virtue thereof in comtempt of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania."

This report was submitted to the House of Representatives on the 19th day of March, 1913, and was by the action of the House, adopted.

Immediately prior to the adoption of the report of the Judiciary General Committee adjudging the above named persons to be in contempt of the House, a communication from His Excellency the Governor, was also read and adopted, in which His Excellency invited the members of the dual office holding committee to call upon him for the purpose of making arrangements as to the carrying out of the provisions of Resolution No. 10.

Your committee called upon the Governor of the Commonwealth on the 20th day of March, 1913, and were then informed by the Governor that he would submit reports of the various departments in which persons holding one or more offices were employer to the committee and would supply such other information as the committee desired, and in the event of the committee desiring the attendance of the witnesses, he would direct their appearing before the committee.

Your committee thereupon directed its secretary to call upon His Excellency the Governor and secure from him such reports as he desired to submit to the committee, and the secretary did so call upon the Governor and receive from him reports from the various departments, which reports are attached and made a part of the record.

Your committee at a full meeting held on April 8, 1913, at two o'clock p. m., took up for consideration the reports submitted by the Governor, and each report was carefully read and dicussed. Your committee after such consideration and discussion decided to summon the various witnesses before it, and particularly because the said reports did not give to the committee such information as to the character of work being done and the time expended in its performance as would enable the committee to intelligently report to the House as to dual office holding under the Commonwealth.

Your committee then by its action directed the secretary to issue the process of the House and to subpoena all the witnesses whose names were supplied by the Auditor General as being persons hodling one or more offices under the various departments of the State government. Your committee fixed Wednesday, April 9, 1913, at 7 o'clock p. m., Room 505, State Capitol Building, Harrisburg, Pa., as the time and place for taking the testimony of the witnesses whose presence was desired by the committee. The secretary then issued the necessary subpoenaes in proper form and the Sergeant-at-arms of the House and his assistants directed to serve the same upon the various witnesses, and the same were served.

Your committee met in Room 505 State Capitol Building, on Wednesday, April 9, 1913, at 7 o'clock p. m., and proceeded to the examination of witnesses who appeared before said committee in obedience to the process of the House.

Mr. Christian Meyers, who appeared before the committee on March 11, 1913, occupies the position of county clerk in the Auditor General's Department (sometimes called chief of the county bureau) and also holds the position of clerk to the Board of Revenue Commissioners. Mr. Meyers has been in the Auditor General's Department since May, 1884, has occupied his present position as chief of the county Bureau since June, 1890, and receives in his position as chief of the County Bureau a salary of $1,800 per annum. Mr. Meyers has been clerk to the Board of Revenue Commissioners since 1890, for which he receives a salary of $1,000 per annum, making his total compensation $2,800 per annum.

Your committee is of the opinion that Mr. Meyers is an able, competent and an unusually well-versed man in taxation matters, and a valuable employe in the Auditor General's Department, and that his position as chief of the County Bureau gives him particular fitness for the office of clerk to the Board of Revenue Commissioners.

The Board of Revenue Commissioners at the present time consists of the Auditor General, the State Treasurer, and the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and in its present form has been in existence since 1864.

Your committee is of the opinion that Mr. Meyres is a hardworking and not over-paid official; that he is continuously engaged in his various duties and that he is a very valuable and desirable employe of the State; and, therefore, reports in his case the holding of two offices is not in any sense a matter of disadvantage or injustice to the Commonwealth, but rather an advantageous and economical arrangement.

Mr. James V. Murray also appeared before your committee on March 11, 1913, and testified that he was corporation clerk in the Auditor General's Department and also clerk to the Board of Public Accounts; that his salary as corporation clerk was $3,000 per annum and his salary as clerk to the Board of Public Accounts, $500 per annum.

The Board of Public Accounts consists of the Attorney General, the State Treasurer, and the Auditor General. This board has concurrent jurisdiction with the Auditor General and the State Treasurer (the accounting officers of the Commonwealth) in the re-settlement of public accounts. The Board of Public Accounts holds regular meetings on the second Wednesday of each month and such special meetings as may from time to time be required Mr. Murray keeps the minutes of the Board, and as the corporation clerk in the Auditor General's Department is peculiarly fitted with rare and extensive knowledge of corporation matters to fitly act as clerk of the Board of Public Accounts, which would require complete and thorough knowledge of corporation matters, and particularly those matters which would come peculiarly within the knowledge of the corporation clerk in the Auditor General's office.

Mr. Murray is a lawyer of long experience, and it is the thought of the committee that he is in no sense an overpaid public official, and that his holding two offices at salaries aggregating $3,500 is an economical, rather than a wasteful, arrangement so far as the interests of the Commonwealth are concerned.

On April 9, 1913, all the other witnesses appeared and were examined with the exception of Mr. Todd, who was out of the city and whose testimony was taken on April 10. Miss McReynolds and Miss Breitinger, stenographers in the Department of Public Instruction, were also examined on April 10, 1913.

Mr. Walter H. Gaither, the private secretary to the Governor, appeared on April 9, 1913, and was duly sworn and examined. The committee asked him his positions under the State government, to which he replied that he was private secretary to the Governor at $5,000 per annum and Recorder of the Board of Pardons at $500 per annum.

It was the thought of the committee at this juncture that no questions should be asked of Mr. Gaither concerning his duties as private secretary other than the mere ascertaining that he was engaged daily in the work, on the theory that it was not a legislative function to inquire into matters of executive portend, as the Executive Department might well claim privilege on the ground it would be against public policy to discuss and disclose information peculiarly within his executive knowledge; and whilst no objection was raised by Mr. Gaither nor the Attorney General's representative, Deputy Attorney General Trinkle, who was there, on this proposition, yet it was the feeling that no questions should be asked concerning the nature and the kind of duties performed by Mr. Gaither as private secretary, because such would be peculiarly a matter of privilege as far as he and the Executive Department are concerned; and as the office of private secretary to the Governor and the salary is fixed by Act of Assembly, your committee did not feel it good legislative grace, in fact not at all a proper procedure, to inquire into the kind or work he did as private secretary.

So in the case of Mr. Gaither, as in the case of all other persons holding an office under an executive department where the salary was fixed by Act of Assembly, no questions were asked bearing upon what work was done in the particular office; but the committee proceeded in those cases, as in Mr. Gaither's case, to the ascertaining of the duties and the time required in the performance of same and the other or dual office.

Your committee learned that as Recorder of the Board of Pardons Mr. Gaither keeps a record of the Pardon Board cases which become a matter of executive concern, fixes days of execution in capital cases, transmits the orders of commutation and supervises generally those matters of the Pardon Board which become matters of exectutive cognizance; and it is the sense of the committee that the salary of $500 to Mr. Gaither as Recorder of the Board of Pardons is in no sense an imposition on the State, and as the Recorder of the Board of Pardons must be a man in close touch with the executive, it is thought of the committee that the combination of the two offices is an economical, rather than a wasteful, arrangement for the State, as it can hardly be conceived that an individual could properly perform the duties and give the attention and the skill required, for a salary of $500.

Mr. Thomas J. Lynch holds the position of executive clerk at a salary of $1,800 per annum and as a member of the Water Supply Commission receives $3,000 per annum.

Your committee following the arrangement observed in the Gaither case, made no inquiry as to the duties of the executive clerk other than to ascertain that he was engaged daily in such work.

Mr. Lynch as a member of the Water Supply Commission detailed to the committee the nature of the work performed and testified that as a member of the Water Supply Commission he was continuously engaged in the work of the commission and that he found it necessary to work every night in the week and on Sunday; and in view of the important kind of work within the charge of the Water Supply Commission, your committee is of the opinion that the combination of two offices in Mr. Lynch's case is not in any sense such a one as to deserve the disapproval of your committee.

Mr. Cassius A. Dunn is a stenographer in the Governor's office and is clerk to the Capitol Park Extension Commission. As stenographer in the Executive Department he receives a salary of $1,200 per annum and as clerk to the Capitol Park Extension Commission $1,000 per annum. Mr. Dunn testified that as stenographer in the Executive department he was daily engaged and as clerk to the Capitol Park Extension Commission worked at nights in disposing of the varied and voluminous correspondence necessarily incident to the Capitol Park Extension Commission's work; and whilst in the aggregate $2,200 seems to be an unusually high salary, judging by the standards of compensation of stenographers in the various other departments, yet in the case of Mr. Dunn the combination of the offices does not meet with the disapproval of your committte, in view of the fact that an individual stenographer in the Capitol Park Extension Commission's office, and one who would hold other job, would be paid, it might be fairly assumed, $1,000; and as neither the office nor the work incident thereto suffers, your committee has no recommendation to make concerning the advisability of permitting Mr. Dunn to hold both offices.

Mr. John Czerniski is employed as a watchman in the executive offices at $900 per annum and is on duty for a period of eleven to twelve hours each night as watchman and in the mornings cleans as janitor five rooms in the Auditor General's Department for which he receives $240 per annum. He testified to the committee that he works thirteen to fourteen hours each day, and it is a matter of knowledge with the committee and with the House that Mr. Czerniski is always on duty. It is the thought of your committee that the combination of two such jobs in the person of Mr. Czerniski is not in any sense to be condemned.

Mr. Harry S. McDevitt testified that he is assistant executive controller at a salary of $1,800 per annum and clerk to the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings at $600 per annum. As assistant executive controller he is daily engaged with his work and as clerk to the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings works each night and on Sundays and he is persistently and continuously engaged all day and all evening in the discharge of the duties incumbent upon him in both offices; and as your committee can feel no hesitation in admitting the salary as assistant executive controller to be put fair and proper, it is not to be lightly disregarded that $600 per annum for competent clerk hire is not an out of the way figure, and as regards Mr. McDevitt, your committee makes recommendation on the score of the advisability of his holding the two offices.

Mr. George D. Thorn, chief clerk in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, receives as such $2,500 per annum and as secretary of the Board of Pardons receives $1,000 per annum. Your committee is of the opinion that Mr. Thorn, who testified that he was continuously engaged in the general supervision of his work as chief clerk of the Secretary of the Commonwealth's clerical force, is in this respect not an overpaid public servant, and as clerk to the Board of Pardons he arranges the calendar, receives the petitions and applactions for pardon, makes up all lists, reads the proof from the printer and answers innumerable inquiries from lawyers and interested parties in pardon mattes each day of his life, your committee does not feel that the $1,000 paid him as secretary of the Board of Pardons is in any sense a waste of the public moneys and makes no recommendation by way of disapproval of this arrangement, as your committee does not think it at all probable that a man of Mr. Thorn's ability could be secured to do the Pardon Board work, as he does it, for $1,000 per annum.

Mr. John F. Whitworth is corporation clerk in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth at a salary of $2,200 per annum and as corporation clerk is daily engaged in the work of the office, which requires the services of a technical man and one versed in the corporation laws of the Commonwealth. Mr. Whitworth also holds the position of clerk to the Board of Underground and Elevated Railways at $750 per annum; and as this Board has met so infrequently, according to the testimony of Mr. Whitworth, within the last five years, and as no meeting was held last year, it is the thought of your committee that Mr. Whitworth is not rendering such services to the Commonwealth in the office of clerk to the Board of Underground and Elevated Railways as justifies the payment to him of $750 per annum; and therefore recommends, in view of the non-activity of the Board, either that the act creating it be repealed, which it is the thought of your committee would be automatically repealed by the passage of the Public Utilities Act, or that in the General Appropriation Bill the item providing $750 per annum salary to Mo. Whitworth be dropped.

Mr. Whitworth is a valuable employe as corporation clerk, and whilst in the aggregate he is not receiving more than his just dues, yet your committee feel that the item of $750, as affixed to the office of clerk to the Board of Underground and Elevated Railways, is wholly unjustifiable and unwarranted, as the office is not in itself of such a character as to warrant the afore-mentioned salary.

Mr. J. L. Kendlehart is clerk in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, drawing a salary of $1,400 per annum, and is also clerk to the Board of Pardons, for which he receives a stipend of $500 per annum. Mr. Kendlehart as clerk in the Secretary of the Commonwealth's office is daily engaged in his duties as such and as clerk to the Board of Pardons assists in the preparation of the calendar, answers all communications addressed to the Board relative to pardon matters and is each day more or less engaged with the affairs of the Pardon Board; and the opinion of the committee is that the salary of $500 to Mr. Kendlehart as clerk to the Board of Pardons is well earned and in no sense an imposition upon the State treasury.

Mr. H. D. Jones is cashier in the office of the State Treasurer and receives a salary of $5,000 per annum. Mr. Jones is also secretary of the Sinking Fund Commission and receives a salary of $1,000 per annum. By Act of Assembly the Sinking Fund Commission is empowered and authorized to employ a clerk or employe in the State Treasury Department to hold the position as secretary of the Sinking Fund Commission, but from examination of Mr. Jones, your committee is of the opinion that the work placed on the secretary of the Sinking Fund Commission is not of such a burdensome character as to justify the payment to him, in view of his salary as cashier at $5,000, of the additional $1,000 per annum; and the case of Mr. Jones your committee suggests that the salary of $1,000 per annum paid to the secretary of the Sinking Fund Commission might enure to a more equitable arrangement of salary in the office if paid to some one else. Whilst your committee has no authority to recommend any reorganization in the department, it simply reports to the House that Mr. Jones is being paid $1,000 as secretary of the Sinking Fund Commission for but very little work.

Mr. James H. Craig is deputy secretary of Internal Affairs and for such office receive a salary of $3000 per annum. Mr. Craig is also clerk to the Board of Property, for which he receives the sum of $200 per annum. From the examination of Mr. Craig your committee has learned that the Board of Property, whilst a very busy institution in 1682, is now engaged in very laborious work, and is of the opinion that Mr. Craig as clerk to the Board of Property is not carrying on such burdensome labors as to justify the payment to him by the State of $200 over and above his salary as deputy secretary of $3,000; and would recommend that if the Board of Property is to be continued, that the item of $200 to the clerk be dropped from the General Appropriation Bill, as Mr. Craig as deputy secretary might well devote such little time as is required by the Board, without extra compensation.

Miss T. M. B. Eisenhart holds a position as stenographer in the Bureau of Industrial Statistics in the office of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, and in such position receives a salary of $1,000 per annum. Miss Eisenhart also holds a position as stenographer in the Bureau of Standards, receiving a salary of $300 per annum. Miss Eisenhart works each day at her work as stenographer in the Bureau of Industrial Stastistics, and for the extra work necessitated in the Bureau of Standards works at night, for which she receives a salary of -300 per annum. Your committee sees no good reason why this arrangement should be disturbed, as it would be impossible to obtain a stenographer at a salary of $25 per month, and from the testimony it did not appear that the work in both jobs could be accomplished by the one person in the one work day, as Miss Eisenhart testified that during the day she is engaged with her regular work, and it seems to the committee to be unfair that additional work should be settled upon a person without additional compensation.

Miss Stella L. Foote is a stenographer in the Department of Internal Affairs, for which she receives a salary of $1,000 per annum, and is also stenographer in the Bureau to Investigate Vacant Lands, for which she receives additional compensation to the amount of $200 per annum.

Miss Nellie E. Blessing is a stenographer in the Department of Internal Affairs, receiving a salary of $1000 per annum and is also stenographer of the Bureau of Railways, for which she receives additional compensation in the amount of $200 per annum.

In the case of Miss Foote and Miss Blessing the combination salary is that usually paid to competent stenographers, and as both women testified to working overtime in order to carry on the work necessitated by both jobs, your committee sees no good reason why the arrangement in either case should be disturbed.

Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, superintendent of Public Insruction, receives as superintendent $5,000 per annum, and as Secretary and Treasurer of the Board of Medical Education and Licensure receives $1,000 per annum, and as Secretary and Treasurer of the Dental Council, $500 per annum. In the aggregate Dr. Schaeffer's salary is $6,500. Your committee is of the opinion that Dr. Schaeffer is not an over-paid public official, and is of the further opinion that this work in connection with the Board of Medical Education and Licensure and the Dental Council eminently justifies the additional compensation of $1500 over and above the well earned $5,000 per annum as superintendent of Public Instruction.

Mr. R. M. McNeal is financial clerk in the office of the Department of Public Instruction, and has been employed in the department for a number of years. Is financial clerk he receives a salary of $1400 per annum and as an assistant in distributing school appropriation receives an additional compensation of $300 per annum. From the testimony of Mr. McNeal your committee is of the opinion that is a valuable employe and that his aggregate salary is fully earned and the State is in no sense a loser by the amalgamation of the two offices and two salaries in the person of Mr. McNeal.

Mr. H. H. Fleisher is a recording clerk in the Department of Public Instruction, receiving therefor a salary of $1400 per annum and receives $200 additional for his services in recording, engrossing and shipping licenses of dental students, preparing the index, issuing certificates of proper education, making records of the same, depositing and keeping account of the fees, etc.; and in the case of Mr. Fleisher your committee is of the opinion that the arrangement should not be disturbed.

Mr. U. Grant Fry receives $1400 as statistical clerk in the Department of Public Instruction and $200 additional for work connected with the Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure, and from his testimony it appears that it is his duty to calculate examination averages, prepare duplicates of the same, prepare licenses for shipment, print by hand the examination questions, and in various ways giving considerable of his time out of regular office hours to the work incident to the Burtau of Medical Education and Licensure. Your committee, therefore, reports that no fault under existing conditions can be found with Mr. Fry drawing two salaries which aggregate $1600.

Miss Edith Breitinger receives $1,000 as stenographer in the Bureau of Public Instruction and $100 as stenographer to the Dental Council. From the testimony in her case, wherein it is stated that she works overtime, and as her aggregate salary amounts to but $1100, your committee sees no reason why this arrangement should be disturbed.

Miss Mary Y. Reynolds as stenographer in the Department of Public Instruction receives $1,000, as clerk to the Dental Council $400 and as clerk to the Bureau of Medical Education and Licensure $500 per annum. Miss McReynolds, in addition to her duties as stenographer in the department, conducts all the ordinary correspondence of the Medical Bureau, which involves the answering of thousands of letters, she passes upon the correctness of credential's of medical education and other requirements of the law, issues cards of admission to the examination, and in various other ways takes over the routine and detail work of the Bureau, and as clerk to the Dental Council does work similar to that performed in the Bureau of Medical Education, and whilst in this case your committee feels obliged under the resolution to state that in the aggregate her salary of $1900 is considerably in excess of that paid any other stenographer, still it must be said in that connection that Miss McReynolds has been in the department for a number of years and seems to exercise a supervisory control over matters of detail which in themselves are worthy of very competent and skillful attention, and under the circumstances does not feel obliged to report to the House that any action be taken to disturb the present arrangement concerning Miss McReynold's drawing three salaries.

Mr. Benjamin W. Demming in the Adjutant General's Department holds the office of chief clerk at $1,800 per annum and secretary of the Armory Board at $1,200 per annum. Mr. Demming testified before the committee that as chief clerk he was daily engaged with the duties of his office and as secretary of the Armory Board exercises full control over the disbursements of the Armory Board and had supervision over the plans and specifications for new armories. Mr. Demming further testified that his training has been of a technical character, giving him special fitness for the Armory Board work, as he has been connected with building operations for some time. Your committee does not feel at this time that under the resolution they should raise any question as to Mr. Demming being a member of construction companies and also in control of Armory Board work, as no connection was shown between his private capacity and the disbursements of contracts coming under his official control, and as his work does not seem to have suffered by reason of his private business connections, your committee does not feel it incumbent upon it to make any suggestions in this respect. As regards his work in both positions and the salary, your committee finds nothing disproportionate.

Mr. James N. Robbin as stenographer in the Adjutant General's Department receives $900 per annum. He is also stenographer to the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings at $200 per annum and stenographer to the secretary of the Armory Board at $120 per annum. Mr. Robbin testified that he is engaged with his work as stenographer continuously and works overtime in order to keep up with the duties of his other two positions, and while the salary does not appear to be unusually high, your committee is of the opinion that his position as stenographer in the office of the Board of Public Grounds and Buildings located in a different part of the building, must of necessity interfere with his other work; but if he is able to attend to all three discharge his duties therein by working overtime, your committee sees no just ground for complaint

Mr. John Kimmel as a messenger in the Adjutant General's Department receives $900 per annum. He is also messenger for the Armory Board, receiving $120 per annum. Your committee feels that whilst Mr. Kimmel testified that he does as much work for one department as the other, there is a remarkable disproportion in the salaries paid him for the two jobs, and as no special skill is required in order to qualify one as a messenger, your committee is of the opinion that the salary as messenger for the Armory Board might well be discontinued.

Miss Olivia G. Browne is stenographer in the Banking Department at $1,000 per annum and is assistant in the supervision of private banks, for which she receives an additional salary of $300 per annum. The supervision of private banks has been a matter, according to Miss Browne, of much detail work on the part of the Bureau since the Private Bankers' Act of 1911 went into effect, and it may well be assumed that the $300 extra that she receives in this work, which is clearly additional work, is not an unreasonable increase in her salary.

Mr. M. D. Lichliter is chief clerk in the Department of Agriculture, receiving a salary of $1,800 per annum. He is also clerk to the State Live Stock Sanitary Board, receiving $300 per annum, and in the character of work done, as evidenced by the testimony of Mr. Lichliter, your committee sees no ground for valid objection in this case to the holding of two offices, in view of the fact that the additional compensational would not employ a compentent man to fill the office

Miss Kathryn P. First is a stenographer in the Department of Agriculture, receiving therefor $900 per annum, and also stenographer to the Economic Zoologist, receiving $100 per annum. As the aggregate salary amounts to $1,000, the usual stenographic compensation under departments of the State government, and as Miss First seems to be continuously engaged with her duties, your committee makes no unfavorable recommendation in her case.

Miss Mary E. Seaman as stenographer in the Dairy and Food Department receives $1,500 and for extra services in the department, receives $300 per annum additional. Miss Seaman is bookkeeper, stenographer and general office assistant, and as she seems to be carrying on the work formerly done by an Assistant Dairy and Food Commissioner whose salary was $200 per month, there seems in this case to have been a clear saving to the State, rather than a matter of excess expenditure, and in this respect your committee feels that the State is clearly saving.

William R. Swartz is a messenger in the Dairy and Food Division, receiving $900 as such, and as he sends out 15,000 copies of the bulletin issued by the bureau each month, which work before Mr. Swartz's time was done by a clerk receiving $125 per month, your committee feels that a clear saving to the State has been established, and makes no unfavorable recommendation in the case of Mr. Swartz.

Mr. I. C. Williams is Deputy Commissioner of Forestry, receiving $2,500 per annum, and as he said he gave his entire attention to the work as deputy commissioner, your committee is of the opinion that he fairly earns his salary. He is also collaborator of the Chestnut Blight Commission at $1,100 a year, and as this is work of a highly technical and scientific character, and as Mr. Williams testified it takes up a great deal of his time, your committee makes no unfavorable recommendation in his case.

Mr. A. E. Strode is clerk in the Forestry Department, receiving $1,500 per annum. He is also clerk to the Forestry Commission at $300 per annum. The Forestry Commission meets once a month. Mr. Strode keeps a record of the minutes and of the expenditures authorized by the commission covering the forestry rangers, surveyors, incidental expenses, ets.; and as the excess salary amounts to but $30 per month, your committee is of the opinion that a substitute in the job ould not be had for a like amount, and, therefore, makes unfavorable recommendation in this case.

Dr. W. R. Batt is chief of the Bureau of Vital Statistics in the Bureau of Health and receives $2,500 per annum. He is also supervisor in the Division of Marriage and Morbidity Statistics, receiving $1,000 per annum. The Act of Assembly under which Dr. Batt receives $2,500 per annum, provides for the registration of births and deaths only; and the Act relating to Morbidity Statistics, in the Bureau of which as supervisor, he receives $1,000 per annum, provides for statistics of marriages, diseases, practicing physicians, midwives and undertakers; and whilst in the letter sent by Dr. Samuel G. Dixon to the Governor there is a statement as follows: "This is a direct saving to the State of from $1,500 to $2,000 per year, as it would be impossible to secure the services of a man competent to supervise this work for less than $2,500 or $3,000 per annum," your committee is of the opinion that the Morbidity Statistics and the Vital Statistics might well be combined together insofar as the supervisory work is concerned, and reports to the House in this connection that $3,500 is, to say the least, unusually good pay for work of compiling record matter, which in its nature is wholly clerical although, of course, a matter in which careful detail must be the dominant note.

Mr. E. T. Oswald is employed as chief carpenter in the Department of Public Grounds and Buildings at $1,200 per annum. He is also special deputy factory inspector at $900 per annum, but as it appears that the Auditor General has signed no warrant since the first of March, it might well be assumed that this particular case of dual office holding is a thing of the past.

It appears from the testimony that Mr. Oswald was appointed under Chief Factory Inspector Delaney as a special expert factory inspector, and as much made numerous trips through the State inspecting factory buildings, moving picture establishments, etc.; but your committee is of the opinion that the chief carpenter, having supervision over a great number of employes, in the proper discharge of his duties should remain in Harrisburg; and, therefore, recommends the discontinuance of the practice, if it has not already been discontinued, of the chief carpenter in the Department of Public Grounds and Buildings being anything else but chief carpenter.

Mr. Harry Burrs is employed in the Department of Public Grounds and Buildings as messenger and as such receives a salary of $720 per annum; for extra services, which seems to be in the collection of telephone tickets, distributing them to the various offices from which calls emanate, and the collection of cash from purely personal calls, receives $280 per annum; and as it appears that he collects the tickets during the time he is employed as messenger, and as collecting tickets from office to office is messenger work in its pristine glory, your committee recommends the discontinuance of the payment of $280 for extra services.

Mr. W. Harry Baker is secretary of the Senate at $5000 per annum and assistant compiler of Smull's Hand-Book at $1500 per annum; and your committee is of the opinion that as his salary as secretary of the Senate is fixed at $5000 by Act of Assembly, and as he is constantly engaged in that work, your committee can make no disapproving statement in regard to it. As assistant compiler of Smull's Hand-Book, which is a matter of elaborate detail and a thing of much satisfaction to each and every member of the House, the committee has not even the lowest syllable of disapproval as regards Mr. Baker being a stipendiary of the State.

Mr. Herman P. Miller as Senate Librarian receives $2500 per annum and as compiler of Smull's Hand-Book, $1500 per annum, and his work in both jobs is well worth the salary paid, and it must be said by way of just commendation of Mr. Miller, that he owns the coypright of Smull's Hand-Book and asks and receives no bonus from the State for the use of what is his own personal property.

Mr. Samuel B. Nissley is chief clerk in the State Police Department and as such receives $1500 per annum; as shipper of commissary stores for the use of the Constabulary, he receives $300 per annum in addition; and in view of the fact that the commissary must be a man of considerable experience and skill in the approving and condemning of commissary stores, your committee is of the opinion that the extra salary paid him in this connection is not in any way out of the road.

Mr. Jere B. Rex is crier in the Supreme Court at $600 per annum, clerk to the Board of Charities at $300 per annum, tipstaff of the Board of Pardons at $400 per annum, making a grand total of $1300 per annum; and as it appears that Mr. Rex, in addition to being tipstaff of the Board of Pardons, keeps the rooms clean, doing his own janitor service, as he puts it, and as clerk to the Board of Charities he actually performs clerical work, your committee sees no reason for complaint and makes no unfavorable recommendation in regard to Mr. Rex to the House.

Mr. Samuel C. Todd appeared before the committee on Thursday, April 10, at the special meeting called by the committee for the purpose of taking his testimony, and testified that he is executive controller at a salary of $3000 per annum and that he is also secretary to the Capitol Park Extension Commission at $3600 per annum. Mr. Todd, in his testimony elaborately outlined the duties of secretary of the Capitol Park Extension Commission and his work is done at night; and as the task of the commission must be discharged with rigid fidelity and economy in order that the Capitol Park extension proposition might be economically and successfully accomplished, the committee is of the opinion that the services of a capable and efficient secretary are invaluable; and as Mr. Todd in his testimony made very plain his capability and efficiency, your committee reports to the House the salary of $3600 per annum under the circumstances is not unusual; and whilst the combined salaries aggregate $6600, your committee, under all the facts, does not fell justified in making any unfavorable recommendation in this respect, especially in view of the fact that as executive controller and as secretary of the Capitol Park Extension Commission Mr. Todd is in a position of informing the Governor frequently and with precision the exact status of the Capitol Park Extension plan, which in its final analysis must be a matter peculiarly for the Governor's moulding and control.

Your committee reports to the House that with the exception of the four cases mentioned above in which one of the two or more jobs might well be abandoned in the interest of state economy, in the other cases the distribution of salary over two or three jobs is not in the aggregate unreasonable, although in judgment of the committee it would be a far better plan if the legislature would look the issue squarely in the face and compensate department employes upon a fixed and definite salary basis and then that they discharge whatver duties are collateral with their regular work without extra compensation.

The compensation paid a man by the great State of Pennsylvania should be a just and fair salary based upon the work rendered the State and there should not be any be-clouding the issue by high-sounding nomenclature. Of course, there are instances, as in the case of the executive controller and the secretary of the Capitol Park Extension Commission, being of themselves separate and distinct positions. The chief clerk, the secretary to the Governor and the clerk to the Board of Pardons are separable positions but in all the cases where stenographers are paid two or three salaries, it seems to the committee that one fixed salary, definitely ascertained, and which should be of a sufficient amount to fully compensate such person for the work performed for the State, would work out in the long run better than to spread but a reasonable wage over two or three different named jobs.

Your committee begs further to report to the House that in the case of the Attorney General holding various offices under the State government in addition to his being Attorney General, the only salaried position other than that of Attorney General is member of the Board of Pardons at $500 per annum; and as his membership in the Board of Pardons is established by the constitution, and as the salary is fixed by Act of Assembly, your committee did not deem it pertinent, wise, or within the line of the resolution under which it acts, to even subpoenae the Attorney General to appear.

In the case of the Secretary of the Commonwealth Hon. Robert McAfee, who as Secretary of the Commonwealth receives $8000, as member of the Board of Pardons $500, as member of the Board of Revenue Commissioners $300 and as member of the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners $300, your committee feels that the same reasoning will apply as in the Attorney General's case, that on all the various boards upon which he serves as a member both the office and the salary are created by Act of Assembly, and your committee did not deem it wise or pertinent or proper under the resolution to subpoenae the Secretary of the Commonwealth before it.

The same applies in the case of the Auditor General and the State Treasurer. The positions they occupy are shown in the minutes attached to this report, and your committee deems no further discussion necessary.

In conclusion your committe desires to express its thanks to His Excellency the Governor for the reports he has submitted after your committee had waited upon him, and for the expression of co-operation on his part in stating that he would request the witnesses to appear if the committee deemed it necessary. His Excellency by his timely co-operation has assisted your committee in the prompt discharge of its duties under the resolution, and has in the spirit and in the law demonstrated that the branches of this government are co-ordinate; and your committee now submit to the House its report under the resolution for the House to take such action as it deems fit and proper, and your committee awaits the further action of your Honorable body and, in the event of the receiving of this report by the House, your committee asks that it be discharged from further responsibility under Resolution No. 10.

Respectfully submitted,
CHARLES J. RONEY, Jr., Secretary.
W. D. WALTON,
CHARLES A. SCHAFFER.
J. H. DEFREES.

Mr. Schaffer dissents from the Committee's recommendation as to Mr. Jones, Cashier in the State Treasurer's office. See Mr. Shaffer's minority report as to Mr. Jones.

MINORITY REPORT.

Mr. CHARLES. A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I offer a minority report pertaining to one of the items in the report.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I move that the minority report be read for information.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my second.

Mr. J. A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that we are working in the dark. We have not had the original or main report read yet. Now we propose to read what is a so-called minority report without knowing what the original report is. It seems to me that we ought to follows the same practice as with the original or main report and let this minority report be printed in the Journal.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, I move to amend that motion to read that this minority report be printed in the Legislative Journal.

Mr. CHARLES A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, I second the amendment.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Erie moves as a substitute motion, that the minority report be printed in the Legislative Journal, seconded by the gentleman from Columbia. Is the House ready for the question on the adoption of the substitute?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in reference to the substitution, I fear we are simply making an issue, whether a new issue shall rise at all. Now, if the minority report was read to the House and the gentleman from Columbia insisted on the matter being placed on the record, I will of course have no opposition to that. The fact that the gentleman from Erie proposes his amendment to my motion I have no objection to that. I would like to have this minority report read as a matter of information. Of course it would be more orderly if we had had the original report read, but I did not make that motion because I have read the report prior to its being offered and know its contents. I don't want to make an issue here.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands that the original report comprises some thirty-eight pages; the minority report is only one and one-half pages.

Mr. KITTS. Mr. Speaker, my reason for taking this position is that I consider that there is nothing before the House for information. The members have not read the majority report and to read the minority report would be utter confusion.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion.

The SPEAKER. The question then is on the motion of the gentleman from Erie (Mr. Kitts), seconded by the gentleman from Columbia (Mr. Shaffer), that the minority report be printed in the Journal, in connection with the majority report. Is the House ready for the question?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I question very much whether that would be the proper procedure. A record of this kind—I know nothing about the majority report—but it seems to me that the majority report when printed might be very satisfactory to the members of this House and that if it were satisfactory when it comes before the observation of the House, that they probably might refuse to receive a minority report. Of course if it is offered at this time and goes into the record, it is a record and I presume it will be a record of the House, whether it is or not. I confess I do not know just where we are. and I would ask the Chair whether the report ought to be received at this time or not.

The SPEAKER. The Chair knows of no reason why the minority report should not be received. It does not commit the House to anything in it. The gentleman from Columbia can take the floor and read it if he wants to and get it into the Journal.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

The report is as follows:

In the matter of the report of the Committee appointed to investigate dual office holding in the State Capitol, referring to the item of the Secretary of the Sinking Fund commission, I desire to file a minority report, for the following reasons:

The Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners was created by the Act of April 22, 1858, which provides for the employment of a clerk to that commission in the office of the State Treasurer, who shall keep the minutes of the Board and perform such other duties as they may require. The compensation for the services is fixed by the Act of 1858. The Commission is composed of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer. They are more familiar with the requirements and qualifications necessary for the secretary of the Commission and certainly are the best judges as to who is best capable of filling that position from the staff of employees in the office of the State Treasurer. I am informed that the Secretary is required to not only keep the minutes of the Board but to conduct all the correspondence incident to the redemption of bonds of the Commonwealth and during the past two years the work of the Secretary in the matter of the redemption and cancellation of upwards of $2,000,000 of State debt, which became due on February 1, 1912, was of considerable importance, not only to the Board of Sinking Fund Commissioners but to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and required the services of a thoroughly competent and capable man. Good business judgment on the part of the Sinking Fund Commission would require that their secretary be selected for his competency in performing the duties of the position and it seems to me that the judgment of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund should carry. They being responsible for the acts of that Commission, the work of the secretary not being a sinecure as the report filed by this Committee would indicate. Especially during the past two years has this work been at least double that of any other corresponding period for the past twenty years.

MINORITY REPORT.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer a minority report from the same committee.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Northampton desires to offer a minority report from the same committee, what is the pleasure of the House?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I move it be received and printed in the Legislative Journal.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The report is as follows:

MINORITY REPORT OF A MEMBER OF THE COMMITTEE ESTABLISHED BY HOUSE RESOLUTION NO. 10.

To the Honorable The House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

To the greater part of the report of the majority members of the Committee appointed under House Resolution No. 10, I assent. However, I am of the opinion that when a person enters the employ of the State, the State should pay a sufficient compensation to merit full time and undivided effort of such employe, and that the best interests of the public service demand that the attention of such an employe should not be detracted from the employment for which he is engaged. In any private enterprise, when a man is employed, his service belongs to his employer, and when that employer, in extending his operations, desires to impose an additional responsibility, or a further duty upon the employe, the right is never questioned, nor should it be.

Much of the inefficiency in the public service, where such efficiency exists, is due to the fact that persons in that service have the impression, by reason of the system that has been in vogue for so many years, that when they have completed certain stereotyped duties the State has no right to expect any other or further service or assistance from them.

While it is not my purpose to criticize any of the individuals of whom this may be true, because of the fact that long standing custom has permitted this system, yet this makes the system itself no less reprehensible. I believe that every person employed in the public service should be amply compensated for his services, and that that compensation should obligate the employe to render to the State the best service that he has in him, and that his time, within reasonable hours, and his best ability, should be absolutely under the control of his superiors.

I would therefore recommend that in order to secure the greatest degree of efficiency, at the least necessary expense, that a Commission, consisting of three experts in the subject of practical business efficiency, be created, whose duties it shall be to study and investigate the nature and extent of the business being transacted by each and every department of the State government, and who shall report to the next session of the General Assembly their finding as to the number, character and compensation of the various employes required by each of the State departments to be appointed.

Respectfully sumbitted,
(signed) FREDERICK E. GEISER.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order. No other business having intervened, the motion is not in order.

The SPEAKER. The previous motion was for a recess.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, it appears to me that to ask for unanimous consent to move that this House adjourn until next Monday evening at 8 o'clock would be in order, because the position appears to me to be this, that the second reading calendar has been gone through with, and we certainly cannot act on third reading bills with a House like this. If we defeat a bill, then it means that we will have to reconsider the vote next week and get the bill back on the calendar, and it will take double time to pass a bill if we defeat it.

ADJOURNMENT.

I move that this House do now adjourn until next Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

The SPEAKER. It may be interesting to the members of the House who have not kept count to know that the House has already up to this time passed fifteen more bills than we passed all last week, eighty-seven bills.

It requires some imagination on the part of the Chair to see a quorum here now.

The motion was agreed to and (at 12.35 o'clock P. M.) the House adjourned until next Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

Help us to feel that life is a gift from God, and that we should value that gift by putting it to the noblest service. Lead us by Thy counsel, protect us by Thy providence, strengthen us by Thy might, sustain us by Thy grace, and Thy name shall have all the praise now and forevermore. Amen.

Pittsburgh, April 11th, 1913.

To the Honorable, the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly Met:—

This opportunity is taken to certify that the Oakland Board of Trade at its meeting of April 8th, 1913, fully endorsed the memorial of the Philadelphia Board of Trade, in which you are petitioned to act favorablely upon and adopt the concurrent resolution presented by Senator Kline providing for the appointment of a commission to investigate all matters pretaining to cold storage.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE BOOT AND SHOE MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION OF PHILADELPHIA, AGAINST THE BILL ESTABLISHING A MINIMUM WAGE FOR FEMALES AND REGULATING THE HOURS OF LABOR.

He also laid before the Senate the following communication which was read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special:

The Boat & Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Philadelphia.

Philadelphia April 17th, 1913.

Hon, John M. Reynolds,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Sir:—The Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' Association of Philadelphia earnestly request that the effect of the bill establishing a minimum wage for females and regulating the hours of labor, be carefully weighed before the measure passes the Legislature or becomes a law.

Our association dissaproves of the proposed bill, believing that should it become a law, it would place the industries of the State of Pennsylvania under a disadvantage; but if such a movement is necessary it should be National in scope so as to be uniform in its operation in all parts of the Nation.

Yours Respectfully,
HERMAN MEYER, Secretary.

JOINT RESOLUTION OF THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF MINNESOTA REQUESTING CONGRESS TO ENACT A LAW PROVIDING FOR THE GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP AND CONTROL OF OIL PRODUCING INDUSTRIES.

He also laid before the Senate the following communication which was read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special:

State of Minnesota.
Thirty-eighth session.
House Joint Memorial.

Whereas There is a very strong general sentiment in favor of the suppression of the gigantic monopoly now exercised by the Standard Oil Company of Whitings, Indiana, and

Whereas The said Company has to-day absolute control of the nation's, if not the world's output and supply of crude oil, gasoline and petroleum, and the said company has unlimited and unrestrained power to dictate the market prices of the said commodites and by virtue of its unlimited and unrestrained powers does wrongfully and unlawfully and without any justification increase the market and selling prices of said commodities which results in great injury to the consumers, and

Whereas The said company is wrongfully and unlawfully discriminating against States and selling the said commodities cheaper in some States and localities than in others without regard to the difference of the cost of transportation and selling and

Whereas By reason of rapid progress made in motive power the said products, crude oil, gasoline and petroleum have become a common necessity in every profession and vocation of life everywhere, and

Whereas The said Standard Oil Company has absorbed nearly all like competing industries, and

Whereas It is impossible for private capital to cope with or curb this gigantic and unjust monopoly; therefore,

Be it Resolved (the Senate concurring) That Congress be and is hereby requested to enact a law providing for government ownership and control of oil producing industries sufficient to control prices and break the gigantic and unjust monopoly now existing, and

Be it Further Resolved That the Legislature of all other States of the United States now in session or when next convened, be and they are hereby respectfully requested to join in this request by the adoption of this or an equivalent resolution, and

Be it Further Resolved That the Secretary of State be and hereby is directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States and to the several members of said body representing this State therein and also to transmit copies to the Legislature of all States of the United States.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, April 21st, 1913.

The House met at 8.00 o'clock P. M.
The SPEAKER (George E. Alter) in the Chair

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, we thank Thee for that great teaching of the Bible concerning the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man. It has not been recognized through the centuries as it should have been. We are beginning to understand it. In the movements of Thy providence, Thou art bringing all races and nations of people into intimate relationships. Thou art setting them face to face and emphasizing as never before their kinship and their brotherhood. Let us try to understand the meaning of it; not merely the opportunities and privileges which it confers but the perplexities and problems which it precipitates; and let us try especially as the servants of the people to cultivate those qualities which will make us helpful in solving these problems and in meeting these opportunities.

Let us have large sympathies; let us be kindly, considerate, thoughtful and anxious to do the things which are best under Thy supervision. Bless, we pray Thee, all the sessions of this legislative week and may everything that is done approve itself unto Thee and contribute to the welfare of the people, and Thy name shall have the praise of it through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Thursday's proceedings.

MOTION TO PLACE BILL ON CALENDAR.

Mr. S. B. Scott. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 125, entitled:

An Act relating to the councils of Cities of the first class of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be placed on the calendar, notwithstanding the negative recommendation of the Committee.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. S. B. Scott. Mr. Speaker, the tendency towards a smaller and more workable council for all cities is irresistible. The Senate has passed the commission form of government for third-class cities. For quite a while cities of the second class have had the advantage of a small council; and, Mr. Speaker, I think that one Committee of this House ought not to prevent the City of Philadelphia from having at least an opportunity to have its desires voted for openly on the floor of this House; therefore, I hope there will be no objection to this resolution.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I regret exceedingly at this time to take issue with my friend from Philadelphia. This bill was thoroughly considered in Committee, and was before the Committee of which the sponsor of the bill, my predecessor, is the Chairman. There were two public hearings given to this bill. The matter was discussed most thoroughly by all the gentlemen who appeared before the Committee, and the Committee gave it full thought. It strikes me as very unfortunate that this Committee has been rather severely criticised by the newspapers of Philadelphia. If you will remember, there was a public meeting in Philadelphia held before the Committee of one hundred, consisting of gentlemen who reside in one limited section of Philadelphia, who took it upon themselves to say what would be good for the city, so far as representation in councils was concerned. That meeting was held last Monday night at the request of the Chairman, and not by the solicitation of this Committee. Bill No. 125 was introduced early in the session by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McClintock, and was brought to the attention of the Committee for action at its meeting on Tuesday, the day following. Now, this bill should have been before us some time previously, as the very number of the bill, 125, will show you that it was introduced very early in the session. The Chairman of the Committee, Mr. Scott, did not see fit to have the bill discussed before.

The newspapers said that this Committee on Municipal Corporations gave the Mayor of Philadelphia slap in the face as it did the Committee of one hundred when it took this bill up for discussion and action the day after that meeting. That is not true, and I think the Chairman of our Committee will bear out that statement. The Chairman had never called it up nor had any member of the Committee on Municipal Corporations. It had been in the Committee for two months or at least ten weeks and it was the Chairman himself who suggested that the bills be now acted upon, and I say that they were never called up by any member of this Committee that they were thoroughly discussed by this Committee at its executive session and acted upon with a negative recommendation.

Let me say a word with reference to the bill. Truly you men know what is best for your constituency and your constituency in turn knows what is best for themselves and so instruct you from week to week when you come to this House. Of the entire Philadelphia delegation, consisting of forty members and over, I want to say publicly that the vast majority, three-fourths of them, at least thirty-five,—I will say thirty-three and be conservative,—absolutely refuse to be bound by any such bill as introduced by the gentleman from Philadelphia. Our constituency does not want it and we do not want it. We are perfectly satisfied with our mode of representation in Philadelphia and so say to you men now do night.

I want to say further that when the Committee of gentlemen came down from Philadelphia and appeared before our committee on two occasions in support of this measure and had brought forward all the arguments they knew, after they had been interrogated both by myself and a number of the gentlemen on the committee, they did not advance, according to my humble opinion, and I think that will be borne out by some of my colleagues here, one single reason why the change should be made at this time, except that they thought it would be good and wise legislation. There is no cry or demand for it and I reiterate again that I interrogated every member that stood on his feet before our Committee and asked, is there a single allegation of wrong committed, is there a single charge of any individual member of council on any occasion having done that which would demand this change, and there was not a man could answer aye.

What is proposed? It is proposed to wipe out all ward lines. It is proposed, instead of having a small ward in which the 50,000 inhabitants select their own individual representative to go to the council chamber and there act in accordance with the desires and necessitities of his immediate constituency, they want to say we shall elect fifteen men at large. Now you men very well know that it would be no great difficulty to "log roll" votes in the City of Philadelphia and have these fifteen men selected from one peculiar section. There is nothing to stop them from electing them all from South Philadelphia, Germantown or any other section, and what would it mean? It would mean that the other section of Philadelphia would not be properly represented. The very bulwark of our government rests on the fact that it is democratic in form, and why democratic in form? Because the various legislative districts, the various representative districts are parceled out in small groups, so that the man representing the voters in that group is almost a neighbor of his citizen constituency. He knows what is wanted, he knows what his neighbor wants and the result is he is intelligent enough to carry out these desires whether it be in the council chamber or legislative halls, wherever he may be sent. It might be argued to you that this body is an unweildy body, that it should not consist of 207 members, but should consist of twenty-five or fifty. I do not believe you will agree with such an assertion and therefore I think you ought to support the action of this Committee, which has been fair in its dealings, fair in its consideration, giving the widest latitude to the men who advocated this measure and deemed that it would be wise legislation and necessary for the City of Philadelphia, and that is the reason the Committee negatived it and that is the reason that I advance to you why you should support this Committee and vote this motion down.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. J. A. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, in order to explain this bill to the House, I want to say it is only amending the Brooks High License Law, so that three per cent. of the retail license fees in cities of the first class shall go into the Police Pension Fund in those cities. It only affects Philadelphia County and no other county in the State. I judge all of the members from Philadelphia County are in favor of it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

BILL INTRODUCED.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker. I desire at this time to ask of the House unanimous consent to offer a bill and in so doing I wish to make a few remarks before asking consent.

The bill I desire to introduce was introduced into the Senate some three or four weeks ago. It passed the Senate and the bill is now reposing in the Ways and Means Committee of the House. It is a bill that applies to all counties in the State, but more particularly to Philadelphia, and it is what is known as the All Philadelphia Bill, because it is for the purpose of raising money to build the elevated roads and subways and improve the port and dock facilities of Philadelphia. It provides that the personal property of the State shall be made the basis of taxation, so as to provide revenue, and that the money raised from that taxation shall go to the county, and I sincerely hope that the House will give its unanimous consent to the introduction of the bill. It was introduced in the Senate through inadvertence because it is a revenue measure, and all revenue measures, according to the Constitution, should originate in the House and not in the Senate.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent?

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia prior to the introduction of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SHERN. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, if the McNichol Bill, which has passed the Senate, and this bill, are one and the same bill.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, yes. sir. The McNichol bill has passed the Senate and is now in the Ways and Means Committee of the House and the reason I am now asking to introduce this bill into the House is because it has been decided to be a revenue measure, and all revenue measures, under the Constitution, must originate in the House and not in the Senate.

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, it applies to Philadelphia only?

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, it applies to all of the counties. It specifies that personal property shall be made the basis of taxation for county purposes.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent for the introduction of the bill? The Chair hears no objection and the bill will be received by the Clerk.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 899, entitled:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act to regulate and improve the civil service of the cities of the first class in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania making violations of its provisions to be misdemeanor and providing penalties for violations thereof" approved the fifth day of March one thousand nine hundred and six

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GEORGE K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Strike out all of section 5 including from lines 26 to 43.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be made in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to on third reading.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to draw the attention of the House to this bill. It is an amendment to the Civil Service Act of 1906, which applies to cities of the first class. Under the present law in Philadelphia, the Mayor of the City of Philadelphia appoints the Civil Service Commission. This bill provides that after its passage, the present Civil Service Commission shall hold office until the November election when a new Civil Service Commission shall be elected. There are a number of Civil Service Commissions in this country and in a number of States and cities, and to my knowledge there is not one of them that has ever attempted to elect a civil service commissioner, and I think properly so. Every member of this House was elected on a platform which declared for a short ballot. And if we are going to make certain offices elective that are not now elective we certainly should not begin with the Civil Service Commission. I believe that this bill's provisions would seriously interfere with the character of work that can be done by any civil service commission. Furthermore, there is another feature of this bill that is unfortunate and should be brought to the attention of the House and that is the purpose of the introduction. If the sponsor who presented this bill, or proposed this bill were actuated by a sincere desire to improve the conditions of the Civil Service Commission in Philadelphia, he would feel differently toward it. He would say that there is no sincere desire to improve the administration of our civil service law that has actuated the bill. The purpose of the bill primarily is to rip out the present Civil Service Commission in Philadelphia, and I believe that gentlemen of all parties in this State will agree that the execution of the law under the present Commission has been done as squarely and as fairly as any set of Commissioners properly could execute the law. I think that the law as laid down by the Commission has probably been a little too square and fair. The Commission has played no favorites and for that reason has gotten itself possibly in bad odor with some gentlemen who felt that they had a particular demand on the present administration in Philadelphia. If this bill is passed in its present form, then our Civil Service Commission and the execution of our Civil Service Law in Philadelphia will be seriously and very seriously affected. There is another feature of this bill which shows the character of the proposal that was made, and that was a provision that competitive examinations should be done away with. The one fundamental feature in a proper Civil Service Commission is competitive examinations. I understand from the gentle man's amendment that he has cut this feature out in part, still leaving non-competitive examinations instead of competitive examinations for the officials and employees in the Commission's own department. I feel emphatically that this bill should be defeated.

Mr. GEORGE K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, this bill is known as the Civil Service Bill of First Class Cities, which means Philadelphia. This Civil Service Commission has given a great deal of dissatisfaction in Philadelphia amongst the poor class of people that could not afford to get a college education. Those that are called mechanics are entirely put out by the way this Civil Service is given to the people. It is impossible for any mechanic to stand the examination that is put before them. I can show you that in a class of ten or eleven hundred only fifty to sixty pass the examination and not one of them is a practical man. What my amendment calls for is to have the examination made up of ninety per cent. practical questions, pertaining to the position for which the applicant is applying. Under the present examinations in Philadelphia, we have been having examinations that did not have three per cent.

of practical questions, and it is impossible for our people, such as mechanics and practical people, to stand those examinations. I ask this House to pass this amendment so that our class of people will have some chance of standing the examinations and holding a public office. We have people in Philadelphia that were born there and who were raised there and who have lived there all their lives and who have helped to build our streets and to build our sewers and water system in Philadelphia, and none of these people can stand these examinations. I appeal to the members of this House Mr. Speaker, to pass this bill, and give the common man a chance to get a public position.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, this bill is one of a general class of bills that has been flooding this Legislature, changing the internal government of the City of Philadelphia, and it strikes me that the time has just about come when the country members, if I may term them that, the members of this Legislature from the other parts of the State, ought to stop and consider the nature of the questions that are being put up to us. In my county, in the county of each one of you, in the cities in which you live, when you have a municipal election, and when you are defeated in your political aspirations, you live under the government as conducted by the successful candidate until the next election. When the next election comes, you undertake to elect the officials of your own choice. But not so in Philadelphia. After every municipal election in the City of Philadelphia, the party that is defeated comes to this Legislature, asking this Legislature to shear the successful candidate of all of his powers, and asks that this Legislature take over the government of the city.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that I would like to have the benefit of an interrogation.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Crawford permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SPEISER. I would like to know if the gentleman knows upon what political ticket the sponsor of this bill was elected?

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I care nothing for the political affiliations of the sponsor of this bill.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I insist upon an answer to my question.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I do not know.

Mr. SPEISER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of correction. It is not the defeated party of Philadelphia that comes here asking for this legislation. This is not an application made by the gentlemen who were alligned with the Republican organization, and I would say, Mr. Speaker, that most of them are against this very bill, and expect to vote against it. The sponsor of this bill was not elected to this Legislature on the Republican ticket, and I wish to correct the gentleman's assertion that it is the defeated party that has presented this legislation.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I do not care what the political affiliations of the sponsor of this bill is, and I have nothing to say as to the merits or demerits of the bill, but I want to call the attention of the House to the fact that after every municipal election in the City of Philadelphia, there comes into this Legislature from some source, and I care not what the source is, all sorts of bills for the purpose of changing the internal control, regulation and management of Philadelphia. In our county as I said before, after an election we live under the administration of the successful candidates, whether they are our friends or enemies, and I think the time has about come when the people of Philadelphia, or such of them as are favoring any bills of this kind, but it this bill or one of the many other bills pending in this Legislature, ought to realize after an election in the City of Philadelphia, they ought to live under the administration of that city until the next election, and not come into this Legislature and endeavor to shear the successful candidate or official of his power. I am not opposing this bill because of any particular provision in it, but I am opposed to any bill which changes the internal management of a city because of the result of a municipal election.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, Usually, the gentleman from Crawford, and his facts can be relied upon, but in this case I think he is speaking of something about which he knows nothing. This present law was enacted in the extra session of 1906, and there never has been an attempt to amend in any way that present bill up until this time. As has been said by my friend from Philadelphia, the gentleman from Philadelphia who desires to amend this law was not elected upon the Republican ticket. He was elected upon the Washington Party ticket and he for some reason or other desires to amend this act applying to Philadelphia. I am convinced that the great majority if not nearly all of the members from Philadelphia, elected on the Republican ticket, are going to vote against changing in any way the present law. When it comes to internal dissensions in Philadelphia, I do not know of any legislation of that description that has been enacted since the session of 1905, and I do not think that the Republicans would stand for any legislation which would tie or throttle the hands of the present administration.

The Republican organization is not responsible for that, if the gentleman was elected on the independent ticket or because he was elected on the Keystone ticket. Therefore, the Republican party is not responsible and the Republican party in Philadelphia cannot be charged with that. I sincerely trust that hereafter when the gentleman commences to talk in regard to Philadelphia politics that he will have a better knowledge of the facts.

Mr. PIPER. Mr. Speaker, the statement has been made by one of the members of the House from the opposite side that when Philadelphia has some discontented feeling towards the actions of some of those who are elected into office or appointed that they come to Philadelphia to try to remedy their wrongs. I know of no other place that is better than the House of Representatives of the State Legislature to remedy an evil that has been working in any one particular State or in any particular county of the State. If the law creating a certain office in the State of Pennsylvania or in any particular county of the State of Pennsylvania which has been created through the State Legislature is not satisfactory, then surely the State Legislature is the proper place to amend that law if they are not satisfied with it. The gentleman from the opposite side seems to feel that we should not have any fault found with those whom we elect into office. I believe that if I can recollect properly that it has not been so long ago—probably two years ago, when, possibly not the gentleman who has just spoken, but very likely some of his friends were very anxious to make the changes in the laws pertaining to their own particular counties in the State of Pennsylvania. For they found that the only way to correct an evil or a wrong law that was enacted in their particular county and they had no other resource then but to appeal to the State Legislature to make that change and they did it. The gentleman seems to think that this is a political move. I don't believe that the man who is the sponsor for this bill has any other interest at heart than the protection of his constituents. I believe that he was just as earnest and sincere in the election of the present administration in Philadelphia as the administration is itself today but he has found, not from his own experience in trying to take a civil service examination, these conditions; he has had one complaint after another come to him from his constituents where they didn't get an honest examination for any position in that county. I have had men come to me who have applied for the simple position of laborer in the City of Philadelphia who were compelled to strip themselves and lay on a table to find out whether or not they were in good physical condition for a job paying $1.60 a day. There have been questions asked of the average practical man when he has been trying to take the examination for any position that was beyond his reach. The questions that are being asked by the examiners of the civil service in Philadelphia are only appropriate for the man who is a college graduate. They are not fit for the man who is a practical man; who is a man of a trade, and I feel that is just as well to refer this subject to the people as to refer the election of United States Senators to the people; it is just as well to take a body of men who are serving in the civil service and elect them to office rather than appointing them. I say let the people decide who these men shall be. I question very much if we take the whole three men in the county of Philadelphia who are serving today as the civil service commission and put to them the same questions that they are putting to the applicants for civil service positions but they themselves can pass the civil service examination. I don't believe that they could pass their own examination or that they could answer the questions that they are asking the men whom they are undertaking to examine. I would like to have a test of that. I would be only too glad to find some other way of remedying the things that are being carried out in the city of Philadelphia in this respect and that are unsatisfactory to the majority of the working men. I believe that if I were to call a public mass meeting in the Academy of Music in the City of Philadelphia that I could fill that building four times over with men who are protesting against the action of the civil service commission in Philadelphia and to the character of their questions. I believe surely that every man and a big majority of the men who would attend that meeting would be men who had cast their vote for the election of Rudolph Blankenburg as Mayor of the City of Philadelphia. I don't give you my statements. I feel that if you men were to take the civil service examination and I realize however that there is not any of us here tonight that cares about taking a civil service examination and that we are in the same position as I am because I am not seeking any position under the present administration and while I would be just as sincere a worker for them as any one else, and yet I feel that justice should be handed to the men who would go to the door bell and help to elect and put into control the men who are in control of the affairs of Philadelphia. Now, then, gentlemen, I want you to use your best judgment here tonight in this matter. It is not in the interest of a political party that this sponsor is applying for the passage of this bill but because his constituents and his neighbors demand them. Yes, we can find thousands who are dissatisfied with the treatment they are receiving at the hands of the civil service commission in the City of Philadelphia. I don't blame the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Walnut, for opposing this measure because I know that he is not only interested in this but he is interested in having a law pass that the whole State of Pennsylvania come under civil service examination; he is the secretary of that if I am not mistaken— of the Civil Service Reform Association in Philadelphia. I don't believe that it is necessary for me to talk any longer on this question. I am not here as an antagonist to the administration in the City of Philadelphia. I want them to understand that, but I am here in the interest of my constituents who are not receiving a square deal at the hands of the civil service commission in the City of Philadelphia, so far as practicability in examinations are concerned.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that it is necessary to tire the House by going into the intricacies of this measure. I merely desire to state that this bill is an attack on the excellent civil service reform measure which now governs the City of Philadelphia. The arguments which we have just heard are the familiar cry of the spoilsman against the barrier which is supposed to be in their way. It is a familiar cry which is advanced against the merit system and which has been advanced ever since it was first introduced, but the merit system has gradually spread from a small section of the United States and serves to cover almost the entire United States service. It is now spread over Pennsylvania having covered first and second class cities and we hope that this Legislature will extend it to the whole State. This bill is a retrogressive step and we do not want to go backward.

Mr. GEORGE K. YOUNG. Mr. Speaker, I am not opposed to civil service, if civil service is carried out as it should be on practical lines. There is no one in the State of Pennsylvania who would help to carry these ideas out any more than I would but as we have them in Philadelphia, it is impossible for practical men and mechanics to stand up against these examinations. You take the papers who have published these matters in the last week and they will tell you how the civil service is conducted. I have been requested to present this measure by my constituents. There has been so much said as to the way by which I have been elected. I have been elected on the Washington and the Keystone Party ticket and these are the people that have requested me to amend this bill so as to get poor working people and poor mechanics a chance to secure a public position. I hope you will give us your assistance and pass your amendment.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the passing of this amendment would be a mistake from the standpoint of both sides who have spoken upon it. It would be a very great mistake to amend the present civil service law so as to make the board elective. From the standpoint of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Young, representing as he does the reform party, it would merely mean the bringing of the civil service into politics. It would be the one blow that would strike at the very root of the tree. If the Board is elected, then of course, the Board must be a political Board; and if the Board becomes political it is no longer a civil service board. This bill would be a mistake from the standpoint of the other gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman, Mr. John R. K. Scott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I decline to be interrogated at this time. I will answer later and as I proceed I hope the gentleman will not interrupt me. I repeat. it will be a mistake from the standpoint of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Shern, representing, as he does, the Republican party upon the floor of this House, because it would be bringing back into politics again a greater number of positions that are in politics at the present time. Patronage has been held by many to be essential for political organization; patronage is not essential; patronage to a great extent is a burden to a political organization. Years ago it was held by many in public life that no organization could exist unless the principle "to the victor belongs the spoils," was recognized. We find, Mr. Speaker, that the spoils in many cases were burdens.

It meant that when we were in power, we carried the drones with us to hold the offices, but they amounted to nothing at the time of election, but when we were attacked, when we were under fire from the other side, then the drones became active, the officeholder that had received his position by the old patronage system became a power, not for us. but a power against us. I remember a few years ago, Mr. Speaker, when in this House it was an ordinary custom for members of this House to get from the various railroasd passes which they gave to their constituents. It was thought at that time that that was an absolute necessity to political organizations; it was one of the little perquisites that was looked upon by those of our party as a necessity. When that was abolished, many of us thought that we were losing to a great extent a right that we had but is there one man in this House that to-night is not overly pleased that he is not burdened with the power of getting passes for his constituents, bringing, as it did, a great amount of discontent among those who were surrounding us. That very same opposition applies to patronage. Patronage has brought to the organization as much discontent as it has brought aid.

Mr. Speaker, in answer to my friend from Philadelphia, whether or not I am a Republican, I am a Republican. I am an organization Republican, one who stands right strictly to his party, and every word that I now say on the floor of this House, and every word that I have said on the floor of this House this session, I say as a strict party man, who seeks the advancement of his party, one seeking the advancement of the organization in his party, one who feels that if his organization is made clean. eliminating as far as we can fraud, eliminating the improper use of money, eliminating the improper use of patronage, that we will not only be strong as a party. but will be strong as an organization; will not only be able to go before the people with the great principles of the Republican party, but will be able to go before the people with the great honesty and the great force of a working party. Mr. Speaker, I see no reason why a man who is a division leader, a ward leader, a city leader, a county leader, or a State leader, should be looked down upon by his neighbors. I believe it is a high patriotic duty that he does to his people; I think it is a high patriotic right that he has. It is a shame, Mr. Speaker, that many of us who are Republicans, many of us who are organization Republicans, who do our duty as citizens at the polls, are held to account for the reputation that is brought upon many of us by those of us who are foolish in our views of party allegiance. When my friend from Philadelphia speaks slightingly or insinuatingly as to my Republicanism, I want to say to him, Mr. Speaker, that session after session I have stood with him on the floor of this House aiding in passing legislation, many times against our own better view, because we narrowly allowed ourselves to be led by those who ought not to have led us. I stand here on the floor of this House to-night, just as loyal a Republican and organization man as I was on other nights of other sessions. My friend to-night himself has voiced that which I am voicing. When on the floor of this House he said that the delegation of which he is a member intends to vote against this amendment, he simply said that which I have been advocating all this session. He sees the light. I know there is hope for us all, when my roommate, when my old college friend, when my old fellow organization friend, Shern, has joined the ranks that I am in; a progressive organization of Republicans seeking to establish a party free from fraud, and guided only by the principles of our grand old party.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative, and the bill falls.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. KAISER. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Kaiser, seconded by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Rothenberger, that the vote by which House Bill No. 1139, file folio 3137, entitled:

An Act to amend an act entitled "An Act relating to corporations and estates held for corporate religious and charitable uses" approved the twenty-sixth day of April Anno Domini eighteen hundred and fifty-five as amended by the supplement to said act approved the second day of June Anno Domini eighteen hundred and eighty-seven and further amended by the act approved the first day of May Anno Domini nineteen hundred and seven by altering the seventh section and by repealing the sixth section thereof failed on final passage on Thursday, April 17, 1913, be reconsidered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion.

The SPEAKER declared that the ayes seemed to have it, whereupon a division was called for and 116 gentlemen or more than a majority of the whole House having voted in the affirmative, the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I cannot imagine why this question should recur again. What has happened in the meantime to change the decisive sentiment of the House whereby the bill failed of passage last Wednesday? Everything that was said then holds now. The reasons why the bill failed then, ought to be sufficient to prevent the bill from passing now. However, the respite has given the opportunity to arm myself with the latest pronouncement of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania on this subject. You will remember perhaps the course of argument which I pursued on the last occasion, where I pointed out to you that this bill bears upon its very face and by the very words which are included in the bill the fact that it is the last step in the litigation which has been carried on in the County of Lackawanna between the congregation of one certain church there and its Bishop. I read to you excerpts from two or three Supreme Court cases, which I then had before me, and now I hold in my hand the opinion of the Supreme Court in the last case in that line, which has not yet been reported, but which I have herebefore me in manuscript. I desire to read just shortly from the case of Kazimier Novickas et al vs. Andrew Kauczunas, et al. No. 11, January term, 1913, an Appeal from the Court of Common Pleas of Lackawanna County. The Court in this case reviews at length the various cases which have gone before, and which I have already read partly to you.

"We further said in that case," "The fact of conflict between the rules and regulation of the Catholic Church and the laws of the state in this regard, remains. It is idle to dispure such fact; it is too patent to be questioned, and further discussion of it would be but wasted effort." The case now before us can only be regarded as another attempt to circumvent the law and take from the congregation the right of control and ownership in its own property, a right confirmed to it by the laws of the land. A brief reference to what followed upon the decision of this court in Krauczunas V. Hoban, supra, will make this plain. Immediately upon the rendering of that decision the bishop of the diocese issued his episcopal decree wherein, after stating "That the court has decided that the Catholic bishop of Scranton must hand over to a band of excommunicated apostates the deed of the Catholic church of St. Joseph's," he proceeded to place the church of St. Joseph "under interdict until the members of the congregation shall turn these faithless men out and place the church once more under the care of the Bishop of Scranton according to the laws of the Catholic church." This was followed by the injunction that "no Catholic service shall be held therein, nor shall any Catholic enter therein without incurring ecclesiastic censure until the interdict shall be removed." It was not alledged in the interdict, nor did it appear anywhere in the evidence of the case, that these men holding the office of trustees, and here denounced as apostates, had incurred ecclectiastical censure for any other reason than that they had defended successfully the right of the congregation of which they were the representatives to hold and own its property under the laws of the land. The result of the decree was that many members of the congregation, including the plaintiffs in this bill, rather than incur the eccleciastical censure threatened in the decree, refrained from entering St. Joseph's church, and, with episcopal approval, established a separate place of worship which they have continued to maintain and attend. The interdict remains in full force, rendering worship in St. Joseph's church according to the rites and ceremonies of the Catholic church impossible, except on condition that the congregation "shall place the church once more under the care of the bishop of the diocese of Scranton according to the laws of the Catholic church."

Gentlemen the amendment which it is desired to make in the Act of 1855 to this law is against the public policy of Pennsylvania as established from that time down to the present. It is an attempt to do by the Legislature what the Courts say cannot be done under the present law. The Legislature of Pennsylvania two years ago decided that it should not be done. The House this session has decided that it should not be done, and I hope that now finally and forever this attempt will be discontinued.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, it is unfortunate that we are compelled to discuss this question again upon this floor. I am sure it was settled last Thursday according to the convictions of every member of this House, voting as they really felt and as they really desired. There can be no doubt about what has been done since that time to bring this question again before us for consideration, and, of necessity discussion. I wish to have it understood by every man in this House that I will not take off my hat to any man as to his rights to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. I can bow at any alter and worship my Father and your Father, wherever that alter may be, and so in what I shall say tonight, I do not wish to be judged from the narrow point of sectarianism. I hope to be so far above that, that I can accord to every man his right to worship under whatever order he may desire. But Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that we are at this time being forced to discuss this question not from an ecclestiastical standpoint alone, but from what may be termed a material standpoint. I asked the other day, what is the object of this bill. Other members have been asked what is its object. Does not the present law as it existed '55, '74 or '84 and 0'7, hasn't it placed every denomination in this land, or in this State, upon the same basis? I have in my hand a brief and I read this:

"As the law stands now, the lay members of every congregation, Catholic, Protestant, Jew or Gentile, have the absolute and complete control over the material affairs of the church."

Every Church in this State of ours is under the same law and the property rights vest in the members of that Church. What does this bill propose? This bill proposes special legislation for the benefit of one denomination in this State. Has this Commonwealth come to the point when it is ready to yield to the requirements or the request of any special denomination to shape legislation to meet its desires, its ends, and its purposes?

Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that this declaration made one week ago is as true as anything can be true. Ultimately the real aim of this bill is the union of Church and State. I want to ask this question, and I would like to have the sponsor of this bill answer it, if he will tell me, how it is possible for an Ecclestiastical Monarchy to dwell in the midst of a Democracy and be at peace? I would like to know how it can be done? Go back in his story as far as you will, read the history of the past, and wherever an Ecclesiastical Monarchy has sought to establish itself in the midst of Government, there has been trouble and controversy until the question was settled that only one authority should rule and reign.

I have another utterance from the same gentleman who handed me this brief:

"Once a law, the laity have no control of property whatever. To my mind this bill not only vitally effects the adherents of the Roman Catholic church, but may also in the future vitally affect the members of other denominations."

This is the position that I took the other day, and I have it and have heard from other denominations. I hold in my hand a resolution passed in this City at the Ministerial Meeting in Harrisburg, representing seventy-five churches and approximately 30,000 communicants, who believe that the ownership of church property should be vested in the local church and its control in lay representatives of the congregation rather than be owned and controlled by Bishop, Rector, Priest or Preacher.

"Therefore be it resolved that we most respectfully petition the members of the legislature, by whatever party elected, to vote to defeat House Bill No. 1139 and leave the law as it has stood, giving such general satisfaction for so many years in the past."

There is not a single denomination that has raised its hand or its voice against the law as passed in '55, '84 and 1907. This denomination that pleads for this bill comes before us and asks us as a State to change the law for what? To take the property rights from men who have given at times their all, from the poor toiling girls, and the poor toiling men and rob them of their rights. My friends, there was a tea party several years ago in Boston that was caused simply because there was taxation without representation.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I appeal to the Chair that the sattement of the gentleman from Beaver is unfair and is not warranted by the facts. This bill itself does not seek to rob any person of his property rights.

The SPEAKER. Of course, the gentleman from Beaver has the right from parliamentary standpoint to use any illustrations which he thinks would be applicable. The Chair cannot sustain the point of order upon the remarks of the gentleman from Elk.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I read for the benefit of the gentleman from Elk from another brief, "In the Roman Catholic Church the Bishops are the only legislators, as the layman has no voice in any of its higher councils. This church law in this country relating to real and personal property says 'that all church property, real and personal, shall be made in the name of the Bishop as trustee, sole corporation, and in fee simple.' If a layman is permitted to have a place in that council he is simply a privileged individual to sit in that council, and not by virtue of law, and theme has no right to vote or voice his sentiment upon the control or the holding of property." And I say to you, Mr. Speaker, and to this House, that when you and I give our assent to any law to any organization to control property, to control that which belongs to the laity, or to take out of their hands after they have invested their money and reared their churches and after they have given their all, to take from them the right to voice their sentiments or to vote, we have robbed them of a power and a privilege for which this Government stands, and for which this State has always contended. And so I say, Mr. Speaker, that we need well to consider this question It will not be settled here ultimately if this bill passes this House. We hand down to future generations possibilities that may cause controversies as great as any that this country or any other has ever seen or experienced. I hold in my hand a telegram which reads as follows: "I am unalterably opposed to Bill 1130, amending the Act of 1855. I do not think the State should enact such a law, nor do I believe that churches interested would endorse it." This telegram is from Thomas J. Garland, Bishop. It is a question in my mind to-night, if the great Roman Catholic were permitted to vote on this question, whether they would vote away their rights. They love their rights as American citizens as well as you and I. They love to have something to say in reference to the use or distribution of their offering. I wish to say one more word, Mr. Speaker, in reference to the matter as brought before us a week ago. I have gone over this bill very carefully, and others have gone over it very carefully, and I want to call your attention to those exceptions which absolutely mean nothing other than to lead us astray in our conclusions as to the purport of this bill. In two or three places this sentence appears: "Other than funds above excepted." This sentence, I say, is used three or four times. I would like to have some one tell me where a single cent is excepted. There is not a dollar excepted. I read in a certain part of this bill that this "other than funds from plate, Christmas and Easter collections, and voluntary contributions for salaries, clergy, teachers and sextons, and so forth, shall be taken and held subject to the control and disposition of the lay members of such church, congregation or religious society, of such constituted officials, and so on until it comes to this: "Such control or disposition shall be exercised in accordance and subject to the rules, regulations, usages, canons, discipline and requirements of the religious body or organization to which said congregation or religious society belongs." There is not one cent, not a single offering but that is not included in the control of the Bishop or Pope. And then we read further and come to this other sentence: "except the funds excepted," and there is none excepted. And I ask at this moment that this House again vote its convictions. I understand there may have been some conditions, that some individual may have changed his opinion because of a careful examination of this bill. If that be true, vote as you have concluded, basing your convictions on the bill. Let there be no influence. Let there be nothing brought to bear upon you other than right and righteousness and a conscientious conviction. If we are true American citizens, if we believe in representation where taxation is, I do not see how we can vote otherwise on this bill than we voted before. Mr. Speaker, I ask every member of this House to stand true, asking every church of this State to stand simply upon the same platform together, not to except a single one, not to specially legislate for a single one, but let us stand together, rule together, worship together, and live together in peace and harmony under the same law, and if we so do, we certainly will have accomplished the great end and purpose of church and Christian life.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say that this bill is scarcely worthy of the eloquence of the reverend gentleman from Beaver County, and I would say further than that that its provisions, under its provisions, it affects only one denomination of this Commonwealth, for the reason that there is only that one denomination which now holds its property under certain conditions, and as this bill would affect those conditions only to the extent that those holding their property, those holding that property, shall have the right to transmit the same to their successors. That provision simply means that it saves that particular denomination considerable annoyance when it comes to naming a person for the office of their Bishop in whose name the property is held. It simply provides that the control of church property shall be held under and subject to the rules canons of its denomination. Is there anything wrong about that? Is there anything in that proposition that is unfair? Is there anything in that which would excite fair opposition upon the part of any right thinking man? There is one other thing in this bill, and only one other thing and that is that "funds collected for church purposes shall be held and used subject to the rules, canons, etc., of the denomination which collects them." Is there anything unfair about that, may I ask? Is there anything about that which would rob any one of their property, as has been unfairly alleged on the floor of this House. I say no, but the opposition to this bill is an unfair opposition, it is a subtle opposition, it is an opposition which does not look an honest man in the face, and say that this is wrong because it affects my church. No, no, that is not it. That is not what excites the opposition to this bill. This bill affects only one denomination in so far as property rights are concerned, and only affects that denomination to the extent of permitting them to transfer their property in their own way, and under their own rule. Unfortunately that particular denomination nas a different problem to contend with than some other nenominations. It had different class of people to deal with, if you please. It takes the poor emigrant just arrived in this country from the shores of a foreign nation, and tried to make the man a decent, law-abiding citizen, and their success in that undertaking needs no explanation or defense at my hands, because that denomination to-day is largely standing between this government and socialism. It is doing the work which I feel free to say that no other denomination in this Commonwealth is doing, and I dare say that the combined denominations of this Commonwealth are not doing any better work.

I do not seek to rob any congregation of their church property. If there is a single congregation or a single church in this State that does not wish to accept the provisions of this act, they need only withdraw from that code. All we ask is that they shall not sail under false colors or pretend to be something which they are not.

All we ask in regard to the collection of funds is that these moneys shall not be collected and go to the clergymen of a few individuals, laymen, if you please, and that will alone apply to our denomination, because I understand that other denominations have different rules. It comes with mighty poor grace from these gentlemen to say that we are trying to unite church and state. I look about the Halls of this Legislature and I fail to see any of the clergy of this particular denomination about this House as representatives here of the denomination or as lobbyists. If that is a reflection upon any one, they may wear the shoe, if it fits them. We are only asking what is right. We are asking this in the name of humanity; in the name of justice. Mr. Speaker, I again contend that there is not one single line in that bill which will adversely effect any denomination—not one.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Elk?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Elk, Mr. Flynn, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Elk, if under the present existing law, under which all of us are compelled to act now, your own church would not be able to teach and train its people to be decent and law abiding citizens? Is this change necessary to teach members of their church that they must be law-abiding citizens?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, we have found in isolated cases where this is absolutely necessary; that certain churches shall not misrepresent themselves as being members of our denomination. That is all, and further than that it is very desirable for us to have this law because of the way in which our church properties are now held.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Elk who the Roman church is or who is it considered to be?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, the Roman church needs no defense on the floor of this House at my hands and I don't care to explain the workings of it for the benefit of the gentleman from Beaver. He has no sympathy with that church and it is nothing to him.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Elk declines to explain the workings of the Roman church, I will attempt to answer the interrogation of the gentleman from Beaver as the Roman Catholic Church has nothing to conceal.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, the only question that I want to bring out here is that the laity is not recognized in the Roman church in property rights. You pass this bill and you rob every member of that church of a voice in its property rights which we contend is not right, and furthermore, it prohibits progress by reason of refusing the right to protest against some things or some condition that may not exist today but that may exist in the future. It prohibits the organization of another church that may desire to call itself by the name and desire to hold and control its property, and if you pass this bill you rob that organization of the right to hold that property and the right to control its property and that is the objection to the measure.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, if that question is addressed to me. I will answer it.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman need not answer it.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, it is true that it would prevent another church or any branch of the church from using the name of the Roman Church. Is there anything unfair about that? You shall conduct your church as you see fit but don't call it by a name that you are not entitled to call it.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I did not think I should have to rise to my feet in the discussion of this bill, but it does seem to me that the gentleman from Philadelphia and the gentleman from Beaver unintentionally misconstrue its provisions. When the gentleman from Beaver says that it is robbing the members of that particular denomination of its church property, I think he commits an unintentional error, because every member of this particular denomination who are members of this House of Representatives vote for this bill, and I know the gentleman from Beaver does not think that we are lacking in average intelligence. This denomination and this organization has existed for hundreds of years and it has existed from the time of the "Tea Party", that my friend from Beaver, spoke of, in Boston, some one hundred and forty years ago and I know it will continue to exist, and that the bishops and the arch-bishops of the respective dioceses in Pennsylvania will have a sufficient control over its parishoners whether or not this bill passes. Some times I think and feel that there is some opposition on the floor of this House that is of a jealous nature and that it is not actuated by the fact that they are afraid that this will lead to the union of Church and State. I am convinced that if the gentleman from Beaver knew the effect that the passage of this bill would have on this great organization on the keeping of it together, on the maintaining of this wonderful system, which has been handed down for thousands of years, he would be the last one from the standpoint which he occupies in this community as an eloquent and devout preacher in his particular denomination to oppose the passage of this bill. As I understand the gentleman from Elk it is the opinion of not only one eminent attorney in this Commonwealth but a number who say that the provisions of this bill will be only applicable to one particular denomination and it seems remarkable that every member upon the floor of this House who is a member of that particular denomination, will vote for this bill and there are some fifty-eight or fifty-nine in number; this should be an unanswerable argument to the balance of the members of this body who are not members of the Roman Catholic Church that they should aid in keeping this wonderful organization together. I sincerely trust that the members of this House when they vote will vote in a dispassionate way free from any religious prejudices and according to the dictates of their conscience.

Mr. JOSIAH HOWARD. Mr. Speaker, we are all sorry to differ on church questions. This bill provides, as I understand it, for all property, real and personal, and that it shall be subject to the control and disposition of each church and the canons and regulations of that church. Mr. Speaker, within three miles of my home is a small country church. That was built as a union church by the people of that neighborhood. It finally drifted into and under the control of the Weslyan Methodist Church. They have become so few in that part of Pennsylvania that this church was placed under the jurisdiction of the conference of Olean, New York State. The church has connected with it a graveyard. My contention is that under the provisions of this bill, if passed, the conference of Olean in New York would be allowed to lock up this church and refuse burial in this graveyard, and entirely remove the power and the control and the disposition of that property from the jurisdiction of the courts of Pennsylvania. In support of this contention the bill itself provides that all property, real and personal, shall be under the control and disposition of the persons authorized by the canons of that church. Mr. Speaker, the courts decided time and again that no lay member can transfer his trusteeship except by reverting it back to the parties from whom he gets the trusteeship, if the congregation elect him a trustee. This bill would repeal that section entirely. The sole purpose of this bill is to provide that this trustee, as I understand it, shall have the power to transmit his trusteeship without giving the congregation any right of appeal to the courts of Pennsylvania. I hold, Mr. Speaker, that it does not apply to one church or one denomination, but it applies to every denomination. As I cited in the case of a small church in our county, which is now under the jurisdiction of Olean, New York, that the conference of Olean, New York, would be entirely free from the courts of Pennsylvania, and would rob the congregation of that community of the right to apply to the courts of Pennsylvania against the decision of the conference of New York State. I hope that this bill will not pass, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I had hoped to escape saying anything further on this bill, because when the bill was before the House on Wednesday last, I tried to digest the merits of the bill, and at length, and I shall be very brief. The thought has passed in my mind tonight, simply because of the fact that this is legislation in relation to a church as to whether or not, when the original act was passed in 1855, the hue and cry was raised of a union of State and Church, and whether in 1887, when the act was amended for some purpose, there was a hue and cry raised whether or not it was a union of State and Church, and whether or not in 1907, when the act was again amended, there was a hue and cry in relation to its being a union of State and Church. I have failed up to this time, Mr. Speaker, to hear any arguments advanced against this bill that have indicated to me, yes, even indicated, that there is any danger in such a bill. When a body corporate has its plans of doing things and simply asks that this law be made so that things which have been done and will continue to be done, will be done according to law and no one's toes tramped upon. I wonder why such a hue and cry and battle is brought up against a measure of this sort. And one other thing. Mr. Speaker. Great stress has been laid by those who have spoken against this bill on its being in favor of an attempt to rob the people of a certain denomination. No one has suggested it would rob my denomination; no one has suggested it would rob the lay members of his denomination. I, for one, Mr. Speaker, have failed up to this moment to hear a single lay member of the only denomination that it is suggested that this law will touch, as being opposed to this measure, and I would like to ask the gentleman who have opposed this bill whether or not, up to this moment, a single lay member of the only denomination this law will touch has asked them to oppose this measure. I, for one, Mr. Speaker, and after I have taken my seat the gentlemen may reply to my question, I for one am thoroughly convinced that this bill is thoroughly meritorious and I shall support it.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken.

Mr. SHERN. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The roll was verified and was as follows:

SENATE

TUESDAY, April 22, 1913.

The Senate met at 10:45 o'clock A. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor John M. Reynolds) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

"Our feet shall stand within Thy gates, O Jerusalem!" Help us, O Lord, to realize that now and here we are standing within the Divine Presence. They shall prosper that love Thee. Grant unto us that consciousness that man's prosperity is not in the abundance of the things he possesseth, but rather in the fruits of that spiritual relationship with Thee. We read in Thy Word that Thy servant, David, went out against the common foe of Israel, saying: "Thou comest to me with a sword, with a spear, and with a shield. I come to Thee in the name of the Lord of Hosts." Grant that we to-day as we shall meet out tasks, as we shall engage the foe of all righteousness and truth that we shall not go forth in our own strength, or in our own name, but rather in the name of the Lord of Hosts. Be Thou our strong tower of defense this day, be Thou the Eternal Rock upon which we shall erect this day's structure. We ask it in the Redeemer's name. Amen.

SPECIAL ORDER.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

The hour of 11 o'clock having arrived,

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 231 (House Bill No. 185), entitled:

A joint resolution proposing an amendment to section one article eight of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I beg to offer as part of my remarks on the merits of this question a short article by Cardinal James Gibbons, the closing paragraph of an address by John Don Passos, Esq. and a short news item of the conditions in Denver, Colorado after mineteen years of women voting.

STATESWOMEN VERSUS CHURCHWOMEN

By Cardinal James Gibbons

The world is governed more by ideals than by ideas; it is influenced more by living, concrete models than by abstract principles of virtue.

The model held up to Christian women is not the Amazon, glorying in her martial deeds and prowess; it is not the Spartan woman, who made female perfection consist in the development of physical strength at the expense of feminine decorum and modesty; it is not the goddess of pagan love, like Venus, whose votaries regarded beauty of form and personal charms as the highest type of female excellence; nor is it an imperious Juno. No; the model held up to woman from the very dawn of Christianity is the peerless Mother of our Blessed Redeemer. She is the pattern of virtue alike to maiden, wife and mother. She exhibits the virginal modesty becoming the maid, the conjugal fidelity and loyalty of the spouse, and the untiring devotion of the mother.

The Sexes Equal Now and Hereafter

Woman's origin and destiny are the same as man's; so is her dignity equal in every way. As both were redeemed by the same Lord and as both aspire to the same heavenly inheritance, so should they be regarded as of equal rank on earth; as they are partakers of the same spiritual gifts, so should they share alike the blessings and prerogatives of domestic life.

In the mind of the Catholic Church, however, equal rights do not imply that both sexes should engage promiscuously in the same pursuits, but rather that each sex should discharge those duties which are adapted to its physical constitution and sanctioned by the canons of society.

To some among the gentler sex the words, "equal rights," have been, it is to be feared, synonymous with "similar rights."

Suffrage, or the right to vote, and the right to hold office, are ambitious which some women have, that are really rights of similarity and not of equality. Seeking these so-called rights alienate the feminine spirit from its foreordained and guarded haven—the home.

To debar woman from such pursuits as suffrage, or from doing a man's work, or from wearing masculine attire, is not to degrade her.

To restrict her field of action to the gentler avocation of life is not to fetter her aspirations after the higher and the better.

Woman's Supereminent Rights.

It is, on the contrary, to secure to her not equal rights, so-called, but those supereminent rights that can not fail to endow her with a sacred influence in her own proper sphere; for as soon as woman trenches on the domain of man, she must not be surprised to find that the reverence once accorded to her has been, in part, or wholly, withdrawn.

The home—whether that home is a palace or a cottage—exercises more sway in the government of the land or the uplifting of the people than our houses of Congress and State legislatures. Our President, our statesmen and our judiciary hold the high offices of framing or interpreting or executing the laws. But our Christian women—wives and mothers—hold a higher place, for they mould the character of our statesmen and jurists in their childhood and instil virtue in their hearts. Our greatest statesmen have loudly and unanimously proclaimed their indebtedness to their mothers.

Motherhood Provides the Noblest Work

The noblest work given to woman is to take care of her children. The most important part of her apostleship should consist in instructing them in the ways of God. The education of the young should begin at the mother's knee. The mind of a child, like softened wax, receives with ease the first impressions, which are always the deepest and most enduring. "A young man, according to his way, even when he is old, he will not depart from it." I. Peter, II., 2. A child is susceptible of instruction much earlier in life than parents generally imagine. Mothers should watch with a jealous eye the first unfolding of the infant mind, and pour into it the seed of heavenly knowledge.

The ultimate effect of this movement, if it succeeds, upon the family relation was pointed out in the following forceful manner; by John Don Passos.

"The effort of the suffragists is to upturn the basic principle of home and society, by creating the anomalous and impossible situation of two heads to a family, by mingling the duties of man and wife, by obliterating the plain, necessary and natural functions which are now assigned to each, and amalgamating them—she acting as father of the family, she giving up her duties as a wife, she neglecting her obligations to her children and entering into political life. It is so unnatural that it can never succeed. They may vote such a proposition through; but they can, with equal success, also vote that the tide of the Delaware River shall fall or rise at the will of your Common Council. Votes against natural laws are the vainest of all things. And, if it does succeed by the votes, it can only become effective by the utter destruction of the family relation. It means the annihilation of the fundamental principles of human society, and if such an event should arise there would ensue a physical struggle between the sexes in which man will most surely be victorious."

The notion that woman suffrage means "a moral uplift" in politics is dealt rather a severe blow by the disclosures of municipal corruption in Denver. As a result of investigations of vice and the saloons, the food trust, city hall graft and newspaper blackmailing, the grand jury at Denver returned forty-six indictments last September against the former Mayor, and Chief of Police your present and former members of the Fire and Police Board, five members of the School Board, including one woman, and about one hundred corporations and indviduals. And this in a city where women at the polls had been exerting their "moral uplift" for nineteen years.

But now, Mr. President, whether I please or whether I tease I will give you my honest mind; if the shoe fits, wear it, but if not, leave it behind.

I refuse to be either cajoled or coerced by letters that have signatures or by letters that are anonymous and do not bear any signatures.

1st. I am irrevocably and conscientiously opposed to Women Suffrage. It obliterates femininity, and tends to destroy the home.

2nd. The Democratic Platform does not mention a Constitutional Amendment; a Referendum is not necessarily a Constitutional Amendment.

3rd. I have voted against all amendments for years. I favor a convention to give us an orderly, logical, co-ordinated and correlated Constitution, instead of a patchwork crazy quilt.

4th. An immediate referendum can be had by a joint resolution instructing the County Commissioners to print the question on the next primary ballot, without costing the State eighty to one hundred thousand dollars. I might vote for such a resolution, though I would oppose the question at the polls; but never will I vote for a foxy costly trick to advertise this propaganda for two years at the expense of the State.

5th. I reserve the right to interpret the Democratic platform for myself, having voted the Democratic ticket during the past thirty-four years at every general election, instead of having it interpreted for me by Yellow Socialistic Journals, or pink tea, tutti-frutti fellows who only vote when the Democratic ticket suits their fastidious taste.

6th. I was nominated by Democrats at an open primary before the Democratic State Convention, with no pledge to support ephemeral fads, new fangled theories, or socialistic fancies.

7th. I did not run on half a dozen tickets. I accept but one party nomination.

8th. The quarrel of most women seeking suffrage is not with men, but with the Almighty for not creating them men.

9th. Nine out of ten of my constituents are opposed to this Amendment.

10th. The Puritanical idea that society can be moralized by Statute laws, that men and women can be made good by force, is contrary to natural law, and responsible for bad errors in our law-making philosophy.

A word here in regard to the present condition in our State. I know by experience that not all the so-called Old Guard are grafters and thieves. Many are high-minded gentlemen doing and acting for the best according to their ideals and light. I have differed with them, and boldly so expressed myself on many occasions, because I held a different ideal and viewpoint. I shall continue to do so, not allowing myself to be bulldozed from within or without. I also know that many present day professional reformers are neither saints nor angels. Many of these forcibly illustrate what the poet says:—

"But man, proud man,
Drest in a little brief authority;
Most ignorant of what he's most assured,
His glassy essence,—like an angry ape
Plays such fantastic tricks before high Heaven,
As make the angels weep."

History has shown, and will continue to show, that fanatical reformers, and holier than thou, self-seeking politicians have not been able to bring about the millennium, and their career, therefore, has always been short-lived and ephemeral. True reform and lasting betterment must rest on a solid foundation, and result from steady evolution rather than hysterical revolution.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I did not intend to say anything on this subject, but in response to the very eloquent speech of the Senator from Berks, I want to merely state the question at issue—that is whether "man, proud man, dressed in a little brief authority" shall arrogate to himself the right to keep this question from the other men of our Commonwealth who are not sitting in this Senate Chamber.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, for the first time since this question has arisen I rise now to say a word or two in reply to the Senator from Allegheny, I want to say that I, sitting here as a State Senator, feel that it is my duty and that I was elected by my constituents to stand here between the law and the people, that the people of my district sent me here and the people of his district sent his here and sent every other Senator to this body in order that he might be a manly man, in order that he might perform his duties to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania with courage, with conviction and with honesty towards his cause, that he was sent here at a time like this not to shift his burden, not to hide behind the question whether we will unload this on the people. We in the Senate of Pennsylvania are in the position of a grand jury to stand between the people and the law, mob violence and hysteria, and also the workings of political tricksters. As I studied over this proposition, I have found among the men in this body many reasons why they intend to vote for this bill, and I sincerely hope in fairness to the women of this Commonwealth if the men who are supporting this proposition vote for it and it should pass that after its passage they will change their ideas and will not do what many of them have told me they would do,—that they would vote for this proposition and then go before the people to defeat it. A more unmanly statement would not be made by any man who endeavors to call himself a man, and if I were voting for this proposition and thought it was a proposition that I should unload on my people, I would be manly enough to go out at the polls and vote for it. I say to you that twenty-five or thirty per cent, nearly fifty per cent of the men who vote for this resolution intend, should the same pass, like the burglar at night, behind the screen of the ballot, to vote it down. That is not manly. The man who votes for this bill on that theory is neither fair to himself, his constituency, or to his State. I have studied this proposition. I do not consider it a political proposition at all, and the man who tries to wiggle a woman into politics is unfair to himself and is not in some respects manly. Now, what is this proposition? It is a proposition that is being used at this time to my mind only and solely for political reasons. There is little or no sincereity in the matter. I have been told by people that this proposition is theoretically correct. Theoretically, possibly it is correct, but we cannot run this government on theory. If we are going to run this government on theory then its progress in the last fifty years has been wrong, the theories and principles laid down by the Republican party are wrong and the principles of the Democratic party are wrong. The principles of every party that I have had the pleasure of studying are wrong unless you take up the theories of the Socialists. If we are going to run this government on theoretical principles then we have been wrong for years past and we ought to adopt the platform laid down by the Socialists, because, after all, that is the only theoretical government and the only real upright government if we are going to run on theory, because no man who studies their principles can but say they look beautiful in theory. But can those things be practically carried out? I feel that they cannot and I believe that every self-thinking man must feel that the theories of the Socialists cannot be carried out to a practical conclusion, any more than the theory of this "votes for women." Now I have also heard other men say that they intend to vote for this bill because of the fact that it was contained in the Republican platform of May last year. How any man who knows anything about politics can say that the State of Pennsylvania had a Republican platform in last May I fail to understand. If it was a platform founded by Republicans and was honestly made it became dishonest rather quickly, and those who disrupted that Republican platform at that time and took from under it its foundations have no right to come back to this Senate today and say that anybody should follow it. Why the founders of it, the creators of it, the men supposed to control it, were the men who deceived it at the November election and caused the downfall of the Republican party in Pennsylvania, and many of the men elected by that ticket last fall and on that ticket at heart were Washington party men, and I think it ill becomes them to come into this Senate and say: "We want you to follow the dictation of the Republican Platform," and I for one when the time comes will vote to play fairly and honestly with the women, then we are not deceiving them as we attempted to deceive them or those who were in that Republican convention attempted to deceive them last May.

When they started to play fair with them, giving them an honest platform, backed up by an honest Republican party, by honest Republicans and if I should ever happen to be elected on such a ticket my views might be different, but so long as the cause is born in political deception, followed up by political dishonor chicanery and trickery, so long shall I stand opposed to this cause and I hope this Senate will vote down this measure.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I desire to say a few words on this proposition. It is my intention today to vote to submit this proposition to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for them to decide whether or not they want the women of this Commonwealth to have the right of suffrage, and I attack the statement as made by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, that it is an unmanly thing for any member of this House to stand here on the floor of the Senate and support the submission of this proposition, and if it is submitted to go back and take his coat off and work against it. It is my intention to support it here today and if it is submitted it is my intention to take my coat off and do all I can to defeat it and I say, Mr. President, that when I make this statement I am not unmanly, and I leave it to the journal of this Senate here for the people of this Commonwealth to decide between the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, and myself as to where the manhood lies. So much for that. I am for the submission of this proposition today because I feel that there is sufficient demand in the State of Pennsylvania for its submission to the people. The Senator from Berks, Mr. Herbst, has said that this does not apply to the Democratic platform, that it was not the pledge of the Democratic platform that they favor the amendment granting suffrage to women, that they were either for or against it, but he says there was something said about the referendum and that the submission of a Constitutional question is not a referendum, and I attack the statement made by the Senator from Berks, Mr. Herbst, that the submission of the Constitutional question is not a referendum. It is a referendum pure and simple. Now the thought that is in the minds of some of the Senators today is: "Shall we as members of the Senate of the State of Pennsylvania when the ladies here congregated along the side walls for and against it, shall we decide and judge between the women or shall we submit this proposition to the voters of the State of Pennsylvania at the expense of one hundred thousand dollars for the consideration of the proposition?" For me I am convinced that there is sufficient demand throughout the State of Pennsylvania for the submission of it. It is immaterial to me if it costs $20,000, $30,000, $40,000 or $100,000 or $200,000, I say that the demand is sufficient that that expenditure shall be made. It has been said by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, the Senator from Berks, Mr. Herbst, that this is a Socialistic movement. If those Senators will look at the press of today and see the result of the fight in Michigan, they will find that the entire Socialist party of the State of Michigan voted against woman suffrage, and I say that it is not a Socialist movement, that we should have woman suffrage in the State of Pennsylvania, and it is immaterial to me whether you call it a Socialist movement or what you want to call it, but this proposition should be submitted and I am for its submission.

Mr. NULTY. Mr. President, this question to my mind has passed the stage of serious discussion. It is not to be ridiculed, laughed down or lightly put aside as a small question of only passing interest. It is up to the people and to the people it should go. The people would settle it; the people will decide soon. The truth of this statement is evident, for in two conventions of this State both large parties, Republican and Democrat, have noticed and have adopted friendly programs along these lines.

A few reasons for thought on this question. First, we should not concern ourselves with the number of people in this State who want an equal suffrage. We have nothing to do with what women would do with the ballot. It is foreign to the subject to say equality would not mean improvement. The whole question rests on this: Are women to be classed under the general head of "People?" If they are "People" then they have the constitutional right of People. In other words, if our women folk are human beings, what constitutional right have we to turn them into chattels or treat them as idiots, lunatics or criminals, by keeping them from the franchise which is the standard right of adult citizenship? I do not know how many people in the State of Pennsylvania who want equal suffrage, but I do know that others who claim to know, do not know, and to pretend they do know they are not honest. If it is undesirable in this State, let the people combat it in the open and at the polls. If this amendment is defeated in the State Senate of Pennsylvania, the people will say to the Suffrage party, have patience and wait without fear for what the future will and must bring. The influence of the people will not end to-day, to-morrow, next week or next year. There is no bill that will come before this body that I will so gladly, so freely and so willingly give my support and vote to. With woman suffrage we must answer the elemental bed rock question: Is it right for women to vote? Of course that includes the legal, moral and mental sides of the discussion, and looked at from such standpoint, we may say, "Yes, let women vote."

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, the worst fling that I know of that can be made against the women is that the Constitution of Pennsylvania classes her among her idiots, her criminals and her insane, and I am not opposed to this resolution because of any disregard or disrespect that I have for the women of Pennsylvania. It is rather out of the high regard that I have always held them in that I stand here to-day respecting the wishes of a very large percentage of my constituents asking me to vote in support of the good women of Pennsylvania, and to refute any charge that may be made that classes them among her idiots, her criminals and her insane. In the submission of a Constitutional amendment, if it had not been intended by the framers of the Constitution that some responsibility rested with the Legislature they certainly would never have written into the Constitution of 1874 that before any constitutional amendment could be proposed it would be necessary that that proposed amendment pass two sessions of the Legislature. If it had been intended that the Legislature should not reason out the question whether or not the people of Pennsylvania desired to have her Constitution amended, then I ask of anyone who stands in favor of the proposed amendment to the Constitution why the framers of that Constitution so wrote it in it. I respectfully submit that the people of Pennsylvania are not in favor of women suffrage. We all know that there is not a single question that is submitted as a legislative problem that could not be made a Constitutional problem, and if that is so, I would like to ask whether or not any one present either for or against the right of votes for women would be in favor of asking the members of this Senate to submit to the people the right to say whether or not the people want baseball on Sunday; whether or not a lot of people who now are having a little game of cards in their houses and frown down upon gambling could come into this Senate and ask us to submit the question to the people as to whether or not the people of this Commonwealth want to regulate gambling as a Constitutional question. I want to ask whether there are any persons here who are urging the submission of this question to the people as a Constitutional question who would come here to the members of this Senate and ask us to submit to the people of Pennsylvania modification of the Sunday laws. Since this question has come up I have given it careful study and concern. Some time ago I took dinner at one of the outlying inns where there were present some sixty people, more than twenty women, representing the very best of the middle class of people in this district, and I made it my business to ask each and every man and woman there how he or she felt upon the question of the right of suffrage for women. I did not find a single one in favor of the proposition, but every one absolutely against it. After this resolution had passed the House I made it my business to ask almost every person indiscriminately as I met them on the street how they stood upon the question of woman suffrage, and I found considerably less than five per cent. in favor of that proposition. I know, Mr. President, that a number of petitions have been circulated. In this district which I represent there was almost a house to house canvass made, and there has been submitted to me petitions containing 631 names and less than one hundred post cards came in, asking me to support this proposition. Among the signers to these petitions which I received I noticed the name of one man into whose store I went some time ago and he said: "Senator, I see the women are trying to put you into a hole." I said: "Upon what?" He said: "These women came in here and asked my wife and me to sign it and we told them we are satisfied with conditions as they are, we preferred to maintain our home life as it is, and we refused to sign it." And yet, Mr. President, there is contained on this petition the name of that man who made that statement to me, and why? The only reason that I could conceive, the only reason I could infer or anybody could infer, was that certain persons who took this petition around must have gone to one of his customers and said that he was against this bill, and that customer must have gone to the store, and then in the hope that he would maintain the trade which he had he signed his name to that petition, and this is brought in as one of the reasons why I should vote in favor of woman suffrage. I find on these petitions the name of another one particularly I recall. I met him at the corner of Third and Walnut streets and I said: "I see you are in favor of woman suffrage?" He said: "I am not." I said: "But you signed a petition?" He said: "No, I did not," and I argued it out with him, and finally he hunted me some ten or fifteen minutes afterward and said: "I want to beg your pardon. I did sign that petition and this is the reason I did it. I happened to be employed at a printing office and the foreman of that establishment came to me and said: 'The Woman Suffrage Association will probably have some printing to do; if we sign this it means nothing except we may get the business,' and then we all attached out names to it and passed it up." I also notice in this package of papers, and I show it to the Senate, a petition that happens to be cut in half, and I suppose that is the result of a petition that was called to my attention, when a young woman accompanying a party in which there were present some eighteen, carried one of these petitions with her, addressed to me as a Senator representing this district. She said, "Now, come on girls and sign this petition!" It does not mean anything." Seventeen girls refused to sign it and the eighteenth who had subscribed her name to it took it off the paper, and I suppose this explains the condition of this paper which comes to me. Mr. President, besides that, let us discuss whether or not the women that represent women suffrage, believe in it and know its practical workings. I know of no place where I could go better to ascertain whether or not the women of this country stand unanimously for suffrage than to go to the statement that was made by Mrs. Belmont, of the National Association. On the ninth day of December, I find in the Philadelphia "Press" this article:

"MRS. BELMONT OFFERS NEW HAPPINESS RULE.

Special Dispatch to "The Press."

New York, Dec. 8.—Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont spoke on matrimony to the members of the Junior Political Equality League at the headquarters of the parent organization, 15 East Forty-first Street, yesterday. Mrs. Belmont, who was quizzed all during her speech, introduced her subject thus: "Girls, you know you ought to marry, but not before you are twenty-five. You know, or should know, your own minds then and have a good idea of the responsibilities of marriage.'

'But that's entirely too long to wait,' piped up a little miss. "And besides, if a girl marries, shouldn't she stay at home and keep house and not—

'Not at all,' interposed Mrs. Belmont hastily. 'When you marry keep right on with your work. Then you will have enough money to hire a cook and your home will be happier.'

'How about the babies?' chirped another. 'Ought not a girl to stay at home and care for the children?'

'Certainly not,' emphatically answered Mrs. Belmont. 'A young mother would be of very little use to a baby. It is better to hire an older and more experienced woman who knows how to take care of children.'

And Mr. President, this is the leader of the National Association believing in the right of suffrage for women, a woman who as the leader of that Association starts out by advising the women of this country that a mother is not able to take care of her child, and I care not whether the members of the Senate be for or against this proposition there is not one of us who has come up in life who has anything dearer or sweeter to him than our mother's love, and the care of a mother from the time we are born until we are brought up into manhood and to womanhood. And here is a woman who when a child comes into the world would advise the women of this country that it is their duty to take her away from the mother and put her into the hands of a stranger. If that day ever comes to the people of Pennsylvania and the other States of this Union, then we will have a time when the women will no longer live in a plane above men, we will no longer regard her as a superior to man, it will be her day to come into politics; but until that day comes, and God knows I have confidence that it never will come, when we will put woman any place except where we always have placed her, above us, as our better, and those that we have always been taught to love and to honor. And, Mr. President, I ask here which member of this Senate it may be, I don't care what man it may be, if he has studied the game of politics, who would approve of his wife, his daughter or his sister going into politics. How would you like your wife to go to the polls and be approached by some woman who had led a prostitute life; how would you like to have your wife go to the polls and be approached by the criminal, or the idiots in the community, asking her to do thus and so, in the control of the ballot when she would be asked to vote for or against any candidate. I do not know any better way of explaining how the women in favor of suffrage stands as against those who are against it than this little thing I picked out of a paper the other day:

"ST. PETER, THE SUFFRAGETTE, AND THE WIDOW."

"St. Peter, at his gate, perceived two ladies approaching. He rose to greet them.

'Names?'

'Mary Smith, widow,' said one.

'Jane Jones, spinster,' replied the other.

'Occupation?'

'Suffragette speaker,' said Jane.

'Just a mother,' answer Mary.

St. Peter looked troubled.

'I've only room for one just now,' he said. 'It'll go to the better of you two.'

Jane looked pityingly at Mary.

'I,' she said, "have been a successful speaker for my cause. I have stirred women up till they got the vote. Owing to their having the vote they have accomplished the passing of certain bills. These bills have benefited some two thousand human beings. I'm afraid that 'just a mother' here can't total anything to equal that!'

'I'm afraid I can't,' sighed the mother. 'I never did a thing except bring up my seven boys. They turned out well, but that only makes seven human beings I've benefited.'

She turned meekly away.

'Hold on,' said St. Peters. She turned back. 'What about those sons? What have they done for their kind?"

The mother's eyes shone.

'One discovered a new anaesthetic. One secured the passage of a bill which did good to hundreds. The other established a home for blind children.'

St. Peter penciled down some figures.

'The fourth led his regiment past a danger point and saved them all. The fifth is a parson, who lives what he preaches. The sixth is an artist, who has delighted hundreds. The seventh—well, he's busy bringing up his sons. His wife is a suffragette!'

'Come right in,' said St. Peter. 'Your list totals two thousand and eleven.'

Mr. PRESIDENT, there has not been a single time in the history of Pennsylvania but that when the women of Pennsylvania came into the legislative hall with a proposition that was intended for her betterment or for the betterment of the people she represented but that this Legislature has answered in her favor, and I hate to see the day when the women would lose their personality; when instead of being regarded as the good women of Pennsylvania we should be called up to look at them as members of the several parties and representing the political parties in this State. Where would a woman be that would come in here representing the member of the Democratic party and the Republican party and so on. You would find instead of them having the force they now have, they would be divided. And coming down to my own district on the question of whether or not the people want woman suffrage I know we had a test of it in the City of Harrisburg in the fall of 1911. In the fall of 1911 there was a fusion of the Democratic and Keystone parties against the Republican party. There were named on the Keystone Democratic ticket two women candidates for the office of school director and one was the present President of the Central Pennsylvania Woman Suffrage Association. One was nominated for a term of four years, the other was nominated for a term of two years; they each had one chance out of six, two chances out of twelve, to be elected. At the general election held in November, 1911, the Republican candidate for Mayor, City Treasurer, Recorder of Deeds, Poor Director and Register of Wills, all went down to defeat, the majorities ranging up to eighteen hundred. The women made a door to door canvass almost. There was not a Democrat or Keystone man in politics, or a man of any party in politics, but that he was importuned to support the two women for school director. In addition to the oposition to the Republican candidates there was a special fight made against the six candidates for school directors based upon charges of malfeasance in office, which was alleged by the opposition, and yet, Mr. President, with all of the Keystone candidates which I have mentioned winning out, against the Republican candidates, and having the regular Keystone and Democratic nomination and added to that the fact that a lot of people believing in limited suffrage voted for these women and added to that the fact that everybody that believed in whole woman suffrage also voted for these two women they went down to defeat, and the entire ticket of the Republican candidates for school directors was elected. If that is so, how do you find any sentiment in the district which I represent in favor of this proposition of woman suffrage. Added to the conditions we have at Harrisburg, a friend of mine who always votes against the party I represent came into my office the other day and said that in the part of the county in which he lived he had made at least five hundred inquiries and he didn't find a single one in favor of the right of suffrage for women. He did not find it because a woman of my county do not want it, and, Mr. President, elected as I have been and as against any imputation that has been charged against me and feeling that it is my duty to represent my people, I have sounded the sentiment in the District which it is my honor to represent and finding that sentiment against the right of woman suffrage I shall cast my vote against this resolution.

Mr. HOKE. Mr. President, I have listened with unusual care and attention to the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Beidleman. I have a high regard for his ability as a pleader and a logician, and I felt that if there was any good reason why I should vote against this resolution the Senator would find it and present it with great force. I am in favor of this resolution and propose to vote for it, and I wish honestly to ascertain whether there is a good and valid reason why I should change my mind. But I have listened to his entire argument, to his eloquent argument, in vain. He has not presented a valid reason why he or any one else should oppose this resolution here this morning. It is true, as he says, that the Constitution provides that before an amendment can be made it must be ratified twice by the two houses of the Legislature and then submitted to the people at the polls, but it is not true, it is not fair, to draw the conclusion from that that the meaning of the framers of the Constitution was that this Senate and House of Representatives should base their action upon the opinion of the majority of the people concerned. If that were true it would not be necessary to submit the question of the amendment to the people at the polls. The Legislature would in that case decide what was the will of the people and their decision would be binding. The question before us is not the merit or demerits of woman suffrage.

The question is, shall we submit this proposition to the people of the State. Now, Mr. President, I am here to assert that this Senate under the conditions that confront us has the legal, the constitutional right to block his question, but it has not the moral right. Within certain limitations, the question of the merit of the proposition has nothing to do with our consideration. I say within certain limitations. If some foolish question was to come before us, such as the Senator from Dauphin has cited with respect to Sunday base ball and Sunday gambling, then I would say it is our duty to vote it down on the merits themselves. But this is not such a question. It is a question that comes to us as a proposition that has been accepted wholly by nine States of the Union; it comes to us as a proposition that has been accepted by twenty-eight of the forty-eight States of the Union in part more than a majority of the States. It comes to us as a question that is as broad as the country. It is a question that is knocking at the door of civilization. It has been passed overwhelmingly by the popular branch of this legislature, and the question is, has this little body of fifty Senators nay, has the small majority of fifty Senators, the right to block it, and to say that the people of this Commonwealth shall not have the right to pass judgment upon it. Now, Mr. President, I believe as firmly as I know that I am standing here to-day that woman suffrage is bound to come in the State of Pennsylvania. It is as sure to come as the sun is shining to-day. It may be defeated to-day; it may be put off for two years but not longer, and woman suffrage will be accepted as the rule of this State when the little party of Senators who stand here and vote here to-day, when the small few who vote against it and speak against it will be forgotten in oblivion, and when that day comes the only way that their names will be remembered will be that some one will look into the Legislative Journal of 1913 to find out who it was that put off this great question for two years longer. I believe that the position of every man comes from his own private view of the question. How does it affect him- I say frankly, and I say this in answer to the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, that if I were going to the polls the probability is that I would vote against this proposition. I do not consider that I am unmanly in this proposition. It may be Mr. President, that I do not want politics in my own private family, but I believe, Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, that we have got to swallow it. I believe it is a bitter pill that we will have to swallow, and we had better swallow it before it is forced down our throats, as it is bound to be. The Senator from Dauphin made an excellent point when he read the newspaper clipping referring to what Mrs. Belmont said. Now I happen to know and I violate no confidence when I state that from private conversations with the Senator from Dauphin he does not put any too great dependence in newspaper report I believe that the Senator from Dauphin has been grossly misrepresented by the newspapers, and I know that I have been, and every Senator on this floor has been; we all know it. I believe, without knowing the facts, that is a piece of malicious misrepresentation of Mrs. Belmont. If it is not I say she is a fool and not entitled to the position she holds. If the Senator from Dauphin or if any member of this body thinks for a moment that any thing we can do or the people of Pennsylvania can do will take out of womanhood the mother instinct they ought to be in the Harrisburg Insane Asylum and not here. I know at least one woman who is an ardent supporter of woman suffrage and who looked forward to be here to-day who is at home taking care of her sick child and cannot be here. Legislate the mother instinct out of womanhood. The Senator from Dauphin knows that it is impossible. Mrs. Belmont knows that it is impossible.

Now, Mr. President, I have only this to say in reply to another part of the argument of the Senator from Dauphin with reference to the election in Harrisburg several years ago. I am not so familiar with the facts as is the Senator. This is his home and I only know from what I have heard, but I do know that these good women who ran for the school board were defeated by a narrow margin, and I have heard—in this I may be mistaken,—because I do not know it as a fact—but I have heard that they were defeated by a bi-partisan combination of the organizations of both old parties working against them and pulling every thing and sacrificing the rest of the Republican ticket to defeat these two women candidates. If that be untrue, my informant is wrong in his statement. I have only this to say in conclusion to reiterate what I said in the beginning that this is not a question to be decided entirely upon the merits or demerits of woman suffrage, but shall we allow the people of this State to speak for themselves and say whether Pennsylvania shall have woman suffrage, shall give the woman that which they have given her in other States of the Union. Shall we show upon the decision of the people of Pennsylvania the question which I say is to-day knocking at the door of our civilization.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, in order that the Senator from Franklin, Mr. Hoke, may be properly advised I desire to say to him that his informant on the question to which he has referred did not tell him the truth.

Mr. JUDSON. Mr. President, I desire to say a few words upon this question. I had not thought that I would, but I feel that I am justified in doing so. I am in favor of this bill. I am no recent convert. My decision came as the result of playing politics for forty years. Some years ago I was engaged in a political fight resisting a bond issue in a certain town in my county, and the people, or a large number of them, were opposed to that proposition. Ladies owned large blocks of real estate in that town upon which taxes would be imposed as the result of a bond issue, and I saw men go up and vote on tax receipts paid for with money which they never paid themselves, paid by political committees, and that satisfied me that the woman who bears the burden should say whether she should be taxed or not. I resent the idea that women would be detrimental to or would corrupt politics. I have confidence in her honesty. She is more sincere in her statements and in her actions than the average man. She will tell you the truth, and I believe that a woman in politics will purify it, will elevate politics. I never saw a man so low or so degraded that when an intelligent woman went up to him it braced him up and he endeavored to be a better man when hs was in her presence. I imagine from some of the statements that the same feeling prompt many of the gentlemen. Lately the wife of a judge near my county said to me, no later than Sunday last, "I am opposed to this." I said "What is the reason?" she said "I don't want to have some nice looking lady come up and buttonhole my husband and try to persuade him to vote some other way. I would not stand for it." That is the milk in the cocoanut. These ladies say they do not want woman suffrage. It does not compel them to go into politics. We ar eonly upon this measure to submit it to the vote of the people as to whether they shall have the right of suffrage, and why shouldn't they? Who makes our churches? Who makes and helps improve our institutions of learning? How long would they stand if it were not for the efforts of the ladies? The Senator from Dauphin has stated why they put it in the Constitution of 1874. The time has passed when the woman shall go into the field and plow corn while her husband basks in the sunshine. We have given them the rights of men for sixty years. It is within the memory of the President of this Senate and members of the bar that when a woman with lots of property married a man without a cent and who couldn't make a cent her property became absolutely hers. What is the result today? The law has been made so that woman enjoys an equal right in his property with him in hers. The time has come when the people are asking for this thing. Some of these gentlemen have stated that there is no demand for it, and why should we pass this resolution submitting it to the people. I submit to the members of the Senate that nearly every day we find bills upon our calendars permitting amendments to the Constitution that the people outside of the Senate chamber know nothing of the importance of. There is no public demand for the bills we have on our calendar calling for amendments to the Constitution. Conditions have changed, people have progressed, and we must recognize that the man of the party that stands fast will die. I am not influenced by any political party on this question, although I recognize the fact notwithstanding the Senator from Berks to the contrary, but I believe that the Democratic party said in its platform that they wanted this question submitted to a vote of the people, and that it is the Democratic party's duty and its representatives in the houses of the Legislature to give it this support. I think that we are not violating any duty; in fact it is our duty to submit to the people of this Commonwealth, these noble fellows, whether they will want the woman to be equal with them in the right of suffrage. It will come, it must come and why not try it now and get rid of it, because it will be a burning question here in this Legislature for years to come.

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. President, there is no matter of degrading politics here. The idea is to protect the women from getting into the same line. Politics is a little too rough for women, especially women with families, and therefore I am opposed to it.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, just one word. It seems to me that the whole proposition of this question is whether we trust the people or not, whether this Senate is willing to pass this question up to the people and let them decide it. So far as I am concerned I am not prepared to say whether I am in favor of letting women have a vote or not, but I surely never have and never will sit here in this Senate and stop the people having a vote on any question. I shall therefor vote for this bill.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. President, I was sent here to represent the people of this State and I believe that I represent them best, when I vote in favor of submitting this question to the people for their decision. I will vote for it and I hope the bill will pass.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I would not say a word if it were not for some statements and some special messages which had been received on the floor of the Senate from St. Peter through some newspaper. I will not stoop to such sacrilege, and I resent on behalf of the suffragettes of this State and of the United States the imputation that anybody presumed for a minute that any suffragette who is not the mother of children think that she is the superior of a suffragette or an anti-suffragette who is the mother of children, and again on behalf of the suffragettes of this State and these United States the imputation that the suffragettes or the women of this State are afraid to talk to a prostitute at the polls. I want to say that they are not afraid to so do and they would very much prefer to talk to them at the polls than hear their husbands talk to them in houses licensed by men for that purpose.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, I had not intended saying anything on this question, but I am a member of a society, a religious society of Friends, which for two hundred and fifty years has acknowledged woman to be man's equal. She has always been allowed to fill any office of the religious society, whether it be minister, elder or overseer? The women have always dealt with the offenders of their sex and I contend that it has always had a good effect. Mr. President, I can go back further than many members of this body, but I remember in 1856, in 1860 and in 1864 how the women of this community or this country supported the Republican party, how they attended the meetings and if it had not been for the moral support they gave the party it would have died "a borning." Mr. President, the Senator from Dauphin has dragged in the prostitute; she is no worse than the man who has prostituted her, and if our Saviour would meet the woman at the well and forgive her I am sure the noble women of this State can do the same.

Mr. McNICHOLS. Mr. President, At this moment I stand in a very peculiar position, and rather than wait and make an explanation at the time I cast my vote I wish to state the position in which the Senator from Lackawanna is placed at the present moment. I am opposed to this and opposed to it on prineiple. I do not think it is a good thing for the women of our State. I deplore very much the fact that a small minority of the women of this State of Pennsylvania are asking for it at the hands of the members of the Legislature. I believe that if such an event would occur and a majority of the people of this State would vote that the women enjoy equal suffrage with men, that the women would be the first party to deplore it. I have been outspoken against the movement. I have made it known in my home district that I see no good in it and that no good can come from it. I have never tried to conceal my feelings, I do not try to conceal them today. If an opportunity may arise when I may vote against this project I will take that opportunity to do what I can to defeat it. Mr. President, I was elected by an electorate of something like 268,000 representing Lackawanna County, and it has been my pride and it has been my boast that I know no boss but the boss of Lackawanna County, the people. I put this matter up squarely to the people, and I am convinced today by resolutions by the different organizations, by twenty-seven hundred names of resident voters of Lackawanna County, by a resolution passed by the allied trade bodies of Scranton and the Central Labor Union, delivered here in person by its President, Mr. Stephen McDonald, that they ask—not only ask but command me—as the representative from Lackawanna County, to vote for this resolution. I am forced to say that when I vote for it, I vote for it under protest, but I vote for it because the people of Lackawanna County have requested it. I am sorry that I spoke to some of the members of the Senate when they asked me and told them that I was going to vote against this resolution. I am very sorry for it. I try to make this explanation and make it very plain. I do not want to argue for or against it, but I want to state my position clearly so that the members of the Senate will understand it.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I just want to say one more word. It is my recollection that when this measure passed the House of Representatives that there were only but five or six votes cast against it. The question which arises in my mind now is, "Who is it that has a barometer of sentiment for the District; is it the Senator from the District, or is it the three Representatives who represent a certain party of the District. In my District one voted for it and one voted against it. The question is: "Who has the barometer of the State of Pennsylvania, the House of Representatives or the few men who sit here in the Senate?"

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Crawford, Mr. Jarrett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Crawford, Mr. Jarrett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. President, cannot the Senator from Crawford, Mr. Jarrett, feel the pulse of the people as well as the people on the other side?

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I have and express it.

Mr. KURTZ. Mr. President, is that the sentiment of the district of the Senator from Crawford, Mr. Jarrett?

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I think so, although in the House of Representatives one voted for it and one voted against it.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

An Act entitled an act directing the Agricultural Department of State College to set apart ten acres of land as an experimental farm to be planted with farm crops native to Pennsylvania and cultivated in accordance with the preamble as set forth in this act

Whereas, It has been reported that Pennsylvania has about ten thousand abandoned and partly cultivated farms within her confines and as such a condition is undoubtedly one of the factors responsible for the high cost of living as a suggestion for the solution of this problem it seems but proper at this time that in order to present farm life in a more attractive manner to those who would prefer to lead agricultural lives instead of ekeing out bare existences in our large cities but who hesitate to make the venture on account of lack of knowledge and

Whereas, The Agricultural Department of State College is well equipped to undertake such experiments therefore the Agricultural Department of State College is hereby instructed to set apart ten acres of land as an experimental farm plant it with farm crops native to Pennsylvania and culitvate it in a scientific and intense manner thereby proving that a ten acre farm cultivated under these principles will produce as much in crops as a fifty acre farm under the conditions now prevailing on most Pennsylvania farms and

Whereas, The advantages offered by small farms over large ones lie in the fact that they may be cultivated by the occupant without employing additional help and that there will also be created a pleasanter social relationship by the closer proximity of the homes and

Whereas, Those in charge of this experimental farm should study well the kinds of stock most appropriate best adapted and most profitable as well as the number of each the farm will support They shall study and determine the size of the garden the kind of vegetables the amount of acreage for each crop the kinds of crops the rotation of crops also the amount and best kinds of fertilizers the depth of the furrows kind and quantity of lime the analyzing of the soil and in fact every information that will add to an intelligent comprehension of the value of such farms

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in order to carry this act into effect there is hereby appropriated to the Agricultural Department of State College the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) or so much thereof as may be needed for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and thirteen This act to go into effect immediately upon its approval by the Governor A full report of the result of this experiment shall be made to the General Assembly in one thousand nine hundred and fifteen

EVENING SESSION.

MEMORIAL SERVICES ON THE DEATH OF DAVID A. WILBERT, LATE SENATOR FROM THE FORTY-THIRD SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

The Senate met at 8 o'clock P. M.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. Charles H. Kline) in the Chair.

The PRESIDENT. This being the time fixed by resolution for holding memorial services on the death of David A. Wilbert, late Senator from the Forty-third Senatorial District, the Senate will be in order and will be opened with prayer by the Chaplain.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. C. James, offered the following prayer:

"Yea, though I walk through the Valley of the Shadow of Death, I will fear no evil." Man is as the grass of the field. In the morning it flourisheth and groweth up, in the evening it is cut down and withereth. Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust, were words not spoken of the soul, but of the body. For man's soul shall live on throughout an immortaltiy. We thank Thee, our Father in Heaven, for those inspired words from that heart that Thou didst touch so that it sang:

"I know not where His islands lift, their fronded palms in air—
I only know I cannot drift beyond His love and care."

Teach us, this evening, the lesson that there is no such thing as death and that what seems so is but transition from the suburbs of life to the fields Elysian. So lead us that we shall walk not after the flesh but after the spirit. Grant unto us then ears that shall hear that voice divine. One of our number, a brother and a colleague, has gone from us. One who stood by our side and fought life's battles with us and went through life's struggles with us, has fallen in the ranks and we this evening bring with tender hands our tribute of fraternal love and lay it upon the shrine of memory. Be with those dear ones whose hearts are an aching void because of their loved one who has gone from them. Comfort them and may that peace which passeth all understanding be their abiding portion now and forevermore. Amen.

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF DAVID A. WILBERT, LATE SENATOR FROM THE FORTY-THIRD SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

Mr. MAGEE offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

Whereas, Almighty God in his wosdom removed from our midst on January twenty-sixth, one thousand nine hundred and twelve, the Honorable David A. Wilbert, late a Senator from the Forty-third District; and

Whereas, His public character and services demand prominent commemoration; therefore be it,

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania, in appreciation of the sterling qualities and high unselfish character of our late member, extend to the family of the deceased Senator our sincerest sympathy in their great loss, and direct that a copy of this resolution duly engrossed and attested, be forwarded to the bereaved wife.

CHARLES H. KLINE,
CHARLES J. MAGEE,
ASA K. DeWITT,
JOSEPH H. THOMPSON,
HARY J. MORGAN.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the same?

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. President, it is with the feeling of the most profound regret and sincere sorrow that I rise to say a few words commemorative of the life and works of the late Senator David A. Wilbert, a man whom I have known as a friend and a neighbor for many years. I have known Senator Wilbert since the time of my earliest recollection and, in common with most people who shared his friendship, my admiration of his manly qualities grew from year to year.

Mr. Wilbert was a native of the City of Pittsburgh, where he was born on the 23rd day of February, 1862, and he died in his native city on the 26th of January, 1912, leaving to survive him his wife and their family of five children.

Since early manhood Mr. Wilbert has been engaged in various commercial activities in the City of Pittsburgh, and at the time of his death was at the head of a large concern engaged in the real estate and insurance business.

Mr. Wilbert always exercised an active interest in the civic and political affairs in his home city and held various positions of honor in the Republican organization, of which he was a valiant and patriotic member. He was elected to the Senate for the Session of 1905, and was reelected for the Session of 1909, his death occurring before the expiration of his term. As a member of this body, his services were distinguished by close attention to the general business of the State, and a keen observance of the rights and privileges of his own constituents.

He was a true and steadfast friend and, in case of assault, was as vigorous in defense of his friends as though the cause were his own. He was a man of high principles and to those he always endeavored to make his conduct conform. Once having investigated and having determined the right, he stood steadfast to it with an unbending firmness, and a tenacious, unyielding courage, to such a degree that neither power, alluring temptation, influence, impending threats, coercion, nor fear of public disfavor could prevent him from conforming to his belief. Just as the Rock of Gibraltar guards the approach to the Mediterranean Sea, so David A. Wilbert stood sentinel, an alert champion, always ready to defend a friend against the wiles and snares of conspiracies, hatched and given birth in the dark hours of the night.

He was aggressively earnest and sincere in any position he undertook, and always maintained his attitude with spirit and courage. While he always accorded to an adversary the right to difference of opinion, he never failed to adhere strictly to the principle of honesty and fair dealing, when supporting his own cause. It may be truly said of him that he was one of the strong characters in this body. He was wedded to the principle that right should prevail at all times and under all circumstances. He was the highest type of an honest and faithful public official, and when death removed him from activities of this world, his family was bereft of an affectionate husband and a loving father. His friends were left to mourn the loss of a devoted champion, and the State was deprived of the services of a faithful and upright servant. His life and his departure from this life are best exemplified by the words of the poet who wrote:—

So live, that when thy summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan, that moves
To that mysterious realm, where each shall take
His chamber in the silent halls of death,
Thou go not, like the quarry slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed
By an unfaltering trust, approach they grave,
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair recognizes Mr. Samuel Black McCormick, Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, who has been requested to deliver an address upon this occasion.

MR. SAMUEL BLACK M'CORMICK.

Mr. President and Senators:

David Adam Wilbert was born in what is now the Nineteenth Ward, Pittsburgh, February 23, 1862. His entire life was spent in his native city. After finishing his course in the Pittsburgh High School he entered into the wholesale produce business with his brother at the early age of twenty, and continued therein for over twenty-six years. He then engaged in the insurance and bonding business until he passed away on January 26, 1912. Early in his career he actively connected himself with his political party, was elected a member of the Senate in 1904, and at the time of his death was just finishing his second term in this office.

So brief a statement cannot possibly contain the record of a life. Senator Wilbert lived for fifty years. It is a mistake, however, to imagine that, when he passed out of our sight, he ceased to live. True, he walks no more among us; no longer can we look upon his face or touch hands in the cordial grasp of friendship; but he did not die nor could he until we who knew and loved him and bear in us something of what he was have also passed over with him into the land of eternal morning.

Two years ago when Senator Wilbert asked the consent of this body that the speaker might deliver a eulogy upon the late Senator John W. Crawford, no one of us dreamed that in less than a twelve-month he himself should hear the dread summons and that we should this night be assembled together to pay our tribulte to his memory. When the news came that he was in Mercy Hospital, I hurried to see him. Though we knew it not, even then the angel of death was hovering over him and the dark wings were overshadowing him. For weeks he continued helpless. What fear was in his heart we know not, but he hoped on, and we shared the hope until a week before the end, when it became clear that his earthly pilgrimage was almost spent, and that God had chosen his abode among the immortals. Reverently we bade him a tearful farewell, and committed his spirit into the hands of the Father in whom he trusted. Weary he fell asleep, and his waking was, we trust, in the land of eternal day.

Life is largely what the individual determines to make it. The man binds his own fate about his neck and walks the way of his own choosing. His horizon is as wide as his own desire, and if it closes down and shuts him into a narrow place it is because he cares not for wideness of vision and aspires not to greatness of achievement. Whatever the horizon of the individual life, it always embraces three concentric spheres—his home, his affairs, and his country; and in the symmetrical and harmonious blending of these in a life full and complete is true success achieved and man's high destiny is attained. In all these three Senator Wilbert honestly and loyally sought to do his duty. That he measurably succeeded is witnessed by the multitude of his friends and by the splendid testimony of his accomplishments.

As a householder David A. Wilbert was a good husband and father, beloved in his own home and esteemed by his neighbors; in business he was judged to be a man of high honor and strict integrity; as a citizen he met his responsibilities intelligently and conscientiously, and as a public servant he gave himself unselfishly and generously to the service of his constituents and of his Commonwealth.

Worthy indeed is the man of whom these things can truthfully be spoken. The keynote of his character was helpfulness. The presence of need instantly commanded his service. In this he represented the dominant spirit of our time. It has come about that no longer may a man give his entire thought to personal interests and be deemed a good citizen. Society requires that every true man shall contribute something to public well-being. Each may choose his own method, but none may withhold the service and still claim the reward of citizenship. In choosing politics as a sphere of activity in behalf of his fellows Senator Wilbert did well. No man receives less reward in money or in appreciation than he who chooses a political career. No man should receive greater reward, in confidence, in appreciation, in public approbation, than the men who on National and State Legislatures give themselves, always at the sacrifice of personal interests, to the service of the people.

Happily, the nation is making progress in its conception of the value of this service, and in consequence we are permitted to-day to witness a degree of honesty, highmindedness and devotion in our public servants impossible even a quarter of a century ago, and almost inconceivable in the early history of our republic. Expediency is ceasing to bulk as large as it was wont to do both in the business and political world. The people are coming to value as they ought the strong, honest, courageous man who is true to his convictions of duty and is inspired by the loyal purpose to do the best he can for his country regardless of personal interest. In paying my tribute of affection and esteem to the memory of Senator Wilbert, as one who thus tried to serve his State, and in recalling to our minds the memory of his devotion to party and to people, I gladly pay the same tribute to his associates in this body who are still carrying on the work he laid down and are seeking to serve the high interests of State and people. We are surely coming to the time when the conception of Sir William Jones, who wrote more than a century ago, will be a splendid reality.

"What constitutes a State?
Not high raised battlement, labored mound,
Thick wall or moated gate:
Not cities proud with spires and turrents crowned;
Not bays and broad arm'd ports,
Where, laughing at the storm, rich navies ride.
No; men—high minded men;
With powers, as far above dull brutes indeed
As beasts excel cold rocks and brambles rude.
These,
These constitutes a State."

After all, even this is not the whole of life. To live and work; to endure hardness; to deserve good and receive evil; to toil for reward and to gain reproach; to do one's duty and to meet, not applause, but ingratitude is this the life of man? It were still something inexpressibly worth while if it were all. Life, however, is something more and better and finer than this. We learn to understand it only as we come to see it and feel it in relation to the infinite. Three score years and ten never constitute the limits of a human life. Not toil, not striving to serve, not splendid achievement; but aspiring to throw one's energies into the fulfilling of eternal purposes and to get into harmony with the thought and plan of the eternal God, so that it shall always throb with mighty energy and work with omnipotent power—this is life. If we are to live it we must once in a while, as we are doing to-night, stop to listen to the voice which speaks forth from eternity and bids us to know that when the resting time has come it simply means that we mount upward upon pinions whose unwearied fight carries us into the very presence of infinity, where, purified, we shall always serve and always achieve. In those last hours Senator Wilbert committed himself to the Father of Spirits in serene confidence and trust. This is the summit of all achievement, the perfection of human destiny. He who, in that last hour, can surrender himself to God as the weary child to the arms of its mother, has won the great victory and has gained the inheritance of eternal peace and never ending joy.

And the question recurring.

MEMORIAL SERVICES ON THE DEATH OF JACOB C. STINEMAN, LATE SENATOR FROM THE THIRTY-FIFTH SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

The PRESIDENT. This being the time fixed by resolution for holding memorial services on the death of Jacob C. Stineman, late Senator from the Thirty-fifth Senatorial District, prayer will be offered by the Chaplain.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. A. J. James, offered the following prayer:

Lord, Thou hast been our dwelling place in all generations, even from everlasting to everlasting, Thou art God. It is appointed unto man once to die and in Thy word we read that in the midst of life we are in death and yet we rejoice that we may turn to another page and read there that he that believeth in Thee, though he were dead yet shall he live, and as Thou didst stand before the tomb of Lazerus and command him to come forth unto life so Thou dost stand before the tomb of every fallen soldier of the cross and uttereth again those eternal words—son, doughter, come forth.

"Life is real, life is earnest,
And the grave is not its goal;
Dust thou art, to dust returnest,
Was not spoken of the soul."

We are all passing from time to eternity and passing rapidly; passing from mortality to immortality; going from corruption to incorruption; ascending from earth to Heaven. So guide each one of us that when we go we shall leave behind us a word the better for our having lived in it; to leave behind us that which cannot be interred with our bones—the good we have done we leave behind us human hearts touched with our sympathy lightened by our helping hand; cheered by our kindly word. One of our number Thou hast called from earth to the Great Beyond. We come this evening before Thee, we cannot go to him now but in Thy word we read that though he cannot come to us we may go to him, for we are all journeying to that land from which no traveller returneth. Be Thou with those who weep this evening because of the vacant chair about the hearth stone; be Thou with them and may they not weep as those who weep without hope but because of faith in the ressurrection of the dead we shall again stand together before Thy throne. Hear us in this our prayer, we ask it in our Redeemer's name. Amen.

RESOLUTION ON THE DEATH OF JACOB C. STINEMAN, LATE SENATOR FROM THE THIRTY-FIFTH SENATORIAL DISTRICT.

Mr. KNAPP offered the following resolution which was tice read:

Whereas, Our esteemed associate, the Honorable Jacob C. Stineman, a member of the Senate of Pennsylvania, from Cambria county, passed to his eternal rest on April second, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen; and

Whereas, During his lifetime he rendered to his County, State and Nation long and important services as a soldier in the Civil War, a county official and a member of both the Senate and House of Representatives; and

Whereas, His enterprise and forcefullnes in the development and conduct of the numerous mining commercial and financial matters with which he was identified, marked him as a successful man of affairs; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the loss to his own community and to his many associates is irreparable. The loss to the Commonwealth is great, but the greatest of all is to his own home, and we, the members of the Senate surviving, tender our condolence to his family so bereaved and direct that a copy of this resolution, duly engrossed and attested be forwarded to his family.

J. CARTER JUDSON.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the same?

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, An occasion like this fills me with peculiar sadness when I think of the many excellent men, my colleagues in this body during the past thirteen years, who have passed to the great beyond. When I contemplate the long sad roll call I am most forcibly reminded of what the Psalmist saith, "Death is certain to all; all shall die" yet

"Ah! surely nothing dies, but something mourns."

I first met Senator Stineman at the opening of the session of 1901. He was then a strong, stalwart man. We served together until 1908. I then saw little of him for four years, or, until his return at this session, and I was astonished to see how the inevitable ravages of time had worked on his naturally strong constitution. Senator Stineman had changed to an old man. His natural vigor and strength had abated. Stopping at the same hotel. I no doubt was one of the last Senators to say farewell to him the week he left us, never to return. Though noticing the change in him, as I have said before, I was nevertheless very much shocked to learn of his almost sudden death but a few days later.

Senator Stineman, Mr. President, was a grand example of what is best amongst the studry Pennsylvania Germans. As a boy on the farm he learned the habits of industry and economy for which this race is famous. He was a self-made man and a product of our Common Schools. A young man of fine brain and good sense he early became a teacher in these very schools where he had acquired the rudiments. Anon, came that tremendous that awful struggle between the States, our Civil War, and young Stineman full of patriotic ardor dropped the plough and the teacher's rod, and responded to his country's call. He enlisted in Company "F", One hundred and ninety-eighth Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers, and served until the close of the war, witnessing the surrender of Lee's Army on that eventful Sunday of April 9th, 1865.

Returning from the army he again engaged in farming until 1868, when he began working in coal mines, and in 1873, operating coal mines himself. From this beginning he became the owner of much valuable coal property and one of the largest individual producers of bituminous coal in the State.

Politically his people had great confidence in him and honored him often and greatly. He served fifteen years as school director. He was Sheriff of his County, serving during the time of the terrible flood catastrophe in the Conemaugh Valley. He was twice a member of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania, and served three full terms in the Senate, dying during his fourth term to which he was elected last fall.

During his service in the Senate he served on important commissions, especially those managing our soldiers' homes and orphans' schools. I know how near these institutions were to his heart as I had the pleasure of visiting some in his company.

As farmer boy, school teacher, soldier, business man, public official and statesman Senator Stineman acted well his part. He left a vacant place in his community and State hard to replace. Such, however, is the endless mystery of life and death. Peace to his ashes, and may his soul have found a resting place in bliss immortal is the wish of this, his old colleague.

"Then fell upon the house a sudden gloom,
A shadow on those features fair and thin;
And softly from that hushed and darkened room,
Two angels issued, where but one went in."

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, when I entered the hall this evening I had not the faintest thought of saying a single word in these memorial services, but at the request of some of the Senators I rise here to say a kindly word for the man who I think was the oldest man in this Senate. I heard and you have heard the statement that the good that men do is ofttimes interred with their bones and the evil lives after them. That expression may be true in many of the walks of life, but my experience in the life of politics has found it otherwise. The good men do in their political lives always lives after them and those that fight like men and try to serve their fellow men in the policital battle of life are the first to raise their voices in a kindly statement and in fond recollection of the good that men have done in their political lives. And their mistakes, misfeasances, if you may call them so, are first forgotten.

I knew Mr. Stineman not intimately, but I do have a recollection of him when I was a member of the House of Representatives, and I can recall him in those days coming over to our side of this branch of the government and speaking to the men in that House of Representatives on questions in which he was interested, and at all times you could see by the actions of the man that his interests were the interests of the people of his home. He at all times had a kindly word to say and as a matter of fact went about it in such a fatherly way that it was almost impossible for any man to say no. I noticed him acting the selfsame way in this present session of the Legislature, and I recollect possibly the last conversation I had with him when he came around and asked if I could not support his two judge bill for Cambria County, and I said to him: "Senator, why are you so anxious for another judge?" He said: "My only interest is to do a kindly act to some good person in Cambria County." I believe that this was Mr. Stineman's entire method of proceeding in life. I had occasion in the last campaign to go to Johnstown and deliver or attempt to deliver a speech for the people on the ticket opposed to Mr. Stineman. I favored the election of his adversary. I left Johnstown the night after we had the mass meeting, and said to my brother, who is a resident of Johnstown: "Your man hasn't a chance. The people up here are with Mr. Stineman". The result of the election showed this. For after all there must have been something in this man different from most men, because my experience has been in political life that once a man meets defeat at the polls he cannot be reelected, and in the experience of Mr. Stineman we find a different result, which to my mind shows that the people of this particular County were interested in him, loved him, and went out and fought that last campaign for him because of the fact that he was the kind of man that he must have been. I know little or nothing of his career, but when I sat here and heard the Senator from Berks, narrate his experience and knowledge of him and the course of this man during his life, he surely must have been a high class citizen of that community. A man who starts out in the lower walks of life, a man who by his own perseverence, educates himself, a man who in the hour of need when his country called for his help left his own fireside and went to the firing line to protect that country and its causes, must certainly be a man of high character. A man, who, after he returned from the scene of battle goes back into life and becomes one of the most prominent men in the community in which he resides, must be a man of ability, a man of sincerity, a man of the highest type of honesty. With these things before us we can but say of him as has been said of many deserving men heretofore: "Well done, good and faithful servant, well done."

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to add a few words of tribute to the memory of our deceased member. Senator Stineman was born and lived his whole life in almost the same spot where he died. He was educated in the public schools, and then engaged in school teaching and working on the farm. It must have been, Mr. President, when he engaged in teaching school that he won the confidence of the people of his County, who always honored and cherished him. After the call had come for the Civil War he left the farm and joined the army. He served through the whole conflict, and returned after its completion to his native County. His people elected him for eighteen continuous and successive years as their school director, and he served them with fidelity. He engaged in business and was always known as a successful man. He enjoyed, I believe, a place of distinction among the people of his County as an employer, because I am told that during many years while being one of the largest employers of labor, he was practically without any difficulties among his men; which must have been due to the fact, as I am told, that when one of his employees was sick or had been injured while at work, he made it his business and esteemed it his duty to call at the house, see that proper medical attention was given, and if the family were in need, furnished the necessary comforts and supplies during the illness, the death of the man who met misfortune while at work. These things must have made their impression upon the minds of the people of his County, because we find him elected Sheriff for one term, following by election for two terms in the House of Representatives, then twelve years as a member of this Senate, from 1896 to 1908, and again re-elected in 1912. How the people of that County felt in regard to him, in my opinion is best shown by the fact that although he spent almost forty years in political office he never met defeat in his own County, and in the heat of a bitter Congressional campaign in 1910, with a possible 720 votes in the town in which he lived, more than seven hundred were cast in his favor, and only about ten or twelve were found aganist him. Mr. President, he was a man who was not only respected by his own County, but when he came here he impressed himself upon our membership and won our affection and esteem. Always kind and courteous there never was a time when there was a bill on the Calendar in which you may have been interested, but that he came to see you in regard to it. If he was in favor of it, he would tell you so and if opposed to it he assigned his reasons and expressed the regret that he could not vote in favor of the measure which you were urging. Mr. President, when a gloom was cast over this Senate on the second day of April, 1913, by the death of Senator Stineman, it was a gloom which members of this Senate will always feel; we will cherish his memory and remember him as one we had all learned to honor and to love. He will be missed by his family and his friends and his life will always furnish a splendid example worthy of emulation by the people with whom he so long associated and lived.

The ACTING PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Mr. Charles H. Kline). As has been beautifully said, we assemble here this night to pay the tribute of respect to our two dear colleagues who have passed to the great beyond, and we often ask ourselves on occasions of this character how can words soar to the highest thought or sink to the depths of feeling. What language can paint the emotions of the soul when we lift the veil which time has cast and look down the broad vista, the retrospect, and from the rubbish of buried recollections bring forth the pleasures and the sorrows and sadnesses that have paved your lives wonder. When we think that we are obliged to part with the associations of these two grand men and when we look through the golden firmament of hope for the dawn of that greater and grander day, when we shall meet again, the soft fingers of an unseen angel's hand touch the pitying, pulsing strings of the human harpschord, which excites within us a world of images, of sentiments and thoughts and transport our souls upward and onward until, like the lark, they pour forth their celestial music at the very portals of Heaven. These two men believed in the true fraternity of man and in so doing they believed in the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God, the true basis of fraternity, which have been woven into the golden chain which has bound humanity together and fastened the whole world at the feet of God. And we often ask ourselves, my friends, when then shall true fraternity of man here on earth cease and determine, and the answer comes to us as if whispered into our ears by God himself. When the cradle of the universe shall have been returned to the attic to rock no more, when the last tear shall have been wiped away from sorrow's eye, when the dewdrops of Heaven no longer quench the aching thirst of the tender flowers, and when the sun shall have been coffined by destruction, then and then only shall true fraternity cease, only to be ushered into that greater and grander world where sorrow and sadness shall be no more, and O, when we think of the fundamental principles of Christianity, immortality which is born of love and the human heart that which has flown through the human heart through all the countless ages and will continue to flow as long as life kisses the lips of death. These men have walked down through the valley of the shadow of death into the mansion of eternal peace, and when we believe in the fundamental doctrines of Christianity, then why should we weep, because who knows on this night but that they are the golden harvest spoken of and be swept into melody by the Heavenly hand of God.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, Thou hast said in Thy Word that "every valley shall be exalted, every mountain and hill shall be brought low, and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rought places plain. Thou art forever fulfilling this significant Scripture; Thou art forever levelling and straigthening in Thine own strange way the inequalities of life. Since Thou canst do these things, O God, all things are possible with Thee. We pray therefore that Thou wouldst bring victory to us even out of our defeats, and strength to us even out of our weaknesses. Wilt Thou overrule and correct our mistakes and indiscretions:wilt Thou make our very faults and failures to work together for good. We believe that if we trust ourselves to Thee and are honestly seeking to do Thy will we may forget the past whatever it has been, we may dismiss and put away all regret and repining, and may set our faces hopefully toward the days that are before us. Wilt Thou give us inspiration for this day's work. May our bodies be strong, our minds alert, our sympathies broad and tender, our hearts responsive, our energies at their best. So shall we honor that God who has assigned us our work and serve the people who have committed their trusts into our hands, and Thy name shall have the praise of it forever. Amen.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1573, entitled:

An Act to repeal an act entitled "An Act to prohibit the sale of intoxicating drinks in the townships of Ohio in the County of Beaver" approved the twenty-seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six in so far as the same applies to the Borough of Midland

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LETZKUS. Mr. Speaker, this bill has been introduced at the request of a majority of the people of Midland Borough, Ohio Township, Beaver County, Pennsylvania. In 1907, this bill passed the House but through a technicality the bill fell, as it was declared not legal. The various manufacturing establishments in Midland Borough in Ohio Township, where this prohibitory clause is very much of a handicap in regard to keeping men there to work, because there is not a place to get refreshments and when they want refreshments they will go to Pittsburgh or Youngstown or some other place nearby to get refreshments and frequently never come back. The manufacturing plants have been handicapped by not having sufficient men to operate their plants. We had a public hearing on this bill before the Committee on Law and Order; there was nobody there to oppose it. There was a very prominent citizen of Midland Borough together with others that were favorable to the bill and here is one letter that I received this morning that I wish to read. I don't want to take up too much of your time but this letter will give you an idea of our position.

Midland, Pa., April 19, 1913.

To the Honorable Members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen:—Our attention has been called to the fact that there is a bill before your Honorable bodies to repeal the prohibitory law governing the sale of liquor in the Borough of Midland in which our plant is located. From the information we have at hand it is the consensus of opinion of a majority of the residents of the Borough of Midland that it will be to their best interests to have this proposed bill passed

Our plant at Midland has been in operation for about six years and we have taken particular pains during that time to thoroughly investigate the conditions which bear upon a matter of this kind and are heartily convinced after careful consideration of the whole matter that the best interests of the Borough would be served by the repeal of the present prohibitory law. In our judgment the interests of both the residents and manufacturers is a manufacturing districts, which necessarily is composed of a large foreign population are best served where the sale of liquor is licensed, as under the Brooks law, and the supervision of its distribution made subject to the approval and regulation of the Court. Although there has been constant and persistent selling of liquor illegally in the Borough of Midland, the records show there has only been a few convictions under the present law and yet we believe the proper authorities have taken perhaps more than ordinary care in endeavoring to enforce the law.

We wish to go most favorably on record in regard to our views upon this matter:

First—We do not believe in a prohibitory territory, in a small section of a country, which is otherwise licensed territory under the discretion of the Court.

Section—We do not believe that such territory can be maintained even with reasonable diligence on the part of the proper officials.

Third—We do not believe that the reasonable license and sale of liquor will aid greatly to the law and order of the entire community.

Yours very respectfully,

(Signed.) J. RAMSEY SPEER,
President.

Now, Gentlemen, these various concerns and also the Crucible Steel Company are all in favor of having this law repealed, so far as Midland Borough is concerned. Conditions there today are such that they have thirty speakeasies where this foreign population go and get their drink and all the crime that has been reported there comes from the speakeasy district. If there is a license placed in this borough it will overcome this illegal drinking in liquor and give the people a legitimate place to go and get their drink, if they want it, or those who do want it, and they will not go out of town. For the benefit of this community, I ask you to vote for this bill.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Letzkus, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LETZKUS. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman to state before the House whether or not, when this bill was before the Law and Order Committee, he stated that the bill was handed to him by the Senator from Beaver, Mr. Thompson?

Mr. LETZKUS. Mr. Speaker, I inadvertently did. There were a half dozen gentlemen there and Senator Thompson was there and coming from his district, I thought it was handed to me by Mr. Thompson, but I know that Mr. Thompson was not back of the bill.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman was in error then the other day when he said the bill was handed to him by the Senator from Beaver, Mr. Thompson? The gentleman from Allegheny was mistaken then in his statement?

Mr. LETZKUS. Mr. Speaker, I was mistaken. Inadvertently, for the reason already given, I stated that Mr. Thompson gave me the bill.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, four years ago the bill was presented by a member of the House outside of Beaver county, and it was at that time pushed to the point where Governor Stuart gave the man to understand that if the bill did pass he would veto it and it was then dropped. Two years ago it was presented before this House and it was voted down when it came to final passage, the Senator from that Senatorial district being against the bill. This year, it again makes its appearance in the House and we find as its sponsor one of the members of Allegheny County. Some six years or eight years ago, the question of prohibitory laws covering the townships of Ohio and adjoining townships was agitated by the industries there which were passed in 1866.

Of course it covers a whole lot of territory not embraced within the borough of Midland. The people of this borough are vitally concerned and affected by the passage of this legislation, and they have not been consulted in the matter at all by the gentlemen who are pushing it. A petition was presented before the House Committee, setting forth that 196 out of 198 voters in the borough had signed the petition for the passage of this bill. Now, I have gotten hold of this petition, filed with the Law and Order Committee, and I have gone over it carefully, and I want to give you men the benefit of some of my research in relation to that bill. The ballot box stuffers of Schuylkill County have nothing on the fellows who put up this petition. I went over that petition, and I found that eighteen men signed it twice, and one fellow was so enthusiastic for the passage of this bill that he signed it three times. His name is Charles McNeal, Junior. He signed it twice as car inspector, and signed it the third time as a steel worker. I also find the names of four minors, and the names of two minors whose names had been crossed out when the petition reached me, hence making six minors at least who signed the petition. I found the names of twenty-eight non-naturalized foreigners on that petition, men who were not citizens of the United States, and of course not citizens and electors of the Borough of Midland. I found the names of thirty-six non-residents of the Borough of Midland, from Smith's Ferry and Woodlawn, in Beaver County, from Beaver, in Beaver County, from Liverpool, in the State of Ohio, from Cleveland, Ohio, from Columbus, Ohio, from Wellsville, Ohio, from Sharon, Pennsylvania, from Newcastle, Pennsylvania, from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and from Buffalo, New York. All signed this petition for the repeal of this special prohibitory law applying to the borough of Midland, and certifying that they are residents of the Borough of Midland, entitled to vote on this bill. Then they would come here and offer that petition as a sort of vote, as a sort of referendum of the citizens of Midland on the bill when they don't belong in Midland and many of them don't belong in the State of Pennsylvania. And I find other kinds of deception carried out in that petition for the purpose of fooling you men. Andrew W. Bradley signed the petition once as Andrew W. Bradley and once as A. W. Bradley. Frederick Soulliard signed the petition once as Frederick Soulliard and once as Fred Soulliard. Joe A. Blue lives at New Castle, signed the petition once as layer-out and again as a press-man. I find M. J. Armour signs the petition not only as M. J. Armour but in order to fool us, again signs it James Armour. W. R. Jeffreys, who lives at Beaver, signed it twice. I find two police officers of the town signed it twice. Instead of spending their time in signing petitions more than once, probably it would be better for them, as well as for all parties concerned, if they would look after the speakeasies in Midland. Then I find the names of E. E. Etter and James F. Pentrant, who are signers to this petition and have since signed a protest against the passage of this bill, to which I will refer in a moment. Now, when I go over this alleged petition which we are told represents the sentiment of the people of Midland, I find only fifty-seven who have any business to be on that petition; that is, only fifty-seven signers on the petition who are at the same time voters in the borough. And I hold in my hand a protest against by forty-seven of the citizens of the borough, and all voters in the borough, protesting against the passage of the bill. Now, it seems to me that what I have pointed out to you with reference to the character of this petition ought to be sufficient warrant to you to vote against the bill. But there is another reason why you should vote against the bill. It comes here against the protest of both the members of the county affected. We are against this bill and we ask you to vote against it for that reason, if there were no weightier reasons. I do not know what foundation there may be in the story that is floating around over the House and possibly in the Senate, to the effect that the Senator from the district is for this bill, but I want to say to you that if it be true that he is for this bill, then he ought to be for it in the open. He ought to have his name on the back of it and take it to the Senate and not take it for granted that when the bill comes in the House from the hands of a member of another county; and when it is not introduced in the Senate by the Senator from the affected district, that I can safely say that all the members of this Legislature from the affected territory are against the bill. Now, Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, I ask you to give the bill the same treatment as it received two years ago and vote it down this morning by such a decisive vote that there will be no attempt made to resurrect it.

Mr. LETZKUS. Mr. Speaker, the remarks of the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Baldwin, just bear out what I stated when I said that when the men went there to the mills, they went there with the purpose of securing permanent employment in those mills. They did not have any place to go to get any enjoyment and they would not go to speakeasies. While they were there they signed the petition, and then they left in the meantime, and that is the reason they are not at present inhabitants of Midland borough. Two years ago there was an election held there by the people to have this repealer passed. There were 160 for and 4 against. At present I have a petition with 167 names out of 169 possible voters. The gentleman states that some signed twice. It appears that there were two petitions going around, and it is possible that these people signed twice in that way. Those who are non-residents are just non-residents because they didn't have any place in the town to get their refreshments; and they did not accept permanent employment in those mills in Midland Borough, and not having the accommodations that they required, they left the place. And that is why those mills are handicapped for men; there is no place to get refreshments, and they will not go into speakeasies.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading??

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I simply have a word to say in reference to this bill. I want to call the attention of this House to this fact: That it is the province and business of legislation, not only to consider the demands of individuals that desire to get a dollar out of a certain business, but the demands of the homes, of the fathers and of the mothers of Midland. It becomes a duty, I think, of all legislators. It is the province of legislation to protect the home; to protect childhood; to protect womanhood; to protect society, as well as to legislate for a business that has the object only of making money. The main argument of the gentleman from Allegheny,—and I want to call your attention to the fact that it is a strange thing to me, something new to me that a man outside of the county interested brings to us this bill for consideration—and the main argument that he uses is this: That if a license is granted there would be no speakeasies. I would like to call the gentleman's attention to his own city. Does the granting of licenses in Pittsburgh eliminate speak-easies. There are three times, nearly, as many speakeasies in Pittsburgh as there are licenses granted. It is true in all large cities that the granting of a license does not cut down speakeasies. And the most that this gentleman would try to make out is that if a license is granted, all trouble in Midland will be wiped out. You simply add to the troubles; you simply intensify them; you simply grant the privilege to another institution to ruin lives, to rob others of their boys; to disturb homes, and to disturb society. I need not discuss this question further. I think that every person in this House can see the impropriety and the unreasonableness of trying to pass this legislation, and that is supremely the reason and the good reason why we should vote this bill down at the present time.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Swift.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SWIFT, Yes, sir.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman on what authority he bases the statement that in the City of Pittsburgh there are three times as many speakeasies as there are licensed houses.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I so read in the accounts given in the newspapers of Pittsburgh.

Mr. ALLEN. In what papers?

Mr. SWIFT. In the papers of Pittsburgh?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman in what papers.

Mr. SWIFT. In all of them.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman further how many licensed places there are in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I do not know that I can name the number.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman further how many speakeasies there are in the City of Pittsburgh.

Mr. SWIFT. No man on earth can tell.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, if no man on earth can tell, I desire to ask the gentleman how he got his figures for comparison? I desire to ask the gentleman further whether he believes in local option.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I do.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Beaver whether or not if the 167 petitioners in the Borough of Midland had appealed to him to present a bill of this kind, whether or not he would present such a bill in this House.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state it is a question whether the majority of the voters of Midland if permitted to vote on this question, would not vote the business out. I hold in my hand a letter giving the last vote that was taken there and the ballot cast was less than one hundred. It does not follow that there are 167 votes in Midland. It is denied by a gentleman who belongs to the Midland Iron Company and it appears that if we can get a square vote, where they are permitted only to vote once, it looks as though we would have quite a large majority against the granting of license.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman whether or not he knows that there are 167 voters in the Borough of Midland?

Mr. SWIFT. I simply have the report here that I hold in my hand of the vote recently taken in reference to a bond issue. There were 105 votes only cast and at the previous election less than 100 votes cast. This is the only criterion I have to go by.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know whether or not there was an election held in the Borough of Midland in relation to the repeal of this Act.

Mr. SWIFT. Mr. Speaker, I do not know.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman if prior to the last session of the legislature an election was not held in that borough, the results of which were such as indicated by the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Letzkus) just a few moments ago.

Mr. SWIFT. Then, Mr. Speaker,, I only have this to say if the gentleman from Beaver, who has stood upon this floor and still says that he is for local option, and believes in the right of the people to legislate for themselves, it seems to me that if 167 members who are qualified to vote from the borough of Midland, in which it is stated that there are 169 voters appealing to this House for the repeal of this act, that it is the duty of this House to repeal this act.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, the election to which the gentleman from Allegheny (Mr. Allen) refers, was an election that was held two years ago. We know that for an election held on a proposition of this kind in a town like Midland there is no legal authority. The election that took place there two years ago was a one-sided affair in which there was no check on the voters taking part. None of the election laws of the State of Pennsylvania were applicable to such election. They could stuff the ballot box then, and I do not doubt that they did stuff it, just as they stuffed the petitions which I analyzed a few minutes ago. As far as that election goes, it amounts to nothing.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the last gentleman who spoke, from Beaver, (Mr. Baldwin).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Beaver (Mr. Baldwin) permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, Yes sir.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman what he means by a one-sided election?

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I mean that the alleged election was organized and held by the people who wanted the special prohibitory law repealed Nobody else paid any attention to it.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman further, if every elector in the borough of Midland did not have the right to vote at that election.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think anybody had the right to vote. The election had no legal status whatever.

Mr. ALLEN. Does the gentleman make his answer as a positive statement or merely a thought.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I say as a proposition of law that nobody had a legal right to vote at it.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman further, whether or not he, as a member from the County of Beaver, would on the petition of the residents of the Borough of Midland present such a bill to this House.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would not, for the reason that the townships of Ohio and Industry are vitally effected by this bill; but if it were ascertained that a majority of the people of the terirtory affected by this prohibitory law are in favor of its repeal and would come here with a petition, that would be quite another matter, and would receive the consideration to which it is entitled.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman further. I desire to ask the gentleman what the unit for his local option ideas is, whether it be borough, city, county, township or State.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not know that that is material to this issue. I would say that from my standpoint I would prefer a local option bill drawn something on the order of the one against which the gentleman from Allegheny voted at this session. Even if this were a local option question Mr. Speaker, would it be fair to give the people of Midland, assuming that the majority desired it, (which I do not concede), assuming that they favored it, would it be fair to the people of Midland to give them this and to deprive all the other boroughs of Beaver County, and of the whole State, of that same right. — the gentleman from Allegheny is for local option and wants this bill repealed, because he finds the majority of the Borough of Midland want it repealed, then I ask him why he did not vote for the local option bill?

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken, and were as follows, viz:

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative, and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1182, entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" providing for the transportation of certain pupils at the expense of the proper school district

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. STONE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. H. B. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time from page 41, of to-day's calendar, Bills on Final Passage, House Bill No. 78.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of H. R. bill No. 78, entitled:

An Act supplementing and amending sections two hundred and one (201) two hundred and two (202) and two hundred and fourteen (214) of article two of an act entitled "An Act to establish a public schol system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven by providing for the election in school districts of the first class of school directors at large by the people of the district at municipal elections instead of their appointment by the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas of the county in which such school district is situated

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEIN. I will.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Allegheny whether or not it was arranged to have this bill called up on Wednesday.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I did not know that I was to be here to-day. I will say for the benefit of the gentlemen of the House that last week I said that I would call it up probably on Wednesday. As it may be possible that I cannot be here to-morrow, I thought it best to call it up to-day.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, there are many of the opponents of this bill not here to-day.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I think there are as many of the friends of the bill missing as there are opponents.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill, this amendment that is now being offered, is an amendment to the School Code which passed in the Session of 1911. At the last session there was considerable discussion as to whether or not the members of the Board of the Cities of the First Class, should be elected by the people or appointed by the Judges. The two delegations in the House from the larger counties, Allegheny and Philadelphia, were divided upon the question at that time. The bill came from the Committee having the boards elected. An amendment was offered and the discussion pro and con upon whether or not there should be the election or the appointment of the Board was had on the floor of this House, and the appointing power prevailed. Now, Mr. Speaker, this amendment that is being offered, or the principal portion of this amendment that is offered now, as I understand it, attacks the appointing power of the Boards in the first class, which covers Allegheny and Philadelphia. The objection to having the Boards elected was based strictly upon keeping politics out of the schools. In Philadelphia for a great many years we had our Board of Education appointed by the Board of Judges. In Allegheny County, as I understand it, from the discussion at the last session, for a great many years their Board had been elected by the people, and, therefore, that caused the difference of opinion between the two delegations, but I felt, at the end of last session, that Allegheny County was fully convinced that the appointing power had the real merit because it kept the schools high above politics. Now, Mr. Speaker, for us to take a step backward, after this short test, in the interim between the two sessions, to my mind is a great mistake. It surely is a policy that cannot be followed by those of us who come here from Philadelphia, and those gentlemen who represent the districts not composed of Allegheny and Philadelphia Counties, should give a very great deal of thought to their vote upon this amendment before they will concur in its request. The discussion that arose in the press on this question as to the appointing or elective power of the Board was full and covered many weeks. Those who advocated the election of the Board did it upon the broad principle that that was representative government, that the people had the right to elect their members to their School Boards, and that was met by the argument of those who sought to have the power of appointment, that the election of the School Boards made that Board a political body, made the schools subject to political influences, and dragged down the high tone of our educators. And it reached to such a height in the discussion that finally one of the principal political leaders in Philadelphia, Senator Vare, stood in the Educational Committee, in the Joint Committee of the Senate and the House, and there said that although possibly it would deprive him and his followers of some power that they for years had had in the lower Boards of the schools, having the power of the appointment of the teachers and the appointment of the janitors, while from a political standpoint it was possibly a mistake, still from the high standpoint of citizenship, he felt it was his duty as a political man and leader to see that the schools should be kept out of politics. And that is the whole issue here to-day. Are we going to allow the schools to come back into politics? Now, Mr. Speaker, when the schools were in politics under the old sectional boards of Philadelphia, it was not an unusual thing to see incompetent teachers. It was not an unusual thing to hear of the political teacher, it was not an unusual thing to hear of the political contest, about the discharge or pormotion or appointment of this teacher or that principal. It was not an unheard of thing to even hear of corruption existing in the School Boards, and in fact, one of the school boards was brought into court, convicted and sentenced to imprisonment. More than that, Mr. Speaker, we often hear of immorality existing in the schools.

Now, all that was repugnant to the citizenship; it was repugnant to the men in public life; it was repugnant to the men who were in active political life. These were the conditions years ago. What do we find now? We find in Philadelphia a Board of Education consisting of men of very highest aim. Some of them who have devoted their life to educational advancement; some of whom have won their high positions by advancing the cause of education and some of whom won their positions in the legal profession. We find on the Board the ex-judge; we find on the Board the merchant prince; we find on the Board the man who has won his position in mercantile life and the man who won his position in professional life. We find a Board that devotes itself without a dollar's compensation, merely out of a sense of civic duty and out of a sense of high honor, that is vested in them by being on that Board. But a few weeks ago there was a vacancy in the Philadelphia Board when there was different men being advocated by the press and we find the Board of Judges casting aside all advice and going to the citizenship and selecting the foremost citizen-merchant of Philadelphia, asking him to come from the head of his great mercantile business and give his attention to the schools of Philadelphia, and they elected John Wanamaker. Now, Mr. Speaker, for us to attempt to pass a bill or an amendment to the bill which will take that power away of keeping our schools out of politics, that would deprive us of having on the School Board the very leading citizens of the City of Philadelphia, we are depriving the school children of something that we have no right to deprive them of. I take it that the gentlemen from Allegheny who advocate the elective system are being misled in their position. I remember distinctly their great force at the last session when they attempted to retain in the bill the elective power, and I remember the satisfaction that they displayed after they had been defeated. There was not one of them who came out personally disappointed. There was not one of them who didn't feel satisfaction in the belief that the right course had been carried out. You gentlemen here who are not in the large cities; you gentlemen that have your own courses in the smaller districts, should not be guided by your thought as to self-government; should not be guided by your thought as to representative government; should not be lured in your vote to this principle of electing a school board as fundamental, because in your homes you are likely to know every individual resident there, actually, or by reputation, and the result is that the men of the highest standing are selected among you. There is one other element about this vote that should be eliminated. That is the log-rolling element. I have the very highest respect for the gentleman who is the sponsor for this bill. I watched his course in this Legislature from his inception and have great admiration for him and for his ability and for his loyalty to his party and his loyalty to his friends and I would rejoice if I might conscientiously stand here to-day and support this bill merely because the bill has been offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Stein. I fear that his great popularity in this House and his kindness to many of us with co-operation in bills that those of us have been for, will influence many of us to vote for his bill merely because it is his bill. Now, Mr. Speaker, it is a great mistake for us to tie ourselves up to this character of legislation upon any such assumption that we are doing the sponsor of the bill a favor in this bill. The log-rolling should be removed. We should not allow any reciprocating of kindness to influence us, nor should we do this merely because we think the bill will have a safe course over in the Senate where we are depending on a very uncertain possibility. The Senate is rocky one day and smooth the next; the Senate is militant one day and very calm the next day. If we allow this bill to go into the Senate, there might be a little log-rolling there and they would roll it up to the Governor and the result would be that we will find that they have our schools back again in the politics with all of its scandal and all of its incompetency. I hope, Mr. Speaker, that the members of this House will not support this amendment.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to give public thanks to my very good friend from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott, for the very kind words that he has spoken of me as sponsor of this bill, but I feel that I should not be equal to the lofty reputation he has given me if I didn't invoke every honest effort at my command towards securing the passage of this most meritorious bill. My friends will pardon me if I call your attention to the simple facts in the case, so that we can argue the logic and the law a little more quietly. The bill as proposed applies only to Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. No other section of the State is in any manner affected by its provisions. As the gentlemen all know, under the school code of 1911 every district elects its school directors, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia being the only exceptions, and in those cases the Board consists of fifteen members who are appointed by the Judges of the Common Pleas Court. Five members being appointed every other year: That is to say, of the fifteen members serving, five are appointed for six years; five for four years and five for two years. Now, five whose term of office was for two years will expire in September of this year and all that this bill proposes is that those five gentlemen shall come before the people for election instead of going to the Judges' chamber and using influence behind the open light of publicity in order to secure their appointment. The opposition to this bill seems to secure their appointment. The opposition to this bill to hesitate about the theory that we should not have the school in politics. I agree with my friend from Philadelphia that anything that tends to the betterment of the school system that in view of anything that will give the people of the State better service in the school ought to receive our hearty support. But, gentlemen, I call your attention to this fact: That politics are gradually getting cleaner and cleaner and thanks to the noble and unselfish efforts of such untiring reformers as my good friend from Philadelphia (Mr. John R. K. Scott), we expect soon to have clean and honest politics by the advocating of the short ballot, the initiative and referendum and most all the other bills, which only such true and unselfish patriots can defend, in order that politics may be clean and for once they are going to be clean, through efforts of this character and efforts such as are being given by the gentleman from Philadelphia. Why cannot we afford to allow the school board to come before the people rather than placing the burden upon the judges? It was not intended that any judge in the land shall exercise any such non-judicial office. Now, my friends, you will remember that the Board is elected not by any particular ward, as it used to be in the days of old. This Board is elected by the people at large, the people of the entire City of Pittsburgh or the entire City of Philadelphia, will say who shall administer their school affairs for the next six years and in electing these men you are only electing one-third and you cannot in any way disturb the equilibrium or the efficiency of the Board already created, because they still have ten members who will serve at least two years to come. We say with a good deal of justice that the people are not yet prepared to elect a Board. I say this without any disrespect to the very honorable ladies and gentlemen who are serving our school board in the City of Pittsburgh. I say it without any reflection on the very eminent ladies and gentlemen of Philadelphia who are making every self-sacrifice and giving their time and endeavor in both Pittsburgh and Philadelphia to the cause of education. I say that this bill involves a principle and the principle is so great and so true that we cannot afford to sacrifice it in the interest of any men or set of men. They may be the most eminent and respectable judges in the State of Pennsylvania, but there is no such thing as asking or saying that the only way is through the courts and that they alone can elect competent and efficient school directors. I believe if the people are expected to elect a judge and to elect a Governor and that they are trusted with the election of United States Senators, that we in all fairness cannot for one moment object to their also being given the duty of electing the men and women who shall administer the school affairs of the City of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. My friends in Pittsburgh all believe this and the city is only one-half of the county. The City of Pittsburgh is probably estimated at a population of six hundred thousand; the county has one million two hundred thousand. This city is not nearly as large as the county; the Common Pleas Judges are not city officials and many of them do not live in the city. Most of them have no interest or concern in the city affairs; some of them don't pay taxes on a single dollar's worth of property in the City of Pittsburgh. They are not subject to the people of the city because they are elected from the County of Allegheny, which is at least twice as large as the city and in all fairness, is it fair to entrust the selection of a school board into the hands of non-resident judges. I say that the proposition is not fair, no matter how eminent the judges of the county may be. I will say, in passing, that they are as honorable as any in the State of Pennsylvania or any in the United States. That is not the principle involved. We cannot afford to sacrifice the most important principle of our government because we happen to have good judges. There is one further principle, that I should and would like to urge. I say to you that any system that will permit an appointive board to spend annually five millions of dollars as they have to do in Pittsburgs over which the people have no control, that that is not constitutional. This was brought out in a case argued in the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. It was a close and narrow decision. It decided that it perhaps was constitutional and that matter is now in the United States Supreme Court. Mark you, three filed a dissenting opinion. I submit that to the intelligence of learned lawyers of this House and I ask leave to read one or two passages of that opinion which is the minority opinion of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania and is the only correct and logical opinion on the case.

"The legislature has, in effect, said to the people of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh that while citizens in other districts of the State may be trusted to manage their school affairs, they cannot be so trusted. It is difficult to conceive of legislation more local and special in its character, making this uncalled for distinction between the citizens of the two leading municipalities of the State and those of all other localities. 'It is not only local and special but odious in its discrimination.' "

"No conceivable ground of necessity justified these startling discriminations, which must be read as local or special legislation, intended as such, and therefore, coming within the clear prohibition of the Constitution."

"The majority of the court concede that some of the provisions of the Act of 1911, relating to school districts of the first class, 'may well be condemned as local legislation,' because they cover matters 'in no conceivable way peculiar to such districts as distinguished from other districts.' What is there so peculiar to the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh that their people ought not to have the same gith that is given to the people in all other parts of the State—to elect their own school directors?

The people of the State have vested the taxing power absoluetly in the legislature, and it cannot delegate that power wholly or in part to either of the other departments of government, to any individual or to any board or commission."

"In school districts of the first class school directors are not to be elected by the people. They are not even to be appointed by the legislature, but are to be appointees of the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas, whom strictly speaking, are not the representatives of the people. They represent only the law, chosen for that purpose at long intervals. In these appointees of an intervening branch of the State government the legislature has undertaken to vest the power of taxation. The people who are to be taxed will have no voice in the selection of those who are to tax them. The scheme is one of bad taxation without representation and strikes at the very root of a republican form of government, for taxes are a grant of the people, and the grant must be made by their immediate representatives. The people are not to be taxed except by their own consent of that of officers truly representing them.'

"Of all the powers of government the one most liable to abuse is the power of taxation. If placed in hands irresponsible to the people of the district to be taxed, its abuse is a mere question of time."

Now, gentlemen, I say to you that there is such a doubt in the law in this case that even the Supreme Court is almost evenly split in its interpretation. If there is such a serious doubt, why not resolve that doubt in favor of the people from whom it never should have been taken. And in conclusion, gentlemen, let me say to you that it is not true that an appointive board would give better satisfaction than an elective board. I say to you that an elective board only is responsive to the will of the people. and if you will look at the records of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, you will find that only when the board was elected by the people did it give any office in its province according to the suggestions of the people. All we ask, gentlemen, is, let the people of the City of Pittsburgh, and also so far as it concerns Philadelphia, let them elect five men or women, which will be one-third of a board; let them elect them in a clean and honorable manner, instead of forcing them on the people. And it is for this reason, gentlemen, that I ask you to support this bill.

Mr. GEARY. Mr. Speaker.

The statement made to you gentlemen by my colleague are all facts. We are not opposed to the School Code, we are in favor of it, but we do object and will continue to battle against class legislation which the Code provides in appointing those in charge or in control of school affairs. No good argument has yet been advanced why a school district of the first class should have an appointed Board. If it is wise and proper that the court appaint the Board in first class districts, why not appoint the Board in all school districts? Shall we continue to say to the citizens living in first class school districts that they are not competent to elect fit people to manage the schools? No other excuse can be made to them unless you men vote in favor of this bill, which simply grants the right of the people in first class districts, the same privilege his neighbor now has, living in the other school districts.

The people of Pittsburgh are vitally interested in this important question, their representatives assembled here would hardly dare to misrepresent them in this particular legislation. I am of the opinion, in fact I predict that out of the 14 members of this assembly representing the Pittsburgh district, at least 13 of them are of the conviction that the elective principal should prevail and will vote in favor of this bill.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, on account of the great length which this question has been argued, not only now but previously, it is not necessary to go over it again. I simply wish to state that the experience in the City of Philadelphia has demonstrated that the appointive school board produces the best results, and I hope that that experience will not be violated.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I would like to give the Gentlemen of the House my experience on school boards, elective and appointive. I recall when the Board of Education was in politics. To give you one instance in the city in which I live, when school boards were in politics, one of the teachers had purchased a bicycle in order to ride to a school where she could not conveniently ride to and fro. The first time she had ridden the bicycle to the school, it was stolen by one of the pupils. She found out who the pupil was and applied to the district station house for relief. It happened to be the son of a policeman who had stolen the bicycle. He came to the lady and said to her that he was then paying $250 in instalments for a horse he had stolen, and that if she had political pull enough back of her to push the thing, to go ahead. One of the leaders of the district came to her and said, "Mrs. so-and-so,"—she was a widow at that time—"You used to have three voters in your house, your father, your brother and your husband, who is dead. If you have enough back of you to push this thing, go ahead." She had to leave her bicycle go and quit there. And this is the way appointments for teachers came about, instead of members of the board selecting teachers, a note would be handed to the board with a name on, and the question would be asked, "Who is that?" They would be told, "Never mind, that is none of your business. Just vote for that teacher." That was the way the thing was done. I have had about thirty odd years experience in that thing and I know all about the disreputable thing of putting our school boards in politics.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

REASON FOR VOTE.

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker I desire to offer the following reasons for my vote on House Bill No. 78:

I vote for this bill because I believe that the people should rule, and by election the people and the school boards will be in closer touch. Also, because I do not believe that legal lore will particluarly prepare jurists to appoint school authorities.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1214, entitled:

An Act prescribing the number of Directors of the Poor in counties which have provided for the erection of a home for the destitute and insane and fixing the term of services of such Directors at six years

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, this bill is in the nature of a corrective measure and does not interfere with the system of taking care of the poor in any county of the State, whatsoever, but is designed to do away with the necessity for electing two directors of the poor in any one election. In the change of the election law of 1911 under that act, we now are compelled to elect our requisite corp every two years. This corrects by making a six year term and electing one at each election.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me this is such an important measure that we ought to have a little explanation from the author of this measure.

Mr. RICHARDS. In answer to the gentleman I would say that the best explanation perhaps that I could give would be to ask the gentleman to read the title of the bill. It is a companion bill to one that was passed by this House last night. Its provisions are very similar. The only difference being that in the bill passed by the House last night it gave municipalities the same power, or the same privilege as this bill gives counties, in purchasing the utilities of the counties. For instance, I believe, Mr. Speaker, inasmuch as the bill of last night was passed permitting municipalities to purchase ground for the erection of any utility in our county, as well as in many other counties, no doubt there is a great deal of vacant property between the municipalities in the counties. This bill then, Mr. Speaker, would give the county the right to purchase that ground between the different municipalities so that they might construct, say for instance, street railways and connect up the different municipalities. That is, practically all, as I understand, that is provided for in this bill. It only gives them the authority to do this.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RICHARDS. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I have not had time to carefully read the bill. Would this bill give authority to purchase ground outside of their own county, for instance, in other counties.

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I think not; I would say no to that question.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. Eugene J. McAleer,

My Dear Mr. McAleer:—

I am amazed at your statement that we have failed to comply with the request of the special committee of the Legislature regarding the information about our salaried employees. The request for the information probably went out to the School direct from Harrisburg, and never reached us here at all. You surely can understand that there was no reason in the world why we should not have desired to furnish the information to the Special Committee since we have only three men who draw over $900.00, and, goodness knows, it is comparatively small for their services.

I am enclosing the list and the information. I do hope that you can explain this matter to the gentlemen at Harrisburg.

Very truly yours,
ISSAC LANDMAN.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1238, as follows:

A Supplement to an act entitled "An Act relating to the grant of letters of administration upon the estates of persons presumed to be dead by reason of long absence from their former domicile" approved June twenty-fourth one thousand eight hundred and eight-five providing for the grant of ancillary letters of administration in this Commonwealth upon the estates of persons presumed to be dead by reason of long absence from their former domicile in any other State territory or foreign country who have left personal estate within this Commonwealth

Section 2 The aforesaid petition shall be supported by the affidavits of at least two persons residents of the ward borough township or other territorial subdivision where the supposed decedent was last known to reside and who are not interested either as creditors legatees or next of kin of the supposed decendent and who have not been connected in any way with the application of said original letters showing that the said supposed decedent has been absent from his usual place of abode for the space of seven years and upwards and that his whereabouts is not and has not been known for a period of seven years and upwards

Section 3 At the hearing the said orphans' court shall take such legal evidence as shall then be offered for the purpose of ascertaining whether the presumption of death is established and no person shall be disqualified to testifying by reason of his or her relationship as husband or wife to the said decedent or of his or her interest in the estate of the person supposed to be dead

Section 4 If satisfied upon the hearing that the legal presumption of death is made out the court shall so decree and shall forthwith cause notice thereof to be inserted for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in the county and also in a legal publication if any published in the county and also when practicable in a newspaper published at or near the place beyond the Commonwealth where when last heard from the supposed decedent had his residence The said notice shall require the said decedent if alive or any other person for him to produce to the court within four weeks from the date of its last insertion satisfactory evidence of his continuance in life

Section 5 If within the said period of four weeks evidence satisfactory to the orphans' court of the continuance in life of the said decedent shall not be forthcoming it shall be the duty of the court to order the register of wills to issue letter of administration to the person or trust company mentioned in said petition and the said letters until revoked and all acts done in pursuance thereof and in reliance thereupon shall be as valid as if the supposed decedent were really dead

Section 7 The orphans' court may revoke the said letters at any time on due and satisfactory proof that the supposed decedent is in fact alive after which revocation all power of the administrator shall cease but all receipts or disbursements of assets and other acts previously done by him shall remain as valid as if the said letters were unrevoked and the administrator shal settle his account of his administration down to the time of such revocation and shall transfer all assets remaining in his hands to the person as whose administrator he had acted or to his duly authorized agent or attorney

Section 8 That the words "The Register of Wills of the proper County" as used in section one of this act shall be construed to mean the register of wills of the county in which all or the greater portion of the estate or said absentee within this Commonwealth may be found

Section 9 The provisions of this act shall apply to cases of all persons residents of any other State territory or foreign country who either before or after the passage of this act have absented themselves or may hereafter absent themselves from their usual place of abode therein for a period of seven years and who have been or shall have been unheard of for said period of time and who left personal estate situate owning or belonging to them within this Commonwealth

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a supplement to the Act of 1885, which provides for the granting of Letters on the estates of persons who have been absent for seven years. The act of 1885 provides for the granting of Letters on the states of residents of this State. This supplement provides for the granting of Letters of Administration on the estates of non-residents of this State, persons who have personal property within the Commonwealth —that is, if a person dies in Florida, or disappears in Florida rather, and is absent for seven years, letters are granted on his estate in Florida. Then Ancillary Letters of Administration can under this act be granted in Pennsylvania.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Neely.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. NEELY. Yes, sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOWERS. I would ask the gentleman what need there is for this legislation.

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, this act, as far as I am concerned, is to be passed for a particular case. A man whose residence is in the State of Pennsylvania had considerable personal estate in Allegheny County. That personal estate still remains there. He moved to Florida and established a residence there and subsequently disappeared. After he had been absent and his whereabouts unknown for a period of seven years, his will was probated on the mere presumption of death in the State of Florida. An attempt was made to take out Letters in Pennsylvania, but was unsuccessful. This bill is presented to provide for that particular case and any similar case which might occur. The procedure is very carefully outlined. The application must be made to the Registrar of Wills, who must certify that the person desiring Ancillary Letters in this State is the proper person. The proceeding must be advertised for a certain length of time. The advertisement must set out that on a certain day a hearing will be held by the Orphans Court. The Orphans Court must hear witnesses and must be satified that the presumption of death has been established.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman, he being a lawyer, a member of the bar, if this proposed act would not open the door to possible fraud.

Mr. NEELY. I do not think so, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I would ask the gentleman further if he has consulted the courts as to the practicability and the advisability of such legislation.

Mr. NEELY. I have not consulted with the Orphans Court judges of Allegheny County, for the reason that this case would come up before them as soon as the law is passed.

Mr. LOWERS. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, it seems to me that this is unnecessary legislation offered for the purpose of covering one particular case and it appears to me that it will open the door to possible fraud. I think it will be unwise to pass this measure at this time.

Mr. NEELY. Mr. Speaker, in regard to this bill as to the method in which the procedure is outlined, I wish to say that I have had the bill to the title officer of one of our title companies in Pittsburgh, who is well versed in the law on this subject, and he sees no objection to it, and I have also handed it to the trust officer of one of our largest trust companies in Pittsburgh and he sees no objection to it, and I also want to say that in this particular State there is a large sum of money invested in mortgages in Allegheny County, and the Act has been drawn with an effort to protect the titles of those properties.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—2.

Burnett,	Ulman,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1666, entitled:

An Act to amend section thirteen of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the incorporation and regulation of ship canal companies to connect the Great Lakes with points on navigable rivers of this Commonwealth" approved the twenty-fourth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five as the same was amended by an act approved the eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred and seven

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Section 1, line 13, strike out "is" and insert "it."
Section 1, line 19, after "companies" insert "organized."
Section 1, line 26, strike out "restricions" and insert "restrictions."
Section 1, line 68, strike out "waterways" and insert "waterway."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to insert the amendment as read? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendment as read will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

The bill as amended was then agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE.

Mr. CONNER. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following motion.

The SPEAKER. The motion will be read by the Clerk.

The motion was read by the Clerk as follows:

Moved by Patrick Conner seconded by W. H. Kern (Both of whom voted in the negative) That the vote by which Senate Bill No. 386 file folio 2429 page 11 of yesterday's calendar, bills on final passage, was defeated be reconsidered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. E. E. JONES. Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the House, I feel that a most worthy bill was defeated in the defeat which this bill suffered last night. In a light House it did not receive the required number of votes to pass. It is the County Supervisors Convention bill. It provides for the assembling of the supervisors of the various counties of the State in County Conventions the same as school directors have done for many years; that is, the getting together of the supervisors once a year at the county seat and there talking over the problems confronting them as supervisors of roads in the various townships. I believe it is one of the best bills that we can put through this legislature for the improvement of the country roads. It is the lack of knowledge on the part of the supervisors and lack of knowing how to get at the problems that confront them that is the most serious drawback to the improvement of our country roads, and if these supervisors can be gotten together in convention and there addressed by men who know how, and by the representatives of our Highway Department and by others who are familiar with the conditions which are confronting them, I believe there would be a decided improvement in the roads and I hope that the members of the House will reconsider this vote and pass this law.

Mr. STRAUSS. Mr. Speaker, I only want to add to what my friend has said by stating that the supervisors of Berks County already have such an association and have had it for some time and serve without pay and come together at the county seat without pay, and they are very much in favor of passing this bill. The expense is not very great, as each county pays its supervisors for only two days a year, and I think it would be a great thing to have such meetings of the supervisors to listen to lectures on good roads and take part in it that way and so become acquainted with the best construction of good roads.

Mr. McDERMOTT. Mr. Speaker, I do not want the House to think that I want to give them a history of my boyhood down to the present day, but I want to say a word in behalf of this bill. I don't think this bill met with fair play the last time it was before the House and defeated. I happened to be a supervisor for six years and gave six years of my time gratis and I also resigned before I came down here, for fear it would interfere with my oath of office. I think the least this House ought to do is to pass this bill and reimburse these supervisors who are only getting one dollar and a half a day for two days at a time. I think it is unfair for this House to pass laws and to say that one man shall give his services for nothing and then pass laws for other men to get three times what they are worth. I think it is high time that this House starts at the top and shaves off the top and gives something to the little fellow that is getting nothing.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideratio nof House Bill No. 1186, entitled:

An Act to make the real estate of any pauper liable for the expense of his support maintenance and burial and providing a method for the collection of such claims

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know something about this bill. I would like to know what a pauper is.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Moulthrop.

Mr. MOULTHROP. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Allen, as to what a pauper is, I desire to say that he is supposed to be a man who has no property. A man who is traveling about and is known as a pauper may have concealed some of his estate and in case of death it is found out that this is so it is simply a case of recovering the property by the poor overseer or the county commissioner.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I made this inquiry not as a joke or anything of that sort, but because I feel that the bill is intended to be a good bill, but unless the word pauper could be defined as something in the way the gentleman defines it now in explanation of the bill—I feel that the force of the bill would be lost in case it were attempted to be enforced because the word pauper, I think, is even much more restrictive than is suggested by the gentleman, and unless it were so defined in this bill, I question whether or not the bill would reach the very point which it is intended to cover. I suggest that the sponsor defer action on this bill and amend it accordingly. I think it would be in proper form then.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Allen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman from Allegheny whether a person living at the expense of the county in a poor house would not be constituted to be a pauper.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, he might be and he might not be. He would be a pauper so far as the county were concerned but he might not be a pauper under the strict definition from a legal aspect.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I don't think there is any fear at all of a court holding that a person living at the expense of the poor house would not be a pauper and should he die there and afterwards they found that he had property, it would not remove the stain of being a pauper but it would allow the county to collect the fee.

Mr. MOULTHROP. Mr. Speaker, I think under the circumstances that the bill is worded right, as far as I can see, and as it was handed to me by our solicitor of our county and I think he understands it alright, I am willing to have you put it through and up to the Senate and if there is any amendment required, we will put them in in the Senate.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 10 This act shall take effect on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and fourteen

Section 11 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

Mr. ISLER. The sponsor of this bill is not in the House, but I can probably answer the questions.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ISLER. I will.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I merely wanted to get an explanation of the reason why we should have a bill of this sort on our books?

Mr. ISLER. Mr. Speaker, in cities of the first and second class, in the Department of Construction there is no inspector of plastering, and it is to create that office of inspector of plastering, the same as there is of plumbing, that this bill was introduced. It is almost as necessary in a sanitary way as plumbing inspection would be. There is a great deal of cheating goes on in plastering on account of the way coats of plaster are put on. I am not a plasterer but I know that a plasterer can cover up what the specifications would call for without inspection, and give one rought coat and a finishing coat where it calls for two rough coats and a finishing coat. I think this is a very meritorious bill and meets with the approval of the plasters. The doctors and health authorities have agreed that this would be a very good bill to have on the statute books.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ISLER. I will.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if there is any good reason why cities or municipalities should pay for the inspection of plastering that is being done instead of the owner or builder? Should not the owner pay for his own inspection.

Mr. ISLER. In public construction such as hospitals, city, and state buildings, and buildings of that description, there should be a competent and practical plasterer, and I believe there is a clause in the bill stating that this inspector must be a man of ten years practical experience at the plumbing trade.

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, to my mind this is the most ridiculous bill that ever came before a legislative body.

Mr. ISLER. Mr. Speaker, Why is it any more ridiculous than a plumbing bill. The plumbing inspector goes into private buildings and you pay him, why not a plasterer?

Mr. McALEER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has answered all the questions I care to ask. This bill requires that cities shall pay for the inspection of plastering. It is a foregone conclusion that if there is an inspector on the job and the specifications called for three coats of plaster, he would have to be there all the time to see that it goes on, and there is no reason why the city should pay for the inspector, to do something which the inspector on this job could do very well, and you do not need a plastering inspector particularly. If the builder wants one or two coats on, there is no reason why he cannot get it. It would just be the same as asking a man to buy a coat and vest or a whole suit if he only wants to buy a pair of pants.

Mr. LORENZO SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I see no reason for a plastering inspector. I have been identified with the building trade in Philadelphia for thirty-five years or more. The City has a department of building inspection whose duty it would be to look after this. I cannot see where a plastering inspector would be of any use. Plastering is entirely different from plumbing.

Plumbing inspection is a sanitary and healthful necessity and the plasterer's is not. The builder who has a building to construct or who is a builder of homes has a sufficient knowledge of plastering to know what is required and his foreman is seeing that his work is properly conducted. There can be two or three plaster coats put on under his supervision and there is no necessity for plastering inspection; none whatever, because there is nothing sanitary about it. The material used is lime or cement and sand and nothing else and there is nothing detrimental to health in that.

Mr. WILLIAM F. BLAIR. Mr. Speaker this appears to me to be a bill that is an unnecessary tax and a lot of expense in which the city is asked to pay for something that is not necessary. A man put up a private building and generally he has an architect to specify anything that goes into that building. It simply puts the man in there to do something to make the city pay for it, for which I cannot see any use. In regard to Mr. Isler, speaking about the difference between a pumber and plasterer and why should we not have an inspector for a plasterer as well as for a plumber? It is altogether a different proposition It is absolutely necessary to have a sanitary inspection in plumbing and to have it inspected and have it done according to sanitary measures and under supervision. Plastering is different in every particular. I see no reason why this bill should pass.

Mr. ISLER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman has said more for the bill just now than he intended to. In this day of sanitation and microbes and germs, we send for a sanitary plumber. The poorly plastered building has more crevices and cracks to conceal microbes and vermin than any plumbing job that has ever been put in a building. He has spoken very favorably for the bill when he said "you cannot have a plumbing job put in without being inspected as it should be" and the same applies to plastering. I don't know whether that will hold good in Greene County or not, but if he states that you cannot do any plumbing of any kind whatsoever without the plumbing inspector first going over your plans and putting their O. K. on that. I say the same thing is the fact from a sanitary standpoint on the work of plastering.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the gentleman's attention to the fact that this bill specifically excludes tenement houses in all cities. Are not they deserving of the same sanitary precaution as other houses? I think the point raised by the gentleman from Greene, Mr. Blair, is well taken. I can see absolutely no reason for burdening cities with further expense for plaster inspectors. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Isler, permit himself to be interrogated

Mr. ISLER. Mr. Speaker, Yes, sir.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman why it is that tenement houses are excluded from the operation of the bill?

Mr. ISLER. Mr. Speaker, I am not aware that tenement houses are excluded from the bill.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, yes, sir. If the gentleman will look at section eight.

Mr. ISLER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is mistaken; it does not exclude tenement houses.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, the section provides "nothing in this act shall effect the laws of this Commonwealth relative to tenement houses in cities of the first and second classes." Now, if there is any law on our books of to-day that provides for inspectors on tenement houses, it is something I don't know anything about.

Mr. JAMES J. CAMPBELL. Mr. Speaked, I think there is an error in the printing and I think the gentleman from Allegheny onered a correction and probably it has been placed in the bill. I see that this bill is identically the same as the plastering bill in New York. This bill provides for three coat work which we don't get in the city of Philadelphia. This bill provides that each coat shall have a certain length of time to dry. If you will go out in West Philadelphia, in Mr. Walnut's district, you will find that you can count the lathes through the paper. If this bill prevails you will not be able to count the lathes through the paper.

Mr. CARTER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a word on this bill. I built two houses at one time and they had poor plastering put on. About ten months after I had the first house built the plastering fell off the ceiling. Of course, I don't know whether it was caused by bad plastering or by bad lathing, but it cost me $150.00 to replaster my house. If there had been an inspector in the City of Pittsburgh, I might not have had to spend $150.00 to have that building replastered.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

An Act repealing the act of June fifteenth one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and ninety-one) entitled "An Act relating to the assessment of damages for the appropriation of land for public use

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, in view of the fact that is a repealing act I would like to explain to the members of the House what it provides. Under the present law the Act of June 15, 1871, it is not possible to assess benefits for a municipal improvement except the benefits derived from the opening of a street. Under that law it was decided that benefits could not be assessed on neighboring properties for the building of a park, and also that assessments for benefits could not be made for building of sewers. This bill was presented to me by the city solicitor's office of the city of Philadelphia, and I believe that there is very excellent reasons for it. I have spoken to some of the gentlemen from Allegheny County and they also agree that there is very excellent reason for assessing benefits for other improvements than street improvements.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

NAYS—3.

Baldwin, G. A., Hemminger, Kaufman.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1803, entitled:

An Act to equalize educational advantages throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by making an inspection and investigation of school districts now unable to provide minimum facilities and providing special appropriation therefor

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GRAMLEY. Mr. Speaker, the school district of Gallagher, Clinton County, is unable to maintain a minimum school term under the maximum tax under the old law and the school district of Spring Creek in Elk County will need help within a year. The lumber industry is rapidly disappearing. The school district of Juniata, in Huntingdon County, had to reduce the term below the minimum under the old law. Juniata, at 25 mills, cannot meet her expenses. The school district of Greenwood, in Juniata County, could not maintain a minimum term under the maximum tax of the old law. I could enumerate a number of districts more, but I will not.

The equalization of educational opportunities throughout the state is a question that calls for careful consideration. Increasingly the fact is being accepted by the general public that the education of a people is not a local matter because its consequences are of state and national moment. An educated citizen is not of worth alone to the community in which he lives but his influence is state and nation-wide. Equally, the baneful effects of illiteracy or incompetency arising from lack of school training are not confined to the limits of the locality where opportunities are wanting, but show their significance over widely marked areas. The centers of wealth and population can readily provide for themselves, but there are rural communities living on unproductive lands "where the hard daily toil brings scant daily bread" and in these places educational opportunities are necessarily limited. Here the State has both a duty and a privilege. Its duty is to protect itself against illiteracy and incompetency and its privilege is to offer aid that will help those who are in the process of becoming citizens to realize the best that is in them; and further to help them find their places in the social, civic and industrial life.

A survey of conditions made during the past year showed that there were twenty-four districts in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania having a total of 149 schools in which the minimum school term could not be maintained by levying the maximum taxes allowed under the old law. The number of pupils in these schools was not large. They might have been accommodated in fewer buildings, but owing to the topography of the districts and the remoteness of the inhabitants from each other, consolidation and transportation are out of the question. There are many such communities in Pennsylvania. To make proper provision for these exceptional conditions, a special aid fund ought to be provided by the Legislature. Proper distribution of such a fund is practically provided for in Section 905 of the Code, which authorizes the State Board of Education to exercise the powers of administration in equalizing "through special appropriations for this purpose or otherwise the educational advantages of the different parts of this Commonwealth."

This Board, in order to make a just and equitable distribution, is in position to secure exact data relative to the valuation, assessments, necessary expenditures and general financial conditions of such districts and, on the basis of their actual needs, such Special Aid Fund could be apportioned.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. HUMES. Mr. Speaker, I want to call attention to this fact, that this bill carries an appropriation of $25,000.00. It has not yet been considered by the Appropriation Committee. I therefore move that the bill be referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. MELLOTT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 415, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to the Amber Amusement Company the amount illegally demanded and collected as a State license fee from it as proprietor of a moving picture place in the State of Pennsylvania

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to the Amber Amusement Company by its president Harry Brocklehurst or its legal representative

Said sum of five hundred dollars being the amount which the city treasurer of the city of Philadelphia State of Pennsylvania illegally demanded and collected from the said Harry Brocklehurst president of the Amber Amusement Company as proprietor of a moving picture place located at Frankford Avenue Amber and Sergeant Streets in the city of Philadelphia State of Pennsylvania on the first day of December one thousand nine hundred and ten as a State license fee due the said treasurer under the act of June twenty-fourth one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five Pamplet Laws two hundred and forty-nine and amendment thereto of May twenty-third one thousand nine hundred and seven Pamphlet Laws two hundred and nineteen the said Amber Amusement Company not being liable for the payment of said license fee as said place was used for the exhibition of moving pictures only under the decision of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania in the case of Commonwealth of Pennsylvania versus Fannie C. Spiers October term one thousand nine hundred and eleven number two hundred and seventy-four upon the appeal of the plaintiff from the judgment of the court of common pleas number five of the County of Philadelphia to September term one thousand nine hundred and eleven number two thousand seven hundred and fifty-one upon case stated

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I have been requested to explain this bill. It was given to me by a gentleman from Philadelphia, a former member, with request that I introduce it. It provides for the refunding by the Commonwealth of a certain license fee of five hundred dollars that was collected under the Act of Assembly of 1907, and there was a contest as to whether or not the institution came within the provisions of the Act of Assembly, and there were two cases contested in the Lower Court and afterwards appealed to the Appellate Court, the Superior Court, in which the question was raised and it was decided that under the law this particular institution did not come within the provisions of the law, and therefore the fee of five hundred dollars had been improperly collected. This particular bill refers to a Company that was not specifically before the Court. We have two of these bills. In the case of one of them the Court has specifically decided that the five hundred dollar fee was improperly collected. The particular case covered by this bill I am advised is exactly on all fours with the other company aud the same ruling would apply to this My reference is Commonwealth v. Spears and Commonwealth v. Donnelly, which appear in the Advanced Reports which I hold in my hands 237 Pennsylvania, pages 59 and 61.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think this is proper legislation to appropriate this five hundred dollars. There is not a partide of doubt that the gentleman from Philadelphia believes that this is an exactly similar case to that decided by the Court, but the gentleman from Philadelphia may be mistaken. This bill deliberately appropriates the money. No doubt it is the honest believe of the gentleman from Philadelphia that this is a similar case, but there is a possibility of there being a mistake. We are appropriating money to this individual or corporation or whatever it may be, on the supposition that this is an exactly similar case. It don't seem to me that this is the right way to present this bill to the State of Pennsylvania and ask this legislation to make the payment on such meagre evidence.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, relative to this bill, I would say that the Appropriation Committee after considering it, appointed a sub-committee to inquire into all the facts and matters pertaining to it and the information that we got from the Auditor General's Department and the State Treasurer's Department was satisfactory to the Committee that this was the proper way to reimburse the parties that were applying for relief and the only way, and through that information the bill was reported out affirmatively.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Jefferson (Mr. North).

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. NORTH. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, was their full evidence presented to the Committee, or did the Auditor General say that there was satisfactory evidence that this was a debt the State owed?

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, the evidence presented to the Committee was entirely satisfactory and for that reason and that reason only, we reported the bill out.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, this is a very loose way of doing it, I will say that.

Mr. CHARLES A. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, as a member of the sub-committee I would say that we have gone into an examination of this very bill and we went before the Auditor General. This fee was illegally collected and does not belong to the State and therefore they are only asking for what belongs to them, to reimburse them and a special act had to be created so that they could be reimbursed.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Delaware, I admit that there is a question of fact in regard to this particular bill. As to the other one we have on the calendar, there can be no question in regard to that at all, because we have a Superior Court case upon that particular institution and the particular fees paid; but in this case, without such court decision, there is only one possible way in which this Company can recover money it paid the State without any obligation of law for that payment and the only way they can do is to come to the State Legislature and present their case to the Committee and have the Committee pass upon the facts, if the Committee is satisfied with the facts. We have appointed a committee to investgiate that vary matter. If the Committee is satisfied with the facts I cannot see that there is anything more that the applicant can do. If the facts indicate to the Committee that the company improperly paid this money that they should not have paid it, surely we should not stand in the way of repayment of money improperly collected, and I therefore think that the opinion as expressed by the Chairman of the Appropriation Committee and the member of the sub-committee certainly should have weight with this House.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, under these circumstances I have no objection to the bill, although my understanding always has been in a case of this kind that they should go into the courts and furnish all of the facts to the court and prove that the State is in debt to them. Here's a case where they come directly to the legislature, and the legislature listens to them or a sub-committee have the Statements that the Auditor General says that it is undoubtedly due them, although it is not the ordinary practice.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1562, entitled:

An Act to amend section nine of an act entitled "An Act regulating the construction maintenance alteration and inspection of buildings and party walls in cities of the second class" approved June seventh one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five by striking out all provisions whereby an owner of lands can build a party wall together with foundations thereof in part on lands of adjoining owner and collect a pro-rata share of the cost of said wall from adjoining owner Preserving however all the rights given by statute to owners of party walls erected under said act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this seems to be practically a repeal of the present provision of the party wall law. I should like to hear from the sponsor of this bill any reason why it should be changed.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bigger.

Mr. BIGGER. Mr. Speaker, the following statement was given to me by the building commissioner which I wish to read:

The purpose of the proposed act is to repeal the authority of an adjoining owner to construct a party wall without consent of the party on whose land half of it is to be built and whose land is thereby to be charged with proportionate share of the cost thereof.

This amendment has been prepared by and recommended by the Commission for the Revision of the Building Laws of the City of Pittsburgh, appointed by Mayor Magee and has been approved by the Pennsylvania State Building Code Commission, and has been discussed with Assistant City Solicitor C. K. Robinson and the Mayor and several Councilmen and we hope to enlist your co-operation in introducing the same in Legislature next Monday and urging its passage.

Our reasons are as follows:

1. This act applies to cities of the second class only and so none but Scranton and Pittsburgh are concerned.

2. The repeal does not affect existing rights for compensation for party walls already erected, but prevents a similar charge being made in the future.

3. Under the Act as it now stands a tenant in one property may be and often is practically dispossessed by the owner of adjoining lot erecting a building and constructing a party wall, and for his inconvenience, damage and delays, the tenant has no remedy whatever and sometimes this loss results in bankruptcy of tenant.

4. That since the era of high building and steel construction the walls do not need to be so thick and there is therefore less reason for taking a part of adjoining owner's lot on which to erect it, which was not the case when only brick walls were used.

5. That also the difference in height of stories and total height of buildings differ so greatly that it is impossible to adjust honestly the cost between said adjoining owners and the result is delay due to injunctions and other litigation.

6. That the owner of adjoining lot has his land charged with a lien for a share of the cost of a wall which he may never use, and if he does not use it, the question of how much he ought to pay so often invites litigation of an unsatisfactory sort.

This does not prohibit the parties from entering into a contract relative to a party, it simply leaves it optional as it should be.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affrmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1819 (Senate No. 588), entitled:

An Act fixing the compensation of the Assistant Librarian of the Senate and the Assistant Resident Clerk of the House of Representatives

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, there are two bills on the floor of the House, or on the calendar, in relation to House and Senate employees, which cover the proposition that this does; therefore, I move that this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, the reason I moved to postpone the bill was this: That we had a committee report upon the House employees and the Senate employees; that committee so reported, and the Committee on Judiciary General took it up and has reported out two bills, one covering the House employees and one the Senate employees, and this bill would conflict with those bills. That is the reason I moved to postpone it. If the gentlemen see fit to have the bill go on and have a vote on it, I have no objection.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, as I recall the report of the committee which was investigating the matters in relation to the employees of the House, this is one of the offices which was highly complimented, and attention was called to the amount of work that was being done in this particular clerkship and the recommendation made that the salary be increased to, if I recall rightly, the very figure which is specified in this particular bill.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I believe that every member of this House knows that if there is one man in the employ, not only of this House, but of the State Departments, who earns his salary, it is that young man, who is covered by this clerkship and so that you may all know what the clerkship is, that young man is I. Dale Meals, who has not only to keep track of the business done in this House, but to prepare all of that work for the printer, for the Journals and for the Calendars to be made up, and everything in that line after this House has concluded its day's work. There is no question as to the merit of that clerkship to carry with it this salary and this bill, recommended as it was by the committee, which was scrupulously careful to go into the merits and demerits of the offices about the State House, has been recommended by them. This bill should receive the vote of every member on the floor of the House tonight.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

An Act to amend the fifth section of an act approved the fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to fix the salaries of the judges of the Supreme Court the judges of the Superior Court the judges of the courts of common pleas and the judges of the orphans' courts" providing that the annual salary of each of the judges of the courts of common pleas learned in the law in judicial districts having a population of two hundred and fifty thousand and less than five hundred thousand shall be ten thousand dollars

Section 5 The annual salary of each of the judges of the courts of common pleas learned in the law in judicial districts having a population of two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) and less than five hundred thousand (500,000) shall be ten thousand dollars ($10,000) in judicial districts having a population of ninety thousand (90,000) and less than two hundred and fifty thousand (250,000) the annual salary of each of the judges of the courts of common pleas learned in the law shall be seven thousand dollars ($7,000) in judicial districts having a population of less than ninety thousand (90,000) the annual salary of each of the judges of the courts of common pleas learned in the law shall be six thousand dollars ($6,000) but each of the judges of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County shall receive two thousand dollars ($2,000) additional for trying the Commonwealth's civil cases

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. GOOD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Conniff, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if this bill does not increase the salaries of the judges of the Court of Common Pleas of Luzerne County from $8,500 to $10,000?

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, it does.

Mr. GOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to further interrogate the gentleman. I would like to ask the gentleman if there is any demand for this increase.

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, there is such a demand.

Mr. GOOD. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman where this demand comes from.

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, some of the lawyers, members of the Bar Association, have said that the increase should be made, so that the salaries of the judges throughout the State might be more uniform. In Philadelphia the judges receive a salary of $11,000 and in Pittsburgh they receive a salary of $11,000 and the judges in Luzerne County have just as much work to do as the judges in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. We have four judges in Luzerne County, and in Philadelphia they have fifteen, while in Pittsburgh they have twelve.

Mr. GOOD. Mr. Speaker, I represent a portion of Luzerne County, and I must say to the members of this House that there is no demand for this increase from our part of the county.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, as this bill appears to take in Luzerne County, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Luzerne.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Conniff, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman whether or not I am right in the statement that this bill pertains to Lackawanna County also?

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, it does.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I have not had time to read this bill, and I would therefore move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. CONNIFF. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend Section 1, line 63, by striking out the words "of cities of the second and third class" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "as the case may be."

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I object to this amendment and I hope that the Senate will not agree to the amendment. This amendment will place the bill back as I understand it in the position that it has been for two years past and make the bill worthless so far as the City of Philadelphia is concerned.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate reconsider the vote by which this bill passed second reading.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, The reason I ask that this bill be amended is this. All of my motions have been made for this purpose. There has been an unseemly scramble in the city of Philadelphia over a lot of petty offices and it is between the Mayor and the County Commissioners. The City of Philadelphia elected a Mayor not in harmony with some men in Philadelphia and in a very unrepublican and undemocratic way they are now trying to take away the power of the man who was elected to that office of Mayor and the right to appoint certain sealers of weights and measures. Now because the Mayor does not suit their political complexion they want to put this in the hands of the county commissioners. The whole fight is petty and small and this bill ought not to be changed from its original condition and the amendment I am making is only to put this bill back in the same form.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I do not think that the Senator means in the statement he made exactly the fact that the Republican members are trying to harass or take away from the mayor anything he now has. This matter was in the hands of Mayor Blankenburg for the last seventeen months, sixteen or seventeen, and he has failed to make any appointments by reason of the power given to him by the act passed some four years ago. On the other hand the members of this Senate from Philadelphia, instead of taking away from the Mayor, have been passing bills without any dissension whatever among the eight representatives from that city giving to the Mayor unlimited power in the creation of a department that means employment of hundreds of men and if we have such ugly and petty dispositions as the Senator from Philadelphia would have the members of this Senate believe we certainly would oppose those bills, but this is a mere matter as he says of a trifling nature. It was passed by the House practically with an overwhelming vote and refers to some twelve or fifteen appointments of sealers of weights and measures. In the office of the county commissioners with a reform member of that body the question of a few appointments does not enter so far as I am concerned into the matter but for the purpose of having these sealers appointed and going about their work of protecting the people in having them given proper weight in the purchase of goods, which are now sold regardless of any law and receiving the worst end of it from the dealer that is serving them and I trust the Senate will not consider this amendment or this proposition to postpone at this time.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I must correct the statement of the Senator from Philadelphia that this bill passed the House. It is a Senate Bill and as it was introduced by the Senator from Lebanon, Mr. Gerberich it left the law as it now is in the appointment of these sealers and after the bill was reported out of the Committee the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus amended it to take out of the hands of mayors of cities of the first class only the right to appoint sealers and put it into the hands of the County Commissioners. It made a distinction between the mayors of the three kinds of cities without any reason. It was a case of making flesh of one and fish of another. The mayor has not appointed these sealers in Philadelphia because there has been a difference of opinion as to whether he had the power or the County Commissioners, and the amendment that I have offered this morning leaves no doubt about that because it says County Commissioners in counties shall have the right, mayors in cities shall have the right, whether it is a city or county. If this amendment I have offered be adopted there will be no doubt at all about who has the right. I have received this morning a letter from the Mayor of Philadelphia which reads in part:

"It simply means the appointment of sealers of weights and measures by men who have no interest whatever in the case, without regard to civil service requirements and it is a political move in every sense. If you can do anything to prevent the enacting of this measure into a law in the Senate, I shall appreciate it very much."

The whole thing is petty and is meanly done to give a few small jobs into the hands of County Commissioners the right to appoint and takes away from the Mayors of cities of the first class the right that is given the Mayors of cities of the second and third classes. The bill is a bad bill as it now stands and should not pass. I only ask that this bill go over in order that amendments may be properly prepared. from Philadelphia can be just as readily reversed and

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, The argument of the Senator turned back on the mayor of Philadelphia as it can on anybody else. If it is so arranged as he says, that certain parties will appoint, then if we pass his amendment and adopt his view certain other parties will appoint, so there is nothing in it either one way or the other but a political question, if his argument is correct. I represent a district one ward of which in every house for blocks are small store keepers. Competition is so sharp that the storekeepers in order to compete with one another are manipulating the scales and it is these store keepers and not the people that want this bill passed. For over a year or nearly two years nothing has been done. This is an important piece of legislation, it is an important piece of legislation for the people of Philadelphia, or any other big city, and I hope the Senate will not postpone this question.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, Yes, sir.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, Why in his amendment did the Senator from Philadelphia provide that mayors of cities of the second and third class could appoint and eliminate the only mayor of a city of the first class.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, because of the fact that many members of the Senate have stated to me that there is extreme harmony between the mayors and Boards of County Commissioners in the other cities. That does not exist in Philadelphia and Mayor Blankenburg would not appoint anybody that we would suggest and has not appointed anybody that he could suggest himself. And the reason I think that he is not appointing them now is that he does not know where he can get the money to run the city on. He does not even want to pay the ones who are now working and giving the city their service. The mayor needs money and he does not know where to get it. We will have to get some good Republicans to teach him how to get it.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, This amendment of mine will clear up the situation that Senator Salus seems to think exists now. There will be no question as to who has the right to appoint these sealers. In cities the mayor shall do it, in counties the County Commissioners shall do it. The Mayor of Philadelphia is giving an administration without politics and he has not discharged the men in the city hall who have been giving good service there.

Mr. HUFFMAN. Mr. President, I do not know as I am especially interested in this, but this bill in section one reads that the several boards of County Commissioners and the mayors of cities of the second and third class shall appoint one or more competent persons. Now I do not understand what that means, whether the County Commissioners shall make the appointments or whether the Mayors. It reads that the County Commissioners and the Mayor shall appoint and I do not think it is expressing the object of either side.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, Under that provision in Allegheny County we will have a board of four trying to make appointments, and they will split two and two and we will have the same situation Philadelphia has now. There is a ten to one chance against them. Therefore I will have to oppose this bill. I favor the motion to put it over.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McILHENNY and Mr. POWELL and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14.

Fisher,	Huffman,	Kurtz,	Sensenich,
Heacock,	Jarrett,	McIlhenny,	Wasbers,
Herbst,	Judson,	Miller
Hilton,	Knapp,	Powell,

NAYS—23.

Beidleman,	Endsley,	Jones,	Salus,
Buckman,	Farley,	Kline,	Sheatz,
Catlin,	Gerberich,	Martin,	Snyder,
Cooper,	Graff,	McNichol,	Thompson,
Crow,	Homsher,	Morgan,	Vare,
Dalx,	Hunter,	Nulty,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I did not know that this bill was on the third reading calendar until a few minutes ago, and I certainly would ask every Senator here to vote "No" on this bill. It will create exactly the same conditions in Allegheny County that Philadelphia County wants to get rid of, and I am opposed to the bill for that reason. It creates a joint board of county commissioners and the mayor of cities of the second class to appoint these sealers of weights and measures, and they will tie up on that proposition nine times out of ten, and I am opposed to the bill. It is a vicious measure and it is purely for the purpose of giving certain people in Philadelphia a chance to harass its mayor and this Legislature ought not to be a party to that proposition. Of course, I am very sorry to see the division between the two Senators who yesterday were standpatters, and I regret very much that there is a division between them. but on this occasion I must take the part of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McIlhenny, because this is surely a vicious bill.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, the Senator from Allegheny has stated what is not true. The Senators from Philadelphia do not support this bill for the purpose of antagonizing or harrassing the mayor because in a matter of twelve or thirteen thousand appointments it is stretching the imagination to a considerable limit to say that eight or ten appointments would do that. This bill is merely a matter of adjusting conditions that have been upon the statute books of the State of Pennsylvania for the last four years. The mayor who preceded the present mayor failed to act upon it; Mayor Blenkenburg failed to act for seventeen months. As I said before, it is only a matter of putting it in other hands that will make the appointments and give the people of Philadelphia the relief they are after.

Mr. GERBERICH. Mr. President, I object to some of the remarks made by the Senator from Allegheny. I am the author of this bill, that is. I am standing for it, and I do say that I did not present this by any coercion or request from Philadelphia or Allegheny or anywhere else. I presented this bill for the purpose of giving the common people what belongs to them, a quart for a quart, a pound for a pound, a bushel for a bushel. So far as the appointing power is concerned I do not care who does that, only so it is done right. I rise to make this statement because the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Powell, intended or really said that this was gotten up for a special purpose. That special purpose is to give the common people what belongs to them.

Mr. NULTY. I just want to add my word of approvel here. At the last session I was one of the men here that struggled and fought here to have this bill passed and for the past seventeen months we have been without these sealers of weights and measures, inspectors. At the Democratic Convention at Harrisburg I was the man who wrote in the platform or had it injected that this matter would be investigated in the State of Pennsylvania. After the investigation went on in New York City by the Congressional Committee it was shown that the fast scales had robbed the City of New York to exceed ten million dollars over the savings of first class bonds of the City of New York, and I am in favor of this bill being passed for the purpose of having these men shown at once that the people must have what is coming to them and what belongs to them.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President. I would like to add a few words to what has already been said in favor of this bill. If the present mayor had seventeen months to make appointments and did not make them, what guaranty have we that he will make them now if he has the opportunity so to do? I would therefore suggest and think that this Senate ought to pass the bill in the present shape and put it in the hands of those who will carry it into effect.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I have no objection to this bill, but I have been very seriously misunderstood and misquoted by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol, and the Senator from Lebanon. Mr. Gerberich. I did not say that this bill was introduced for this special purpose but I say that the provision for this method of appointment is for that special purpose, and that is the objection I have to the bill. I am for the bill, but I am for a bill which would not create in Allegheny County the condition which Philadelphia is now trying to get rid of, and it is Philadelphia's business to control its own mayor. It is not the business of this Legislature to go ahead and enact legislation for Philadelphia every time they fall down on the election of a mayor, and it will not be the business next session when somebody else will win when they will be pressing up here a large number of bills which will affect other cities and other counties and want to change it back again. We are continuously wasting the people's money passing legislation for the City of Philadelphia. Now let us amend this bill so that it will apply to Philadelphia. Then I do not care, but I am not going along with this bill which provides that four men shall make appointments in Allegheny because everybody knows that a board of four men is a nonsensical board to make appointments.

Mr. SHEATZ. Mr. President, in looking at the broad view of what this bill represents I want to say to the members of this Senate that I have but one object in view when I vote for the passage of this bill and for its final passage, and that is for the people of Philadelphia to have a set of men who absolutely will take care of the scales and see that a fair weight is given to the citizens of Philadelphia. We have been waiting for this bill for at least two years and the time is at an end when we should have men in a position to give the people honest weight in Philadelphia, and that this General Assembly should take it into their own hands. I shall vote for the bill for the protction of the citizens of Philadelphia, and there is no politics in it so far as I am concerned, and believe. I think Mr. Ryan and I did as much as any two men in Philadelphia to elect Mr. Blankenburg as mayor and I am not antagonizing Mayor Blankenburg, but I am going to stand for the people of Philadelphia.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Sheatz, seems to fail to realize that the bill we had before this was not workable. The amendment which I offered to the bill makes no question as to who shall have the appointing power. My reason is not to give a few jobs to the mayor; he does not want them. If he wanted some jobs he could remove five thousand men and put five thousand others in their places. But this bill as amended, not as drawn by the Senator from Lebanon, but as amended. will merely give a little pap to the county commissioners of Philadelphia which they ought not to have.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I do not fully understand the terms of this bill. The Act of 1911 provides that the appointing power shall be placed in the Board of County Commissioners and the mayor of the several cities, not any one class, but of the several cities. I understand that the object of the bill is the object as stated by the Senator from Lebanon, a quart for a quart. We are all agreed that we want a quart for a quart, but when it comes to the appointing power in cities of the second and third classes it seems to me that we are somewhat confused by the terms of this bill. The Senators from Philadelphia do not object to what appointing powers exist in cities of the second and third classes; they do not care anything about that. What they want is to have it fixed in the City of Philadelphia. Very well, we will agree to go along with them as far as Philadelphia is concerned, but where it says in this bill "that the several boards of county commissioners and the mayors of cities of second and third classes shall appoint one or more competent persons as inspectors of weights and measures whose salaries shall not be less than one thousand dollars per annum to be paid out of the respective revenues of such county and city," in what department are they to be paid out of the revenues of the city and county, and are the three county commissioners and the mayor of a city to appoint one inspector for the whole county. or one inspector for the city? The language is somewhat involved.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, let the Senator from Erie, Mr. Clark, read on.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I have read enough of it, "respective revenues of such county and city. In addition to the salary provided by law the said county and city inspector shall be entitled to have and receive the actual expenses incurred by them," and those expenses shall be paid by the county commissioners. I would like to have it go over. I am not opposed to it. I understand that the Act of 1911 has this same obscurity in it. It provides for the appointment by the county commissioners and the mayor and it seems to me that is not good.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Erie, Mr. Clark.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Erie, Mr. Clark, allow himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, I understand the Senator from Erie, Mr. Clark, to say that this bill takes in cities of the third class.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, certainly it does. It provides on page three, the enacting part, "Be it enacted, etc., that the several boards of county commissioners and the mayors of cities of the second and third class shall appoint," etc.

Mr. JARRETT. Mr. President, if this bill covers cities of the third class, I am opposed to it. As far as cities of the first and second classes are concerned I would support it, but as it covers cities of the third class. I am opposed to the bill.

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, do I understand from the discussion that this bill applies to cities of the third class? and that they are to be appointed by the mayor and the county commissioners? If it does not apply to cities of the third class I am for it. I would like to interrogate the Senator from Erie. Mr. Clark.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Erie, Mr. Clark, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. KNAPP. Mr. President, does this bill apply to cities of the third class?

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, it does.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—32.

Alexander,	Endsley,	Hilton,	Morgan,
Beidleman,	Farley,	Homsher,	Nulty,
Buckman,	Fisher,	Hunter,	Salus,
Catlin,	Gerberich,	Jones,	Sensenich,

Heacock,	Judson,	Moore,	Moore,
Jarrett,	Knapp,	McIlhenny,	Powell,
		Miller,	Wasbers,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

REASON FOR VOTE.

Mr. CLARK. Mr. President, I desire to vote upon this measure. My only object in making the remarks which I did was to take out of the act that appointing power lodged in the county commissioners and the mayor so far as cities of the third class are concerned. I am not opposed to the passage of the bill, and as the same obscurity exists in the Act of 1911 and is carried into this bill I will vote "aye."

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 220, entitled:

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. J. E. Wright, offered the following prayer:

O God, we thank Thee for the Son of Thy love given to this world for its uplift and redemption. We thank Thee for His beautiful story—that story which has been the inspiration of such myriads of lives through the centuries. We rejoice that He was born of a human mother; that He lived in a human home; that He was familiar with all the conditions of our humanity and that He entered into all the relationships of our humanity; that He was Son and Brother and Neighbor and Friend; that He experienced the hardships of human toil, earning His livelihood by the sweat of His brow. That, in due time, He went forth and stood before the people as their advisor and Counsellor, their physician and Healer, their Leader and Guide. We rejoice that He knew the power of human temptation and all the pressure of human sorrow and pain; that He lived beautifully and died gloriously. Let us respond to the inspiration of this wonderful life. Let us have the spirit of the Divine Man and immitate His example and follow in His footsteps. Now, wilt Thou hear us as we offer that prayer which bears His name and which fell from His lips:

Our Father, Who Art in heaven. Hallowed be Thy name, Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors and lead us not into temptation but deliver us from evil for Thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory, forever. Amen.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1101, entitled:

An Act providing for including in the taxable value of lands upon which are maintained bill boards signs or other advertising devises the increased value of such lands resulting from the use of such premises for advertising

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I move the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. SPEAKER, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1601, entitled:

An Act to promote and encourage manufacturing within the Commonwealth by exempting from State and local taxation all machinery actually and exclusively used within the Commonwealth in manufacturing or for manufacturing purposes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor to explain the purpose of this measure.,

Mr. MITCHELL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia no doubt knows that all machinery actually and exclusively used in manufacturing or for manufacturing purposes, that is, all machinery in place in the City of Philadelphia is exempt from taxation to-day. The session of 1911 extended that same exemption to second class cities. The purpose of this bill is to put the rest of the State upon an equality, upon a parity with Philadelphia and second class cities. There is a feeling that industrial concerns throughout the State should not be discriminated against in that respect and this is one of the recommendations made by the Commission for the Revision of the Taxation and Revenue Laws of the Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass?

Mr. SEMMENS. Mr. Speaker, I do not think there is any urgent demand by the manufactureres for the passage of this bill. I know of boroughs in the State where there are large manufacturing plants where they will be put in a very bad predicament if this bill becomes a law. The little borough that I represent has a large manufacturing plant and by reason of the flooded conditions of that valley they have had to borrow money on the valuation up to the limit, expecting, of course, to receive some taxes from this machinery, to help pay off their bond. Now, if this bill becomes a law it will reduce the assessed valuation of our valley at least 25 per cent. and the poor people would have to pay what the manufacturers would escape and I am opposed to the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of H. R. bill No. 1300, entitled:

An Act authorizing cities of the second class in this Commonwealth to issue notes in anticipation of the sale of the corporate bonds duly authorized at the time such notes are issued

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JOHN ROBERT JONES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the sponsor of this bill give an explanation of its workings.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, the explanation of the bill is this: It is required by the councils of Pittsburgh for the reason that when there is an issue of bonds for certain improvements, as soon as the bonds are issued the interest begins to run. The idea is to issue short term notes, and thereby delay the issuing of bonds for the purpose of saving the interest. I think it is a very meritorious measure, and will be a great saving of interest until bonds are actually issued.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 412, as follows:

An Act making an appropriation to Fannie C Spires the amount illegally demanded and collected as a State license fee from her as the proprietress of a moving picture place in the State of Pennsylvania

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of five hundred dollars ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated to Fannie C Spires of the City of Philadelphia or her legal representatives

Said sum of five hundred dollars ($500) being the amount which the city treasurer of the city of Philadelphia illegally demanded and collected from the said Fannie C Spires as proprietress of a moving picture place located at numbers two hundred and twent-two two hundred and twenty-four two hundred and twenty-six East Girard Avenue in the city of Philadelphia State of Pennsylvania on the thirty-first day of October one thousand nine hundred and ten as the State license fee due the said State treasurer under the act of June twenty-four one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet laws two hundred and forty-nine) and the amendment thereto of May twenty-three one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and nineteen) the said Fannie C Spires not being liable for the payment of a State license fee under the decision of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania in the case of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania versus Fannie C Spires to October term one thousand nine hundred and eleven number two hundred and seventy-four upon the appeal of the plaintiff from the judgment of the court of common pleas number five of the county of Philadelphia to September term one thousand nine hundred and eleven number two thousand seven hundred and fifty-one upon a case stated

Mr. WALNUT. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides for the refunding to Fannie C. Spiers the sum of five hundred dollars paid to the State Treasury, through the City Treasury, for a license as a theatrical establishment. The case was taken into the lower court and then into the Superior Court and it was decided that the property of this defendant is not equipped with any stage or vaudeville facilities and "the entertainment consists only of life motion pictures—moving pictures—and illustrated songs. Whether these songs are given by mechanical appliances or by human voices is not stated. The building is arranged for moving picture shows exclusively and the defendant pays a fee of one hundred dollars to the cty in accordance with the ordinance of Council of February 20th, 1908." This is the decision of the court in the case. The purpose of this decision was to show that the establishment was a moving picture place and not a theatrical establishment and, therefore, the fee of five hundred dollars was improperly collected by the State Treasurer. We are asking to have the fee returned to the person who paid it in accordance with the decision of the Superior Court.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to explain briefly the provisions of this bill and the reason for its introduction. This is an act seeking to amend the act of 1901, which prohibited the manufacturers of oleomargarine from selling their goods, even though it had the natural color of the ingredients used in the composition of oleomargarine. The present law regulating the sale of oleomargarine was enacted some twelve years ago, as you can readily see, but the conditions have changed in my opinion, Mr. Speaker, and as the result this law is intended to meet those conditions. In 1901, when this law was enacted, there was an abundance of butter and the prices were very much lower than they are at the present time, but at this time and for several years past the price of butter has been gradually and continually advancing, with the result that the sale of oleomargarine is now more common and is in more general use than heretofore, and is now recognized, Mr. Speaker, as a very healthful and nutritious article of food, and is recognized throughout the United States at this time as one of the legitimate articles of commerce. There has been no food product to my mind that has been so legislated and so protested against as oleomargarine. I acknowledge that this is partly due to the unscrupulous and dishonest retailer, rather than to the manufacturer of oleomargarine; and for this reason, Mr. Speaker, previous to 1901, manufacturers of oleomargarine were permitted to color, in a manner, their products. They were permitted under the act previous to 1901 to ship to the retailer firkins consisting of fifty or sixty pounds, with this result: That the dishonest and unfair retailer would purchase several of these firkins of oleomargarine, place them on sale in his place of business and advise the public into believeing that this was butter, and sold it to his customers at the price of butter. That alone, however, Mr. Speaker, is to my mind an argument in favor of oleomargarine, inasmuch as the people who purchased that article did not know but what they were eating the finest creamery butter. This bill will prevent that fraud or at least reduce it to a minimum. This bill provides that a manufacturer of oleomargarine can only sell it in the five different packages, beginning with the one-half pound, one, two, three and five-pound prints or rolls. These prints or rolls must be then securely wrapped, then sealed, with the name of the oleomargarine manufacturer on that seal, and in addition, Mr. Speaker, the package, itself, will be labeled "oleomargarine" in letters not smaller than three-eights of an inch high, so that if the oleomargarine is sold in that manner, there can be deception practiced by the unscrupulous or dishonest retailer on others. It will then be in the position, Mr. Speaker, that you and I can go to the butter store or send to the butter store and ask to be given a pound of oleomargarine, knowing that we will get oleomargarine and at a price fifty per cent. less than the creamery trust is compelling us to pay for butter. The other amendment of our bill pertains to the license fees. It allows the license fee of manufacturers of oleomargarine to remain as it is, one thousand dollars a year; it allows the wholesale license fee to remain as it is, five hundred dollars a year; it reduces the retail dealers license from one hundred dollars a year to eighteen dollars a year; it reduces the license fee of the hotel keeper from fifty dollars a year to ten dollars a year; and that of the boarding house keeper from ten dollars a year to six dollars a year. This act does not change the penalty of the act of 1901.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. H. B. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. H. B. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, this is a very important bill, and there is so much noise back here that the members cannot hear what Mr. Richards is saying; and I think that the Speaker should see that the Sergeant-at-Arms should keep order back here.
